Auto Union Strikes Ford Across Nation

Company Official Claims Action Is 'Unnecessary'

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry's second major strike in less than a month shut down Ford Motor Co. today when the United Auto Workers Union called 120,000 members off their jobs at 88 plants across the nation.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the company and union reached accord on a national economic agreement four hours before a 10 a.m. strike deadline but that "there wasn't time to work out a full agreement" on non-economic issues by the deadline.

Malcolm L. Denise, Ford vice president, said this first company-wide strike against Ford in 20 years was "unnecessary . . . not over economic issues" and would cost hourly paid employees about 2.6 million dollars a day in lost wages.

BARGAINING

Reuther emerged from an around-the-clock bargaining session at 10:04 a.m. to announce the strike was on. He said negotiations were being recessed until 10 a.m. tomorrow because the bargainers on both sides were exhausted.

"We feel that if we come back with clear minds, we might be able to make meaningful progress" toward a quick end to the strike, he said.

General Motors was plagued by strikes during much of September with more than 100 plants closed and a quarter of a million workers idled. The last of the walkouts at GM did not end until eight days ago.

NON-ECONOMIC

The strike action against G.M. also was in the non-economic area. Agreement was reached on Sept. 6 between the largest of the carmakers and the UAW on a three-year economic package, but then the union authorized walkouts five days later over unresolved local contract issues.

Reuther said the strike

Protest Of Rail Action Is Ordered

Immediate filing of a formal protest with the Interstate Commerce Commission against Northwestern Pacific Railroad's petition to abandon its trackage through the collapsed Puerto Suello tunnel was ordered last night by the San Rafael City Council.

The council also unanimously voted a $1,000 retainer fee to the legal firm of Graham, James and Rolph of San Francisco, recommended by City Atty. A. E. Bagshaw to carry the ball for San Rafael in its fight to retain the rail service.

It also authorized Bagshaw to confer at once with city managers of Larkspur and Mill Valley, and with the county board of supervisors, to learn whether those two cities and the county also wish to participate in the services of the legal firm.

Bagshaw said Boris H. Lakusta of Graham, James and Rolph had agreed to take the city's case. He said Lakusta is familiar with ICC proceedings.

Need for haste was emphasized when City Manager Dan E. Andersen said he had learned through the Marin Industrial Development Foundation that Friday is the deadline for filing protests.

(Carroll A. Snyker, executive vice president of the development foundation, told the Independent-Journal today that he had received this deadline information from Rep. Clem Miller, but had been unable to verify that the ICC has set any deadline on protests.)

Bagshaw said Lakusta had already checked with the California Public Utilities petition,

Inverness Water Plea Is Rejected

The California Public Utilities Commission today rejected contention by the Inverness Public Utilities District that not enough watershed lands were acquired by Citizens Utility Co. of Stamford, Conn., when it bought Inverness Water Co. from Larry Marks Jr. of Inverness last year.

Marks bought the company in 1959 including a 500-acre watershed. This took in 352 acres which had been the basic watershed when in 1898 Mrs. Julia Hamilton started water operations.

Citizens Utility, acquiring stock of the company after Marks incorporated it, considered that the full watershed was excessive. So Marks retained portions on ridges.

Inverness citizens and the utilities district expressed fear that subdivision of properties retained by Marx might be detrimental to the watershed.

The commission held that in the light of engineering evidence, the remaining land is ample to provide an adequate watershed.

THEY'RE ROLLING OUT RED TAG VALUES

A couple of neophyte heavy equipment operators, merchants Walter E. Zurcher (left) and Milton Schwartz, really know what they're up to on the road roller that is rolling Red Tag Days right into Fourth Street in San Rafael. "We're smashing values," explains Zurcher simply to Mrs. M. Elizabeth Johnston (left) of Tiburon and Mrs. Thomas Blanchard of Woodacre, who seem alarmed at what's going on. Those smashing values will be on sale during semi-annual San Rafael Red Tag Days Thursday, Friday and Saturday. A special section of tomorrow's Independent-Journal will carry the advertising. BOTH JOBLESS, EMPLOYMENT IN DECLINE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of Americans without jobs declined by 457,000 in September to 4,085,000, the Labor Department reported today.

Employment also fell sharply by 1,501,000 to 67,038,000, partly because hurricane Carla forced layoffs of farm workers in the southwest.

It was possible for both employment and unemployment to drop because nearly 2,000,000 persons stopped looking for work. Most of these were high school and college students returning to classes.

The decline was only "fractionally" better than the normal September decrease in joblessness, the department said. As a result, the seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment inched downward from 6.9 to 6.8 per cent of the labor force.

Personnel Method Assailed

By FRED WYATT

A program to modernize Marin County personnel procedures, approved by the 26 department heads, was bitterly assailed today by the county personnel chairman, who called the county administrator's position "a straw office, a paper office."

In moderate-voiced rebuttal Chairman William D. Fusselman of the county board of supervisors said:

"As of this moment the office is in full force."

In his attack on County Administrator Alan Bruce's personnel proposals, Julius H. Selinger, attorney and unpaid chairman of the personnel commission, read from a memorandum Bruce had sent him March 24, six days before Bruce submitted his proposals to the board.

SOME UNREPRESENTED

All but three of the county department heads were present or represented. The absent or unrepresented officers, medical director Rafael G. Duffey, librarian Virginia V. Keating and tax collector M. F. Donohue, registered their approval by letter.

The meeting, scheduled for 9 a.m. and under way about 17 minutes late, was a session of quiet dignity until about 10:10 a.m. when Selinger asked permission to speak.

At a time when Bruce's office was under attack by the board, "he felt he had to do something heroic," Selinger said ad lib before reading from Bruce's memorandum.

POLICY, PROCEDURES

"After considerable soul-searching," Selinger read from the letter, "I have come to the conclusion that the survival of the county administrator's office, including the personnel office and the merit system, may depend in part on the making of certain adjustments in personnel policy and procedures, and also on enlisting the greatest possible degree of support from county department heads."

Silence in the supervisors chamber deepened as Selinger read on.

"I also believe that time is of the essence, and that it would be preferable for this office and the personnel commission to take the initiative in suggesting reasonable accommodations."

Selinger read another letter from Bruce written in June which he said showed Bruce taking a stronger stand, "when the sun was shining" and he felt the county administrator's office was a little more nearly secure.

Selinger then launched into a bitter attack on the Bruce recommendations, saying they would "wreck the merit system" and "liquidate the personnel commission."

Selinger termed Bruce's posi-

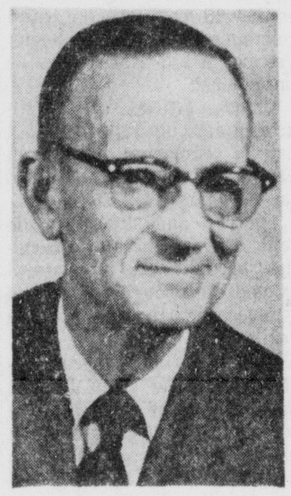
20 Convicts Involved In Prison Yard Fight

Howard McGill Resigns From School Board



HOWARD I. McGILL
After nine years, resigns

Howard I. McGill of Tiburon, nine-year member of the Tamalpais Union High School District board, last night resigned effective Oct. 16.

The board voted to hold action on the resignation until its meeting of Oct. 16.

McGill, 58, with his son, Howard I. McGill Jr., 23, a 1955 graduate of Tamalpais High School, operates the McGill and McGill Electronic Representative Agency in Tiburon.

McGill submitted a letter of resignation which said he felt the expansion of his business made it impossible for him to devote enough time as a school district trustee.

McGill was appointed to the board in 1952, replacing Mrs. Vivian Cummings of Belvedere, who resigned. He was elected in 1956 and again in 1959.

5 Land In Hospital —1 On Critical List

A prison yard fight involving about 20 convicts erupted today at San Quentin, sending five men to the hospital, one in critical condition.

The fight, at about 8:30 a.m., lasted only a few minutes, according to Associate Warden Dale B. Frady. Prisoners scattered in all directions when a wall guard blew his whistle, Frady said, leaving five men writhing on the ground. None of the injured men would admit knowledge of what the fight was about or who attacked him.

The fight, Frady said, was thought to be an aftermath of a fracas yesterday in the prison dining room in which five men were apprehended, and in which the most severely injured man in today's attack was thought to be involved.

STABBED IN BACK

He is Richard M. Rios, 31, of Orange County, who escaped from a conservation camp last April while serving six months to five years for automobile theft. Rios was captured a month after his escape and is now serving time for that offense.

Rios suffered a skull fracture and was stabbed several times in the back.

Three others, injured today, were being held for observation in the prison hospital. They are Richard M. Lewis, 23, head injuries; Robert E. Herman, 30, head injuries, and Floyd Joe, 24, cuts about the head.

IN SOLITARY

Released after treatment for cuts and placed in solitary confinement was Sylvester White, 27.

Frady said five men were "arrested" following yesterday's fight in the dining room. Rios, Frady said, was suspected of having been involved but was not "positively identified."

Identified and apprehended yesterday were Melvin Earl Jr., 24; Edward B. Spott, 26; Charles Moore, 22; Gilbert E. Adams, 22, and Dennis Hubbard, 19.

Today's attack was thought to be aimed at "getting even" with Rios for his part in yesterday's rumble, Frady said.

75 MARIN SHOPS
Butchers Union Votes For Possible Strike

The Butchers Union—310 of whose members work in Marin County—voted 1,052 to 87 last night to strike if their negotiators are unable to reach contract agreement with the Retail Meat Dealers Assn. and the chain store dealers.

The strike, if called, would affect 75 Marin County shops. A total of 900 shops would be struck in San Francisco, San Mateo and Marin Counties.

George Mesure, president of the union, told the Independent-Journal today there was "no deadline" on the strike but that negotiations were continuing.

The union is seeking an $8-a-week pay increase over the present $126.40-a-week wage scale, $2 a day premium pay for work performed before 9 a.m. and after 6 p.m., a ninth paid holiday—the employee's birthday, 5 cents an hour toward a dental program, 16 cents an hour medical benefits, and three-day funeral leave.

The present contract, involving 2,500 members, expired last Saturday. Mesure said there had been no progress in negotiations.

According to Associated Press, the bulk of fresh meat produced in the Los Angeles area was shut off yesterday although no strike had been called. Employers there, AP said, had cancelled orders for cattle and hogs last week in anticipation of the expiration of their contract on Saturday.

A survey of Marin County meat shops indicated no letup in deliveries today.

Telephone Firm Struck In New Jersey

NUTLEY, N.J. (UPI)—About 1,500 electrical workers went on strike today at two major New Jersey facilities of the International Telephone and Telegraph laboratories.

Local 400, International Union of Electrical Workers, called its members off their jobs at midnight at installations in Nutley and Belleville, N.J., when union and management negotiators were unable to agree on a new contract. The union members had been working on a day to day extension since the old agreement expired Sept. 25.

The union said the strike would affect operations at radar warning stations and other worldwide communications facilities maintains for the armed forces, but the company vigorously denied it.

Company spokesman said the labor dispute would have "absolutely no effect on Distant Early Warning (DEW) line radar installations along the arctic circle. He said the personnel there could "drop dead tomorrow" and the military technicians could keep the radar stations working.

Worker's Widow Has Baby Daughter

A daughter was born yesterday to Mrs. Patricia Burchfield, 26-year-old widow of Thomas E. Burchfield, construction worker killed last month in the cave-in of a Marin Municipal Water District trench at a construction site near Tocaloma.

Both Mrs. Burchfield and the baby were in good condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Mrs. Burchfield, who lives at 172 Belvedere Street in San Rafael, has two other daughters, age 4 and 2.

Tree Snatcher's Just Rewards?

A San Rafael "tree snatcher" is probably due for a good case of poison oak.

Neil T. Best of 179 Tamal Vista told police yesterday he had heard someone digging behind his house on Sunday night. On Monday morning, he said, the hillside was "full of holes."

He thought it peculiar, he said, that someone would be digging among the poison oak at night.

Sgt. Louis Foster, investigating the damage this morning, said it was obviously the work of someone after trees to plant in his own yard.

Sergeant Foster was sent on the detail because he is the only member of the San Rafael force immune to poison oak.

Kennedy Meets With Top U.S. Military Men

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President John F. Kennedy met with the nation's top military leaders today for an intensive review of U.S. and NATO defense capabilities in the face of the Berlin crisis.

He first conferred with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff on strengthening U.S. forces to meet Soviet threats.

Then in the afternoon he was given a briefing on the Allied military buildup by Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Europe.

NATO FORCES

McNamara, Lemnitzer, and Secretary of State Dean Rusk all were present when Norstad filled in Kennedy on the steps being taken by the NATO powers to increase their forces.

Rusk was called in on the afternoon meeting as an added starter, apparently to give the others a report on his Berlin crisis talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

PROGRESS

Although there have been some encouraging signs of progress toward negotiations with the Russians over Berlin, Kennedy was believed preparing for any military threat that might arise.

The next major step in the path toward Allied-Russian talks may be taken this Friday. It was understood that this is a likely date for Kennedy's meeting with Gromyko.

Gromyko and Rusk discussed Berlin in talks in New York last week. It was considered unlikely that Kennedy would meet with the Russian until Gromyko sees Rusk once more. It also was believed that Gromyko needed time to check back with Moscow for more instructions before sitting down with Kennedy.

Stork Beats Mother To Hospital

Mrs. Richard Helm of Wilmington, Los Angeles County, arrived in Marin General Hospital at 5 a.m. today with a baby daughter.

The Helms hadn't planned it that way.

The couple stopped to visit friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lytle of 17 Prince Royal Passage, Corte Madera, on their way home from a Squaw Valley vacation.

Early today, Mrs. Helm realized the birth of a child was imminent. Her husband bundled her into the car and headed for the nearest hospital.

He didn't quite make it. The daughter—Mrs. Helm's second—was born in the car, just outside the emergency entrance to the hospital.

All was well later in the maternity ward.

BERLIN (AP)—A young East Berliner today crashed a heavy truck through the concrete border wall in a daring escape to West Berlin.

Police said the 24-year-old man broke through near the heavily guarded East Berlin checkpoint at Heinrich Heine Strasse, on the American sector border.

The Red guards opened fire with automatic weapons but missed the driver.

Rayburn In Hospital

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn has entered Baylor Hospital where doctors will try to find what is slowing his recovery from a back ailment.

A surgeon said the tests and consultations would take several days.

16th Soviet Blast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has fired its 16th nuclear blast into the atmosphere since resuming atomic testing Sept. 1.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced yesterday that the Soviet explosion had a yield "on the order of a megaton." This is equivalent to one million tons of TNT.

Homes Prediction

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown predicted today that new starts in home construction in California this year may be 3 per cent over 1960's total.

Speaking before the California Real Estate Convention at the Philharmonic Auditorium, Brown said:

"Building this year may reach a total of 135,000 new home units in Southern California with some 90,000 starts in the rest of the state."

De Gaulle Notice

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle served notice on his political critics and enemies today that he is determined to carry out self-determination for rebelling Algeria, come what may.

In a nationwide radio-TV speech last night, the vigorous 70-year-old general made it clear he will not be side-tracked by bickering politicians or right-wing terrorists who want to keep Algeria a part of France.

Typhoon Damage

TOKYO (AP)—Typhoon Tilda caused major damage to U.S. military installations on Okinawa, reports received by the Fifth Air Force in Japan said today.

The reports said there were no known casualties among U.S. personnel in the storm that slammed across the Okinawa area late yesterday and early today.

TOKYO (AP)—President Osvaldo Dorticos of Cuba left Peiping today after a 10-day state visit to the Communist mainland.

Zeus Firing Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army plans to try again next weekend to fire its Nike Zeus antimissile out over the Pacific.

The test, probably on Saturday, will come at a time when the Army is bidding anew for money to start limited production of parts for the controversial system.

Nearly a month ago, on Sept. 9, Army technicians made their first effort to shoot the Nike Zeus from Point Mugu. Shortly after the missile shot skyward it exploded.

Artist Dies

CORNWALL BRIDGE, Conn. (UPI) — Francis Scott Bradford, 63, artist and mural painter with a world-wide reputation died at his home yesterday.

Bradford's murals were done for some of the most famous buildings in the United States and abroad, including the last New York World's Fair, the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. building in New York City, the New York City Bank, the First National City Bank of New York and the mosaic ceiling and apse of the chapel of the U.S. military cemetery in Cambridge, England.

Spy Trial Starts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Irvin C. (Doc) Scarbeck, a former diplomat whose love for a Polish blonde may have led to his ruin, goes on trial today accused of slipping U.S. secrets to Communist agents in Warsaw.

Scarbeck, the 41-year-old former second secretary at the U.S. embassy in Warsaw, is charged with four counts of giving secret papers to Red spies.

Among the persons brought here from Poland to testify is Urszula Discher, the 22-year-old orphan with whom Scarbeck fell in love despite his wife and three children.

Scarbeck has pleaded not guilty.

'Nuclear Fugitives' May Have Trouble With Jobs

CHICO (AP)—Alvin Bauman, spokesman for the New York "nuclear fugitives," said to Chico Mayor Ross Lawler, "We want to become a part of your city and to grow with it."

Bauman, 43, a concert pianist and former Columbia University professor, spoke for the 35 emigres fleeing what they consider a greater nuclear danger in New York.

The question is, how will they become a part of Chico?

Their group numbers such diversified talents as those of Teal Ames, former television actress; Gene Gordon, a sculptor; Jane Andrews, teacher; Lou Oles, a free-lance trumpet player; and pianist Bauman.

Jim Meyers, an old Chico resident and a pensioner, said grimly "What're they gonna do here—town's full of idle people now as it is."

Oles said, "In New York you can make a living playing a trumpet, but I don't know what I'm going to do here. I don't think this town is that specialized, is it?"

Mayor Lawler was optimistic about the group's chances for settling and becoming useful citizens.

He said, "They've all rented homes here. We even understand they've made deposits in our local bank. So you know they aren't a bunch of beatniks. Yes sir—I think it's going to be all right."

If worse comes to worst in finding employment, maybe some of the emigrants could even find jobs at the nuclear missile launching center a few miles outside Chico.

Farm, Factory Failures Told Of Red China

TOKYO (AP)—Red China admits failures in farm and factory and in the midst of its economic difficulties has turned to a study of the Soviet Union's "experiences in socialist construction."

These disclosures unfolded today from thousands of words of editorials and speeches during the just-concluded Oct. 1 celebration of the 12th anniversary of the Red regime's founding.

FAILURES

While studying Soviet experience in building its economy, Red China has emphasized it will continue the rural communes assailed by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as impractical.

Chinese officials report failures in agricultural production had a damaging impact on heavy and light industry and the nation's living standards.

Speeches and editorials made repeated references to difficulties brought on by natural calamities—drought, flood and typhoon—in the past three years.

Peiping earlier this year conceded that the grain harvest had been a bad one. But this was the first direct admission of the effect of crop failure on light and heavy industry and "the people's livelihood."

DIFFICULTIES

Essentially an agricultural country, Red China always has depended upon agricultural exports to get the machinery needed for industrialization.

The official Peiping People's Daily said: "While achieving great successes, we have encountered certain difficulties in the economy in our forward march and there have been certain shortcomings in our work."

It went on to say that this year has been one of great readjustment "to overcome the new discrepancy in the balance of the national economy."

Readjustments are going on in the rural communes and in farm production, People's Daily said, with manpower and materiel being poured into the countryside. As a result this autumn's harvest, if continued, "may be slightly better than last year's."

Memphis Schools Integrate

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Backed by a massive show of police power, the city school board admitted 13 Negro children to four previously white schools today.

It was the end of a century of rigid segregation in Memphis public schools. It came voluntarily, under the indirect pressure of a federal court lawsuit. No incidents were reported.

Each school had 50 or more policemen roving the blocks around it, walking patrols with billy clubs in hand.

The date of desegregation had been a well-kept secret, with a news blackout lifted only this morning. It came as a distinct breakfast surprise to many residents.

Earlier mention of the impending event by Memphis newspapers, radio or television was casual, with no date specified—at the urgent pleading of the school board.

The board argued that any publicity was likely to have die-hard segregationist forces trumpeting the alarm, with turmoil a possible result.

The eight Negro girls and five boys were carefully chosen from among 42 who appealed an earlier ruling rejecting their applications for admittance to white schools.

Each of the 6-year-olds underwent an intelligence quotient or readiness test and social workers visited their homes to determine their family background.

Premier Says Syria Regime Will Follow Neutralist Course

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Premier Mamoun Kuzbari today launched his revolutionary regime on a neutral course in foreign affairs. At home he propounded a policy of encouraging private ownership.

Thus he followed President Gamal Abdel Nasser's foreign policy of nonalignment in the cold war, while putting a brake on the United Arab Republic's nationalization program that stirred unrest in Syria.

The Syrian lawyer-politician outlined his views last night in his first news conference with foreign correspondents since the uprising that sundered the Syrian-Egyptian merger under the flag of the UAR.

Pledging a return ot parliamentary democracy, he put a four-month time limit on the period he and his Cabinet would serve, adding: "I hope the time will be less."

Kuzbari termed the four-month period the maximum he would allow the new regime "to prepare for elections and parliamentary rule."

He said the Cabinet will discuss the possible return of firms nationalized last summer by decree of Nasser. But Nasser's agrarian reform program, the premier said, "will remain as is."

The government, which he termed the Syrian Arab Republic, will aim toward "a sound, democratic socialist life" which Kuzbari said will encourage private ownership, industrialization and foreign investment.

As one step toward a return to democratic principles, Kuzbari said the ruthless intelligence agency once headed by Col. Abdul Hamid Serraj had been closed and its agents arrested. He said Serraj, whose secret police once held Syria in a tight grip, was placed under house arrest the day of the coup but slipped away.

Revolutionary agents tracked him to a secret hideaway Sunday night and took him into custody a second time "to put an end to his subversive activities," an announcement said.

Serraj resigned as a UAR vice president and fled from Cairo to Syria two days before the revolt in an apparent break with Nasser. He long had been considered Nasser's strongest advocate in Syria.

Kuzbari said Syria now looks on Egypt as having the same status as any other Arab country and discounted chances of any type of federation with that country.

The Syrian Arab Republic, he said, has formally applied for membership in the United Nations and also in the Arab League.

Expert Says U.S. To Have Nuclear Rocket

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States aims to have a rocket with a nuclear engine ready for flight testing in about five years, a U.S. space official said today.

Nuclear propulsion, he said, is "necessary for manned interplanetary flights."

The official, Harold B. Finger, assistant director for nuclear applications for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration made his remarks in a paper prepared for delivery before the International Astronautical Congress.

CALLED RIFT

He said NASA and the Atomic Energy Commission have been investigating flight-testing methods in a program known as RIFT for "reactor in flight test."

"Some time after the beginning of 1962, an industrial contractor will begin development activities on a RIFT-vehicle to meet the objectives of achieving flight testing in the 1966-67 time period," Finger said.

Plans call for launching the nuclear rocket on a short-range ballistic flight from Cape Canaveral, Fla. It would be lifted by a Saturn-type first stage.

After the initial RIFT flights, said Finger, other tests will be made involving:

1. Missions in which the vehicle will attain sufficient speed to leave the earth's gravitational field and go into orbit around the sun.

2. Flights in which the reactor is started up after it is in orbit around the earth.

INADEQUATE

Finger said present rocket engines, which produce thrust from energy liberated in a combustion process, are inadequate for extensive manned space missions.

If only chemical propulsion were used, he said, it would be necessary to place a spacecraft weighing nine million pounds in orbit around the earth in order to conduct a manned flight to Mars and return. The use of nuclear rocket engines would reduce the spacecraft weight to about 900,000 pounds.

Shelter Program Interest Sought

Promoters of fallout shelters for Sleepy Hollow sought to learn this week of the extent of interest felt by homeowners of the locality for a program of one shelter to about 25 homes, possibly paid for on an assessment district basis.

About 20 shelters would be required, it was calculated, as the area has about 500 homes. At an initial discussion session last week at the Taul H. Talbott Jr. home at 711 Fawn Drive, heads of about 25 households were among the 60 persons present.

Promoters of the movement said, however, that it is up to others to show a desire to go ahead.

Talmadge Kin Shoots Wife, Self

ATLANTA (AP)—John A. Peterson, 55, a veteran state employee and half-brother of Sen. Herman Talmadge (D-Ga.) wounded his wife and killed himself today at suburban Hapeville, police reported.

Helen Peterson, 49, the wife, is a school principal and an authority on educational television. She was operated on for two pistol bullet wounds at Grady Hospital where her condition was pronounced critical.

Sgt. J. S. Clay of Hapeville police quoted her as saying her husband shot her in the chest and hip as she was preparing breakfast. Clay said Peterson then placed the .38-caliber pistol barrel in his mouth and fired.

Mrs. Peterson said there was no apparent reason for her husband's action but that he had been drinking heavily for three days. She added that he had been treated at a sanitarium several times for alcoholism.

Peterson was a senior clerk in the Georgia Department of Agriculture. He had been with the department since his stepfather, the late Gov. Eugene Talmadge, was commissioner of agriculture in the 1930s.

Peace March Staged In Russ By Americans

MOSCOW (AP)—American and European peace marchers paraded before the Kremlin today demanding disarmament and banning of the nuclear bomb.

The 29 marchers, who had come on foot and by bus across America, Europe and western Russia, walked into Red Square at 2 p.m.—the place was almost empty.

Police had put up barriers around the square, apparently expecting a big crowd, but so few came that the police pulled away the barriers and let the crowd march into the square. It never exceeded 300.

It was the first time a band of Western marchers had ever made their way into the Soviet Union under such circumstances.

In Red Square they seemed uncertain what to do. Police forbade them to speak. They had planned to hold peace meetings in the square as they had done in dozens of cities and villages across Europe and in the Soviet Union. Instead, they passed out handbills to everyone in the square who would take them. Most Soviets grabbed at them eagerly.

KNIGHT TO NAME MR. X TOMORROW

Friend Of Nixon Issues Denial In Advance At News Conference

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Goodwin J. Knight says he'll name Richard Nixon's alleged job-offering emissary tomorrow.

One man who thinks he'll be named at Knight's news conference issued his denial in advance.

J. Howard Edgerton, a Los Angeles financier, said: "I have never been an emissary of Dick Nixon on any matter in my entire life." He said he believes he is the man Knight will name, but did not elaborate.

Knight's revelation will come one week after Nixon announced he would oppose the former governor for the Republican state house nomination in 1962.

Knight charged that a friend of the former vice president had offered any job in the state if Knight would quit the race.

Nixon called the charge "false and libelous on its face."

Harry Farrell, political writer for the San Jose News, wrote yesterday that Edgerton would not confirm nor deny he called Knight Sept. 7—the day Knight says the offer was made. But Farrell said Edgerton flatly denied he was Nixon's emissary.

Gov. Brown eyes the Nixon battle and said:

"Any time there is a quarrel or conflict among candidates in the opposing party, I feel this will enhance the chances of the Democrats."

Brown is expected to run for re-election.

Commenting on Nixon's demand that news media retract reports of the offer Knight said he received, Brown said:

"I don't think Mr. Nixon knows the laws of libel or he would realize it is almost impossible to libel one who is a candidate for public office."

U.S. Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif) told a news conference yesterday in San Francisco Nixon's chances of becoming California governor in 1962 could be hurt by Knight's attacks.

The senator, beginning a five-week speaking tour of the state, said he believes Nixon will be a possible candidate for the presidency in 1964 despite his announcement he will not seek the GOP nomination.

"I don't think he slammed the door all that hard, and I've always believed two post cards meant a draft movement," Engle said.

Labor Panel On Way To San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Capt. Robert Durkin, president of the striking Masters, Mates and Pilots Assn., says he has no idea why a three-man panel from Washington is coming to San Francisco or what its legal status is.

The panel was sent by Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg yesterday after the secretary appealed to Durkin's union and the struck Pacific Maritime Assn. to settle their differences quickly in the public interest.

It is comprised of Willard Wirtz, undersecretary of labor; William Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and James Healy, member of President John F. Kennedy's emergency board.

Boy, 11, Is Only Survivor After Family Car Takes Seven To Death

FREMONT, Neb. (UPI)—Dallas Talkington, 46, had never quite found the job at which he could settle down for good.

Talkington, a laborer born in Hoxey, Kan., and later a resident of Craig, Colo., had left Craig for a job in Billings, Mont., stayed less than two years before returning, then set out in 1960 through several states job hunting.

During his travels, his family grew to include a wife, Dora, and her two children by an earlier marriage, Roger Lewis, 11, and Diane K. Lawis, 9. Then came Dallas Eldon in 1955, Dana Lavern in 1956, Virgil Lee in 1958 and Lowell in 1959.

The family, after a short stay here, moved on to Blair, Neb., where their only housing for several months was a one-room abandoned service station. Talkington took a job with a farm machinery plant.

Still, it was not the job he wanted.

Yesterday morning, Talkington put his wife and five of the six children in their 1954 Pontiac and headed back to Fremont. He stopped at the east edge of town and applied for a job as a factory hand.

The appliction filed, Talkington drove down a side road leading from the plant sites to busy U.S. 275. They were heading for the home of Mrs. Bernard Dhaens, mother of Mrs. Talkington, to pick up the sixth child, Roger.

It was a bright clear day, 9:30 in the morning.

The car bore down on the highway toward a stop sign. Rushing toward the same intersection was a loaded semi-trailer truck driven by Frederick Schwalm, 38, Omaha.

The car pulled onto the highway, its driver apparently unaware of the huge vehicle hurtling down on him.

Schwalm veered but too late. The car, its seven occupants still inside, was thrown into a ditch. The truck came down upon it.

Talkington, his wife and the five children were dead.

One grave at the Antietam National Cemetery bears the name of Weneptheous Corstiruppleicutt of a New York regiment.

Owner Says He's Victim In Setback Row

"I'm being made the innocent victim of a misunderstanding that's been going on for 10 years," declared Stanley Dettmer of 82 Brookmead Court, San Anselmo.

After San Rafael city councilmen listened to Dettmer's tale of woe last night, they were somewhat inclined to agree with him.

Dettmer, an accountant, got a building permit for a duplex on a Fifth Avenue lot between the home of City Atty. A. E. Bagshaw and that of Robert E. Blake, partner in a San Francisco laundry supply firm. He had foundations poured when Building Inspector Andrew Thomas served a stop-work order on him.

Dettmer's duplex was set back 15 feet from the curb—the standard setback in San Rafael, with a few neighborhood exceptions.

But the building inspector pointed out that the ordinance calls for a setback of 15 feet, or, when two or more lots on a block have been developed, the average setback on the developed lots.

The average on his block, said Dettmer, is 19 feet, but to put the duplex back that far would place it in a creek.

Doubtless, said Bagshaw, the ordinance was intended to permit a setback of less than 15 feet where houses on a block had already been built closer to the curb when the ordinance was enacted. But it doesn't read that way, he agreed.

Blake's and Bagshaw's houses both sit farther back. Blake objected to the 15-foot setback for the duplex, and hired a lawyer, said Bagshaw.

Essaying the role of good neighbor, the city attorney offered to try to settle the dispute to permit Dettmer to complete the duplex.

LET UNCLE SAM BUILD SHELTERS, MILLER ADVISES

Leave fallout shelter building to the government, Rep. Clem Miller advised a North Marin audience yesterday.

"It is madness to build a bomb shelter of your own and then get taxed for it," Miller told a luncheon meeting sponsored by the Novato Chamber of Commerce at Nero's Restaurant on Highway 101.

The "blunt figures" are that 60 to 80 million people might be killed if atomic war came to the United States, said the Corte Madera congressman.

The cost of adequate civil defense, he asserted, can be placed as "starting at 50 billion dollars and probably running up to 500 billion."

Eichler Homes Asked To Attend Dixie Meeting

A county planner and a representative of Eichler Homes have been asked to attend a Dixie School District board meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday to discuss the controversial proposed development of Nunes Ranch, Supt. Dennis B. Willis said today.

A tentative map of the ranch subdivision envisions construction of 767 homes.

Tentative plans for the development are going before the Marin County Planning Commission next Monday, Willis said. He added:

"The tentative map presented to the planning commission is not in accordance with discussions we held with the planner and Eichler representative last June."

Also on the agenda Thursday night will be a study of projects and determination of 1961-62 building projects, Willis said.

The meeting will be held at school administration office at 4775 Redwood Highway.

San Rafael Council Again Thinks About New City Hall

The San Rafael City Council started the wheels in motion again last night toward getting a new city hall.

In mid-summer, the council interviewed Marin architects to get their ideas (and suggestions of cost) for surveying city hall site possibilities and designing a building. The council decided to meet also with representatives of firms offering a "package deal" of engineering, financial and architectural planning.

Since then, nothing had been done on the project. Last night, spurred by decision of the San Rafael Board of Education to put the E Street School on the market, the council voted unanimously to interview the "package deal" emissaries, and set the interviews for next Monday starting at 5 p.m. City Manager Dan E. Andersen said two firms are interested.

The E Street School, which now houses city building, public works and planning offices in addition to five school classes, has been discussed as perhaps being suitable for remodeling for city hall use.

The council also turned the wheels some more toward agreement with the State Division of Highways on the new 101 Freeway through the city. A report by Public Works Director Norris Rawles and consulting engineer Daniel E. Coleman (who, incidentally, has just purchased a home in Marin Bay and will soon move here from San Francisco) was approved. The two were instructed to embody its recommendations in a letter to the division of highways.

Among other things, the recommendations include amending the city sign ordinance to conform with billboard requirements of the state, with the division of highways then to agree to landscaping along the freeway. The portion of the freeway from the foot of Irwin Street interchange to the San Quentin Wye interchange would be exempted from landscaping.

In another street matter, contract for resurfacing a list of city streets was awarded to Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael on a low bid of $40,439. There were five bidders. Reichhold and Jurkovich of San Pablo, which for several years has been low bidder on the annual street surfacing contract, this time came in third of the five at $41,735. Other bidders were E. A. Forde Co. of Corte Madera, and Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael, and Lee Mac Paving Co. of Corte Madera.

Award of the street surfacing contract came only after Councilman Charles W. Aby had challenged Public Works Director Rawles' choice of streets to be surfaced. However, after Rawles spoke in justification of the list, Aby voted with the other four councilmen to award the contract.

Also at last night's San Rafael City Council meeting:

1. The council, which two weeks ago overruled planning commission denial of a parking variance for Top Properties at 1615 Fifth Avenue, took the opposite position by 3-2 vote in refusing to override the commission's denial of architectural approval for a plan including the parking arrangements. Mayor John F. McInnis and Councilman Aby said they had not been aware previously that parking was to be placed to the sidewalk, whereas on other Fifth Avenue properties a 15-foot setback is required. Councilman David Menary Jr. joined them in voting against Fred E. Jensen's motion to again overrule the planning commission.

2. The council agreed the city will pay half the cost, up to $75, of moving a fire hydrant which was found to be on private property beside Vineyard Road, where Ray E. Nolan is preparing to start a subdivision.

3. Mrs. Clara W. Hauser, representing Arnold Walters of the Marinello School of Beauty Culture, complained that properties at Fourth and Cijos Streets are plagued with rats. The council agreed to call on the county health department to take corrective measures. City Manager Andersen said a building on the corner, source of most of the rats, is slated for demolition.

4. Final maps of Biscayne Drive, White Oaks Unit 11, and Dominican Heights Unit 11 were approved.

5. Renaming a portion of Glen Park Drive as "Wood Leaf Way" was postponed at request of William H. Parnow, who said the street will be major access route to his Dominican Heights subdivision and he would like a name more in keeping with others in the area.

6. A stop sign was approved for the intersection of Mountain View Avenue and Glen Park Drive, despite Mayor McInnis's contention that a "yield right of way" sign should be installed instead.

7. The council authorized expenditure of $1,000 for replacing the Lincoln Avenue sanitary sewer portion that broke in the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tunnel cave-in. City Atty. A. E. Bagshaw said the situation is not the same as with the street itself, responsibility for replacing which was placed on the railroad.

8. Public hearing on the 54-lot White Oaks Unit 2 assessment district was set for Nov. 6 at 8 p.m. The district is to be organized under the 1911 Bond Act, and assessments will run about $4,500 per lot.

9. Mayor McInnis set Oct. 18 for a meeting to review the budget as it has been revised since return to work of City Manager Andersen.

10. Councilman Aby was given permission to leave the country next week. He is going to Mexico for five days.

Testimony On Truck Tonnage Is Rapped

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Santa Fe Railroad lawyers today chipped away at testimony of a Stanford research institute economist in the Western Pacific case.

Dr. Neal T. Houston had testified on behalf of the Southern Pacific Railroad last summer that generally inter-city truck tonnage in 11 Western states had more than doubled in 1958-59.

Rail tonnage increased only slightly in the corresponding period. A key argument of Southern Pacific is that a railroad's competition is with trucks and not with other railroads.

S. R. Brittingham, Santa Fe attorney, drew admissions from Houston today during cross examinations that in many categories of inter-city truck business tonnages have actually declined in the last four years studied by Houston.

But Houston denied that the interstate commerce commission should infer from this that trucking activity is declining. He said this was too short a period to tell.

Brittingham attempted to disprove Houston's position by presenting a confidential report of Houston's employer, Stanford Research Institute, which showed that United States's railroads are improving in their competition with truckers.

Houston, however, claimed there was no inconsistency between this report and the study he had prepared for Southern Pacific.

Southern Pacific President Donald J. Russell said under cross-examination yesterday at the hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission that his railroad would operate the smaller Western Pacific in vigorous competition with its own lines—should Southern Pacific win the case.

Heritage Film Reaction Called Cool

A film strip, "Our American Heritage," was shown members of the County Board of Education last night. It received a cool reception.

Supt. Virgil S. Hollis said he had brought the film from Southern California and was showing it to the board before it was shown to the county's screening committee for possible use in the schools.

The film strip and sound track detailed early American history, then attacked the present U.S. Supreme Court.

Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy, a trustee of College of Marin, spoke up from the audience to say she "wanted to be sure the film is not shown to my children without my knowing about it."

Board Pres. Adele J. Alpers suggested, "We might invite a few people to sit in with the screening committee when they consider it."

"I think I got my answer," said Superintendent Hollis.

Fair Exhibit To Court House

Visitors to the county court house in San Rafael may soon view four transparencies used in this year's Marin County exhibit at the state fair.

Installation of the transparencies in the main hall of the court house was authorized by county supervisors yesterday on request of the Citizens Committee for the State Fair Exhibit.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said this year's exhibit, which took fourth out of four entries depicting "Contributions to the Development of California," cost $2,900, below the original estimate of $3,500.

Sebastopol Man Shaken In Accident

A skidding Sebastopol car, westbound on Novato's Atherton Avenue last night, mowed down two posts and 75 feet of barbed-wire fence before coming to rest on its side in a ditch.

Preston Lee Jones, 26, was in good condition at the Novato Hospital today after a lively bit of driving which took him across the east-bound lane on a curve and carried him off the road southward at 9:30 p.m. half a mile west of Highway 37. He had been severely shaken up but suffered only bruises.

Man Leaps To Death From Span

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A building contractor leaped from the Bay Bridge to his death today.

The body of Anthony B. Gonsalves, 63, Orinda, landed on the concrete apron of a bridge pillar.

"I am jumping off the bridge. Please call my wife Gladys," said a note found in Gonsalves' car.

Lt. Gene Davidson of the California Highway Patrol said Gonsalves drove west on the upper deck. He stopped at the second tower west of Yerba Buena Island and leaped over the railing.

The man's car caused a traffic jam during the morning commuter rush, and there were several minor accidents.

RETIRING—Lt. Col. Worth C. Conner of 598 Thyme Place, San Rafael, retired last week after 20 years of service with the U.S. Army. During World War II, Col. Conner saw action in Guadalcanal, New Guinea and the Philippines and has served in Europe as well as the United States. Retirement ceremonies were held on Friday at the Presidio in San Francisco where Colonel Connor was with the Logistics Office, Headquarters, Sixth U.S. Army.

Psychologist Named For Marin Schools

Harold J. Simpson, former school psychologist for San Francisco schools, was hired last night by the Marin County Board of Education and Supt. Virgil S. Hollis to serve in a similar capacity for Marin schools.

He will spend two days a week at Larkspur schools, two days with rural schools, and one day devoted to child welfare and attendance.

Simpson served in the Reed School District as an intern in 1955.

Last night the county board also:

1. Heard a report from the salary and salary adjustment committee that Morry Gardner had been elected chairman; Helen Elrod, chairman-elect to serve as chairman in 1962-63, and Kathleen Williams secretary.

2. Heard a report by the Marin County Library Advisory Committee that 544 books for the schools had been read last year; 481 accepted, 63 rejected. The committee also recommended that between $3,000 and $5,000 be earmarked for a cataloguing of all school books in the county library, and that $500 be set up for purchase of review copies of books of which free copies are not available.

3. Were told that the state had reduced the county service fund by $10,000, maning that $10,000 must be cut from the audio-visual aids, proposed for purchase.

Annex Meeting

A public hearing on annexation of the David Sweeney Ranch in Sonoma County into the North Marin Water District will be held by district directors at their meeting at 8 p.m. today in the district's office.

Major Squabble Erupts Over School Addition

A routine acceptance of a two-room addition to Marindale School developed into a major squabble last night at a meeting of the Marin County Board of Education.

A 35-day extension of the contractor's completion time, proposed by board member Theodore V. Cole of Novato because "he was delayed by a strike," passed with little discussion. Then came a motion to accept the two rooms, constructed at cost of approximately $46,000.

OB Cavanaugh of Stinson Beach was dissatisfied.

He pointed out there was 24 days delay in completion beyond the contract date, and that the contract provided for a $50 per day penalty. "I can't see us giving away more than $1,000 of the taxpayers' or somebody's money," he declared.

Cole said parts of the construction had been unsatisfactory, but had been corrected following a "premature inspection" by County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis and his staff.

Hollis, who was recommending both the extension and the acceptance of the building, lost his temper at the "premature inspection" remark.

"We were notified the building was ready to move into," he declared. "We waited a week and then went out there." (Last board meeting he had told the board the job was done and classes would start in the room immediately.)

He said one staff member had put his finger behind a steel window frame and flipped it out of the wall. Another had put his finger under a floor tile and lifted it off the floor.

"The inspector had lost interest; the architect did nothing," he stormed. "We didn't have a premature inspection. That's hitting below the belt. If we hadn't inspected we'd have accepted an improperly finished building."

Mrs. Alce Ann Rust, who accompanied Hollis on the inspection, declared: "There was an assortment of things that needed to be done before the building could be accepted. I saw the flooring pulled up, and the window frames, and chipped window panes, and poor sawing. I also agree there was a lack on interest. But Ted (Cole) is right in saying that the list of things had been rectified."

Hollis agreed. He said that the completed structure was "excellent" and again urged acceptance and granting of the extension in completion time.

But Cavanaugh, Harry N. Press and Robert G. Randolph were now dissatisfied with the reasons given for the extension of time. They agreed to accept the addition with the understanding this would not jeopardize the board's right to collect the completion penalty.

Then the board voted 5 to 1, Cole objecting, to reconsider their earlier vote on the time extension.

Finally th board invited representatives of the architect, Reid, Rockwell, Banwell and Tarics of San Francisco; the contractor, Fostmeier Construction Co. of Petaluma, and the inspector, Arnold Griewe, to its next meeting to discuss the delay.

Activities Of Hollis Questioned

The Marin County Board of Education was queried last night about the "wide-ranging lecturing activities of the county superintendent of schools." But the question of whether County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis is running for state superintendent of public instruction was neither asked nor answered.

Mrs. Donald Oman of Mill Valley asked the county board two questions:

1. What control does the board have over the activities of the county superintendent?

2. How are things handled in his office while he is away from the county?

Board members and Hollis agreed that the county board has little or no control over the elected county superintendent. It was pointed out Hollis prepares a monthly report on his activities. One was before the board last night showing that last Monday through Thursday he was in Los Angeles attending to "personal matters" but at the same time conferring with superintendents and staffs of six different school districts.

Board President Adele S. Alpers objected that he had not clearly informed board members where he was going. She said it had been embarrassing to her to admit she didn't know where the superintendent was when people called her to inquire.

Hollis said he was sorry, he thought he had made clear where he was going and that he had taken the four days as part of his vacation. He said he had no vacation in 1959 and only a few scattered days in 1960.

Mrs. Oman was promised a written opinion from the county counsel on her first question.

As to the second one, Hollis said he had averaged 60 hours per week in the county office since his election and that it was organized so that he did not have to be there every minute.

Mill Valley Going Ahead On 40-Foot Canal Plan

Mill Valley Vice Mayor George Blackwell said last night that Mill Valley is going ahead with committments for building a 126-berth small craft harbor on Richardson Bay, based on plans for a 40-foot channel entrance.

The announcement was made at a special meeting in the Mill Valley City Hall to discuss financing of extending the proposed 40-foot Saucelito channel to 200 feet.

"A 40-foot channel has been proposed and guaranteed by the city, and though we would like to obtain the maximum advantage possible, Mill Valley has reached the end of discussion and waiting," said Blackwell.

Blackwell pointed out that a 300,000 dollar loan granted by the state to aid in construction of the harbor has received only provisional approval, and that finals approval will be contingent upon the actual work being done on the project.

He said Mill Valley city officials hope that the "rest of the people concerned" can get together on a workable proposal to extend the channel footage, lest the city lose the loan.

Blackwell's concern over the possible loss of the state loan was echoed by County Supervisor J. Walter Blair.

Blair strongly advocated widening the channel to 200 feet.

A 40-foot channel, Blair said, "would be expensive to maintain" and "bring about continual trouble."

Blair informed the meeting that he had discussed the idea of a 200-foot channel with the board of supervisors and with their approval had set up a 16-member committee to "study the various methods of financing a 200-foot canal."

He then went on to endorse a possible assessment district as a means of financing the project. "The people benefitted should pay the bill," he declared.

The meeting which had been called to discuss measures of financing the proposed widening of the projected canal did not adopt any conclusions as to how it should be done.

Mary Summers, county planning director, put forth a plan whereby public property in the projected area could be traded for private property to set up enough acreage to devote to commercial enterprises, proceeds of which would be used to pay back the state loan.

Blair put forth the idea of an assessment district for the area which would repay the loan and also finance the widening.

Tam Valley Fire Unit Hires Man

Robert James Wallermann of San Rafael has been hired by the Tamalpais Valley Fire Protection District to replace Charles Harper as fireman. Harper left Sunday to go into the Naval Reserve and is now stationed at Alameda.

Wallermann, 28, was a Tiburon volunteer fireman the past six months while he worked as maintenance man at Marin Rehabilitation Hospital in Tiburon.

Tam Trustees Let Contract To Architects

Tamalpais Union High School District trustees last night awarded a contract to San Rafael architects Carl F. Gromme and Ralph B. Priestley for site investigation to find future schools for the district.

The trustees hope to find suitable sites for schools in both southern and northern parts of the district.

The board authorized a call for bids, to be opened Oct. 13, for additional fill for Redwood High School construction site.

Lois Lamdin of San Francisco was hired as teacher for the deaf; Redwood High School who was called into active duty with the Army, was granted a military leave; resignation of Rita Morrison, Redwood High School business teacher, who has accepted a federal job in Europe, was accepted.

The apartment is that of Will Smith. Smith's son was reported to have started the fire in some clothing. Damage was estimated at $30.

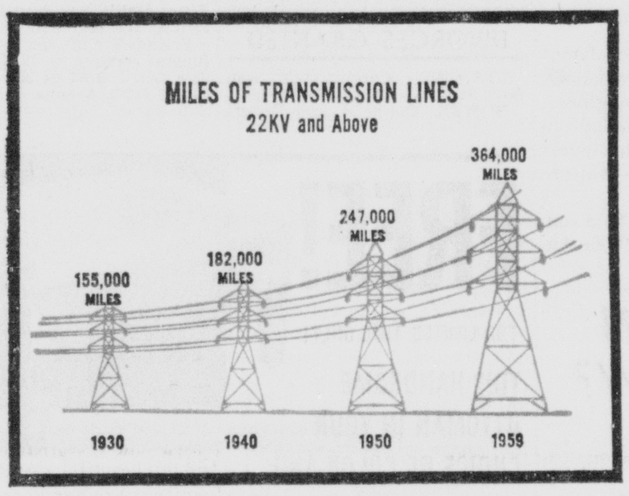
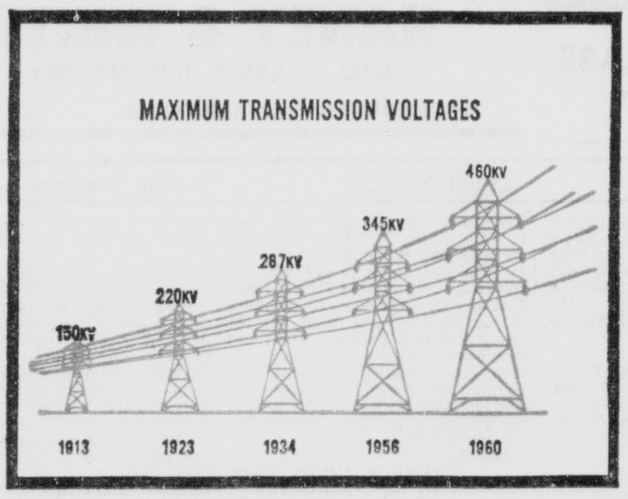
Plenty of power...wherever it's needed

America's Investor-Owned Electric Light and Power Companies to double transmission line investment in next 10 years

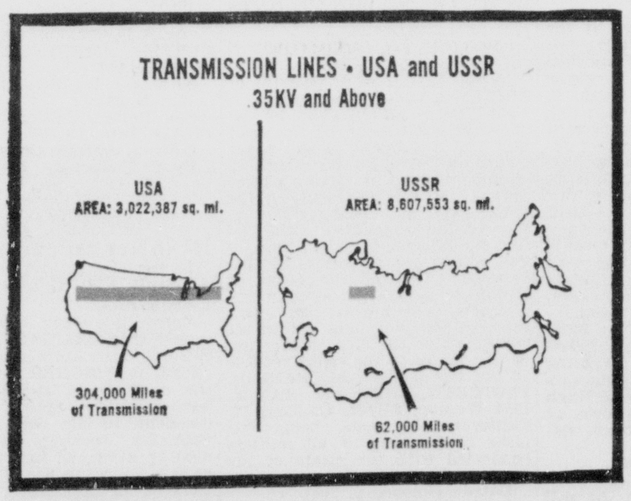
USA's electric transmission network growing rapidly in every way



MILES OF TRANSMISSION LINES IN USA have increased steadily—from 155,000 miles in 1930 to 364,000 miles in 1959. By 1970, this figure will have reached nearly 500,000 miles. These lines will be interconnected from coast to coast to form a giant nationwide power grid.



MAXIMUM TRANSMISSION VOLTAGES have climbed from 150,000 volts (150 kv) in 1913 to 460,000 today. Still higher voltages are likely. For example, an investor-owned electric company, in association with several manufacturers, has been operating an experimental line of 775,000 volts.



COMPARISON OF USA AND USSR shows America to have about five times as many miles of transmission lines as Russia on about ⅓ the land area. It is virtually impossible for Russia to construct a comparable transmission network in the foreseeable future.

Companies will add over $7 billion in transmission facilities between 1960 and 1970. Result: Still more power for America...wherever and whenever it's called for.

The overwhelming bulk of these new lines will be built and financed by the investor-owned electric companies. To build them, the companies will increase their investment in transmission facilities by some $7.3 billion between 1960 and 1970 inclusive. This will more than double the present investment in transmission facilities.

By the end of 1970, it is expected that all the major power systems will be capable of operating on an interconnected basis throughout the United States. Already 100 electric systems in 32 states east of the Rocky Mountains are interconnected. West of the Rockies, there has been extensive use of interconnections for several years. The investor-owned companies originated the interconnecting and pooling idea many years ago.

The proposed expansion of the electric light and power companies' already vast transmission system offers important benefits for electric customers. Service can be even more dependable because power can be brought to any one point by additional routes. Costs can be held down because the most economical sources of power can be used.

Many of the transmission lines now planned will operate at 345,000 volts. Some will be constructed so that they can be converted at a future date to 500,000 volts. Others will be 230,000 or 115,000 volts, to suit the needs of the systems involved.

This giant transmission network is needed to carry the greatest concentration of electric power in the world. With only about 1/16 of the world's population, the U.S. today has about 1/3 of the world's electric power-producing capacity. We have more than the next five countries in the world combined, three times as much as Russia. And our present capacity is expected to double by 1970.

To build ahead of the nation's needs, the electric power companies have been spending more than 3 billion dollars a year on plants, lines and equipment. This is equivalent to 10% of all new construction for all American business, and it is the largest of any single industry.

And the power companies' construction expenditures will be even greater in the future.

The investor-owned electric light and power companies are engaged in the greatest building program of any industry in the nation. They can supply all the additional electric power needed to keep America the most *power*ful country in the world.

Carpenter Arrested For Assault Of Union Agent

A dispute over wages yesterday in the Carpenters Union hall at 647 Lindaro Street in San Rafael resulted in an apprentice carpenter being charged with assault by the union business agent.

Leroy Thomas McNutt, of 25 Ancha Vista, San Anselmo, an apprentice employed by Marin Lumber Co., was charged with assault by Norman B. Campbell, Carpenter's Union business agent, after McNutt allegedly entered Campbell's office and hit him.

Campbell told San Rafael police he had negotiated a wage increase for McNutt but the apprentice thought the raise insufficient. After a second visit to the union hall yesterday morning, McNutt, according to witnesses, charged into the office and hit Campbell while his back was turned.

Campbell, of 14 Lynn Court in San Rafael, suffered a split lip and a sore jaw. McNutt was reached by San Rafael police at work today and agreed to surrender voluntarily this afternoon.

tion one that exists "on paper only—a straw office, a paper office."

"As of this moment that office is in full force," interposed Fusselman.

The proposals, said Selinger, would be a "return to the patronage system." Bruce, County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel, and County Clerk George S. Jones and Auditor-Controller Leon A. deLisle all disagreed with this charge.

"I don't think any department head or employee wants to wreck the merit system," deLisle said.

Broemmel said the practice of personnel procedure evolved in the 10 years of the commission's life represented "no policy."

Broemmel's letter, one of several read to the board by Clerk Jones, was one of the strongest in support of Bruce's recommendations. "As an elected head of one of the major county activities," he wrote, "I conclude that every element of Mr. Bruce's recommendations is constructive, and should, in my opinion, be incorporated in any revision of personnel policy and procedures."

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos arose to attack the commission for not giving him the names of all persons on lists of applicants form jobs in his office and for not permitting him to be present during oral examinations.

Selinger said officers from out of town always were present. Mountanos replied, "But they are hired to work in this county."

Mountanos objected to the commission's giving deLisle a list of nine applicants for what Selinger termed a "sensitive" job involving handling of money.

"Our men carry guns and lives are involved," Mountanos said. "Let's get this squared away."

Assault Charged Against Sausalitan

Stuart Rose, owner of the Village Coffee Shop in the Village Fair at Sausalito, posted $525 bail today at the county jail after he was charged with the assault of a 16-year-old Mill Valley juvenile.

Sausalito police said the assault is alleged to have occurred Sept. 28 by the community incinerator behind the Village Fair. Charges were brought by the boy's father. A warrant of arrest was issued Sept. 29 by the district attorney's office and Rose surrendered to police in Sausalito this morning.

Rose, who lives at 120 Bulkley Avenue, is to appear for plea in Marin Municipal Court at 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Supervisor Castro To Speak Tomorrow

County Supervisor Walter R. Castro will speak on the future, growth and problems of Marinwood tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Mary Silveira School.

The meeting, sponsored by the Marinwood Assn., will include a question period and will adjourn at 10 p.m., said association president Thomas Elliott.

Sanitation Meeting

The San Rafael Sanitation District meeting will be held tomorrow at the city hall at 9:30 a.m. The meeting is being held a day early to permit chairman Walter R. Castro, who will be out of town on Thursday, to attend.

Marin's Getting Snooty Monitor

When you sniff Marin's pure air of a morning, there'll be an automatic sniffer likewise at work from now on. Its efficiency will be considerably higher than that of the human smeller.

By authorization yesterday of Marin County supervisors, the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District is about to install an "automatic continuous air monitoring station" in Marin.

County Administrator Alan Bruce told the supervisors that the station will consist of a small unit placed on a roof, connected by wires to a revolving drum and ink unit which will take up only about one cubic foot of space in the building below.

Installation and servicing, including period renewals of ink and paper, will be handled by the district. Bruce said that the building should be centrally located and staffed 24 hours a day seven days a week.

All that the local staff would be expected to do would be to have an occasional look to see that the mechanical nose hasn't caught cold or something, and occasional response to calls from the district for readings at times when smog is in evidence.

Bruce said Mansfield Lewis, county communications chief, agreed that installation at the County Communications Department would be appropriate. So the supervisors advised the district to work out details with Lewis and proceed with the installation.

Marin Music Chest Names Officers

Mrs. Samuel Archibald was unanimously re-elected president of the Marin Music Chest for the 1962 season at the annual meeting of directors and founders yesterday in the Frances Young Art Gallery of the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Re-elected to serve with Mrs. Archibald were Mrs. Wallace Scott, first vice-president; Mrs. Milton Esberg, second vice president; Mrs. Carl Riznik, third vice president; Ralph Mannella, treasurer, and Mrs. Melvia Oppenheimer, secretary. All were choices of a nominating committee headed by Mrs. Eugene Lloyd.

In the absence of Mrs. Archibald, Mrs. Scott presided. She announced appointment by Mrs. Archibald of five new members to the board of directors: Mesdames Raymond Thayer, Bella Resek, Joseph Guilfoyle, Ragnar Thaning, Harold Eliott and Ernest Kirschner.

Announcement was also made of a $200 scholarship given to the Music Chest by the Crocker-Anglo Bank.

"This has been one of the most successful seasons in years," Mrs. Scott stated, and added that more than 6,000 attended the Summer Concerts at Forest Meadows in San Rafael.

Letter of resignation was read from Byron W. Leydecker, due to his transfer from San Rafael to the Stockton Crocker-Anglo Bank. Leydecker was a member of the Music Chest executive board.

Novato Reports Two Burglaries

Two burglaries in Novato Saturday night apparently involved accidental trips through windows whose shattered windows inflicted injury on the intruders.

Blood was found by broken windows in both Rayburn's Market at 850 Grant Avenue and the Wright Hardware at 1305 Grant Avenue.

Novato police said two men were seen going through the Rayburn window at 8 p.m. Investigation disclosed that they had removed dials from the safe and apparently were in process of opening it when something scared them off so abruptly that they left their tools and burst through the closed front window.

A light-colored car was subsequently seen leaving the parking lot at high speed.

Nothing was taken at the Wright Hardware where a rear window was broken.

The word "colporteur" was derived from the French and means, literally, "men who carry things slung around their necks." Specifically, it has come to mean persons who carry Scriptures to people.

ELIZABETH II GIVES TONY AN EARLDOM

LONDON (AP) — Buckingham Palace announced tonight Queen Elizabeth II has conferred an earldom on Anthony Armstrong Jones, husband of her younger sister, Princess Margaret.

The announcement said the 31-year-old former photographer's title will be Viscount Linley and Earl of Snowdon. He will be known as the Earl of Snowdon.

The subsidiary title of Viscount Linley would go to the eldest son, if any, of his marriage to Margaret—who is expecting her first baby late this month or early in November.

If the baby is a girl, she will be known as Lady Armstrong-Jones.

Princess Margaret henceforth will be called "Her Royal Highness the Princess Margaret, Countess of Snowdon."

State Fair Revenue Is Up From 1960

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The 1961 California State Fair, with revenue and attendance figures almost complete took in about $36,000 more than in 1960 but had fewer paid admissions.

Total revenues for the 1961 fair were set unofficially at $1,550,000, as compared to $1,933,200 which had been estimated for revenues in the 1961-62 budget. The total budget for the fair in 1961 was $2,450,478. If the revenue figures are substantially correct, this would mean the 1961 fair lost about $900,000.

Attendance at the 1961 fair, at 837,859, was up 35,618 from a year ago but revenue from admissions dropped from $430,803 in 1960 to $419,968 this year.

Corte Madera Rejects Plea For Big Sign

What would have been the biggest sign in Corte Madera was turned down 3-to-2 last night by the Corte Madera Town Council.

But the councilmen discovered to their alarm that there is nothing in the town's sign ordinance which seems to apply to the request. They instructed Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis to meet with the planning commission to try to plug holes in the ordinance.

Builder Gerson Baker requested the sign, 12½ - by - 25 feet—bigger than the sign on H. H. Koch and Sons luggage factory. He asked for it on a temporary basis to advertise the Madera Valley Apartments at 1492 Casa Buena Drive, a duplex development.

Shocked at the size of the sign, Mayor Edward H. Colthurst sought interpretations of the ordinance to find a basis for rejecting it. Nothing that applied to it could be found.

One portion of the ordinance limits signs in duplex zones to six square feet. Councilmen Charles F. Pendleton and Bud Cole, who voted against the turn-down, said that was more ridiculous than 302 square feet.

Councilmen were further upset because the planning commision had rejected Baker's application but advised him to take it before the council.

Town Takes Two Annexation Steps, Another Is Denied

Corte Madera Town Council last night began steps to annex two small sections of land, and denied the annexation of another.

The councilmen instructed Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis to prepare a resolution for intention to annex a portion of uninhabited land off Meadowsweet Drive. Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow told the council the county boundaries commission approves.

The town fathers started annexation proceedings also for a small portion of uninhabited land between the Corte Madera and Larkspur city limits off Walnut Avenue.

The third annexation request was for Marin Joe's property at 1585 Redwood Highway. The request failed by 3-2 vote. Mayor Albert E. Kogler and Councilman Bud Cole in favor.

Those voting against it said they did not want to create "islands of property in the town limits surrounded by county land."

In other business, the Corte Madera council:

1. Accepted the low bid of $12,043 by the E. A. Forde Co., Corte Madera paving contractor, for street maintenance overlays. The high of five bids was from A. G. Raisch of Novato at $16,332. Work is to be completed about the second week of November.
2. Renewed its contract with town planning consultants Livingston and Blayney with a 10 per cent increase in fees. The town paid $764 last year.
3. Put over to Oct. 16 consideration of a proposed personnel ordinance.
4. Tabled a report from the planning and development committee on a proposed tree ordinance.

Same Bandits Suspected In Airport Robbery

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The two men who robbed the Bank of American branch at San Francisco International Airport of $11,022 yesterday answer descriptions of the men who robbed the same branch of $9,699 Aug. 28, police said.

Local Federal Bureau of Investigation agents report today they are checking the possibility that the two robberies were staged by the same pair.

In yesterday afternoon's robbery the bandits, one armed with a shotgun, the other with a pistol, forced four tellers into a vault while they looted the tellers' cash drawers.

Just before the August robbery one of the tellers was held hostage locked in the trunk of a car the gunmen hijacked from the bank's parking lot. The gunmen later switched cars.

Yesterday the bandits escaped in a blue Ford coupe, either a 1949 or 1950 model, teller John LoCocco said.

Tenor To Make Court Debut On Hit-Run Driving Charge

Three debuts are in the offing for Giuseppe Zampieri, 40, Italian tenor arrested in Marin County for hit-run driving in Sonoma County on Sunday night.

Zampieri was arrested by California Highway Patrolmen Sunday about 7 p.m. at the Black Point cutoff after allegedly running down George De La Montoya, 74, on Highway 12 near Sonoma. Witnesses took the license number of the car and officers took Zampieri into custody an hour after the accident.

The tenor and his three passengers denied knowledge of the accident. De La Montoya of Sonoma was taken to Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco with a broken leg.

Zampieri, a well known tenor in his native Italy, was to make his San Francisco debut with the San Francisco Opera Company on Friday night. His New York debut with the Metropolitan Opera Company is scheduled for later this season.

His debut with the Santa Rosa Municipal Court, to answer charges of felony hit and run driving, was set for Oct. 11.

Three Annex Requests Heard By San Rafael

Three annexations to San Rafael came before the city council last night.

One was accepted. One was referred to the planning and fire commissions. One was sent back to the applicant because of faulty description.

Referred to planning and fire commissions was a petition for annexation of the Merrydale area, between Ranchitos Road and Highway 101 on the north side of Puerto Suello Hill. Six property owners signed the petition.

One objection to it was raised immediately by Councilman David Menary Jr.

The map submitted for annexation included a portion of Ranchitos Road which collapsed with the cave-in at the north end of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad's Puerto Suello tunnel. (Lincoln Avenue, at the south end, has been restored by the railroad; the county and the railroad have not yet come to an agreement over the north end.)

"We don't want that tunnel," said Menary. "That's the county's problem." His fellow councilmen agreed.

Accepted was the Newport-Bechtel annexation of uninhabited property in East San Rafael.

Returned for resubmission was Fred F. Enemark's petition for annexation of a five-acre parcel in Bayside Acres. Public Works Director Norris Rawles said there was an error in the description.

Teeners Lead To False Alarms

Fairfax Police Chief Clifton C. Cordes assisted by Fairfax fire chief Charles Thornton apprehended two teen-agers a half hour after they were alleged to have turned in two false fire alarms in Fairfax early Sunday.

The two chiefs spotted a Ford Thunderbird pulling away from the firebox which had sounded the second alarm. After a short search, they found the car and arrested two teenage boys, who admitted sending the alarms.

The boys, both 16, were remanded to the custody of the probation office.

Supervisors Approve Lagle As Marin Principal Planner

Promotion of Robert B. Lagle from planner to principal planner on the staff of the Marin County Planning Commission was approved yesterday by the county supervisors as another step in adjustments which will result from resignation of planning director Mary Summers.

The Lagle promotion will become effective March 1, the date on which B. L. Dobbs is to succeed Mrs. Summers as head of the department. It will raise Lagle's pay from $638 to $669.

David Van Pelt is also a principal planner, concerned primarily though not exclusively with planning whereas Dobbs' specialty has been zoning. Lagle will move into the work previously handled by Dobbs.

The board gave Mrs. Summers permission to recruit another staff member with the rank of planner, to be hired no earlier than Jan. 1.

William Bradley, inspector in the sheriff's department, was named to the newly authorized position of assistant coroner. His pay will remain unchanged at $609 monthly.

Monroe S. Green was appointed junior appraiser in the assessor's office at $401 a month; James P. Stuart received the same title at $440; Norman J. Taylor Jr. was appointed radio technician operator in the communications department at $440.

On recommendation of Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos, a special increase was granted Deputy Sheriff Jack Agnew because of an unusual situation. He was initially hired in 1957 on a per diem basis and because of "excellent performance" he was put up from $433 to $506 as though he had been on permanent hire throughout.

The supervisors also:

1. Authorized extra hire part time employment of an intermediate typist clerk to deal with a "backlog of civil defense clerical work."

2. Agreed to let the county fire department burn 29 more old Marin City duplexes on condition that the Redevelopment Agency square things with the Air Pollution Control District, some trouble having developed over earlier burnings.

3. Set for Oct. 23 at 2 p.m. a public hearing to revive last year's effort to create a Stinson Beach Flood Control Zone.

4. Assigned to Supervisor J. Walter Blair the task of assuring the Water Control Board that there will be compliance of requirements affecting Bolinas Sanitary District.

5. Set Oct. 24 as United Nations Day and Oct. 25 as "day in court" for the Marin County Legal Secretaries Assn.

6. Authorized $98 outlay for removal of tired old civil defense highway signs, now outmoded.

There's only ONE measure

of your confidence ... in your newspaper

Each day, readers "measure" their newspaper by what they see, by what they like. No two readers have the same tastes. Some prefer national news, others local. Some turn first to sports, others to the editorial. To survive, a newspaper must cover all readers interests. This is what makes a newspaper as "alive", as diverse, as the world it reports.

How then, can a newspaper measure the interest of its readers? Is there a means beyond opinion? Fortunately, readers all see eye to eye on this: a paper worth reading is worth paying for. It's as simple as that—yet the very life of a newspaper hangs upon it.

An exact count of paid circulation, therefore, is the only way your confidence and interest can be measured. To do this, we at the I-J open our books to the analytical eye of the Audit Bureau of Circulations. They do the counting; we don't. They say what our paid circulation is. They prove, by thorough audit, that others paid as you did. They confirm your confidence as a reader—the most valued asset a newspaper ever earned.

Here's how ABC "runs a survey" on circulation

Each year, one of ABC's 70 trained auditors from national headquarters comes to our offices and analyses our entire circulation. Where is it? Is it paid? By whom? What are the exact figures? How was circulation obtained? The survey is as accurate and impartial as the lens of a transit. The ABC auditor even maps out our circulation areas . . . city zone, retail trading zone. Every last copy must be accounted for.

Findings are published nationally by the Audit Bureau of Circulations for all to see—readers, advertisers, advertising agencies. Our circulation figure, then, is not a claim. It is not "stretched." It is a fact . . . placed on the solid backdrop of integrity.

HUNGARIAN ARCHBISHOP GROESZ DIES

VIENNA (UPI)—Hungarian Archbishop Joseph Groesz died today after a heart attack, Radio Budapest announced. He was 74.

Groesz, who was chairman of the Hungarian Catholic bench of bishops, spent four years in Communist prisons and was the highest Roman Catholic dignitary in Hungary besides Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty.

Mindszenty is still living in the U.S. legation in Budapest where he took political asylum after the 1956 freedom revolution, which was crushed by Communist Russian tanks and arms.

Authority Accepts TV Proposal

Marin County Housing Authority commissioners accepted in principle yesterday a proposal which would provide television reception to tenants in the 300 low-rent units at $2 per month.

All tenants would pay the fee, whether they have television or not.

Service is now inadequate since tenants are not allowed to place antennas on roofs of buildings.

The proposal came from Earle C. Stanton of San Francisco, who agreed to install service to each unit under a 10-year contract. Lines would be run underground, as requested by architect Aaron Green.

Sgt. Guy Gibbs of the Marin City Sheriff's Substation told the commission he has issued instructions that there must be one deputy on duty at all times in Marin City. Complaints had been made by tenants that a deputy could not always be found.

The commission authorized an appeal to the board of supervisors from the county planning commission's denial of a request to rezone Hilarita from single family to multiple use.

The commission also:

1. Heard Klahn's report that 592 units are now occupied in Marin City, including 300 of the low-rent project, and that 120 units are occupied at Hilarita project. This is a drop of seven occupancies from September in Marin City.
2. Authorized chairman Omar E. McNally and Klahn to attend the National Assn. of Housing and Redevelopment officials in Washington Oct. 28, 29 and 30.

County Salary Savings May Be Expected

County salary savings of at least $16,000 may be expected during the present fiscal year, Marin County supervisors were told yesterday by Asst. Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell.

This will be due mainly to some positions being unfilled during the first three months.

Mitchell suggested that therefore "there is latitude in the budget for making further salary inequity adjustments if your board wishes."

Mitchell said reviews of records showed that only two employees are now being held back from pay increases by department heads, one being in the county clerk's office and the other at the county hospital and farm.

This was in line with Mitchell's earlier assurance that step increases are now virtually automatic, though still by recommendation.

Between July 1, 1958 and day before yesterday 95 employees received range changes and 118 were promoted, with 40 of these resulting from new classifications and 78 to fill vacancies.

The present board between July 1 and Oct. 1 of this year authorized 15 range changes due to salary inequities and 22 promotions were authorized.

Mitchell recommended that the county administrator's salary survey report of last June 8 be again reviewed by the board. It contained department heads' recommendations on inequities as well as the administrator's recommendations.

Game Aftermath: Two Broken Trees

Two young trees and five parking signs were among casualties in the aftermath of football games in San Rafael over the weekend.

The trees, six-foot-high liquid ambers, planted by Dominican College on Palm Avenue near Acacia Avenue and maintained by the city, were hacked off about a foot from the ground and left to die.

The parking signs, attached to four-by-four-inch poles on Fourth Street in front of the Marin County Board of Education offices, were pulled out of the ground. One is still missing, one totally destroyed and three recovered.

Authorities blamed the destruction on celebrants following the St. Mary's-San Rafael High School football game.

County Fair Budget Approved By Board

A 1962 Marin County Fair budget of $92,584, up $18,338 from this year, was unanimously approved by the county board of supervisors yesterday.

Chief reason for the boost was a $13,000 item for maintenance and improvement of landscaping on the new Santa Venetia civic center fair site.

This item hasn't previously been present. But the operational costs were up $3,726 to $51,817, and the county fair fund category was up $1,612 to $27,767 due to a variety of small raises.

Ground rental to the Marin Art and Garden Center will rise $500 to $14,500, the publicity director's services will be rewarded by an extra $250 to total $2,000, and advertising will go up $510 to $2,850. These were the main factors in the $1,612 increase along with small rises in awards and premiums, administrative expenses and attractions.

A decrease in number of paid admissions this year was noted, with 542 fewer than in 1960—25,606 this year, 26,148 last, reducing income by $406.

Operational expenses coming from state pari-mutuel allocations will rise $600 for manager's salary (to $3,924), with clerical and administrative expenses up $368 to $4,475 and groundsmen's salaries going to $6,784, a rise of $1,005.

Asst. Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported that $288,500 has been allocated for capital outlay on the Santa Venetia fair site and up to last Aug. 31, $180,445.75 has been spent. This year's state allocation was $115,000 and there will be a request for the same amount next year in accordance with the county's five-year building program which provides through state agreement for accumulaiton of annual grants so that contracts can be large and efficient.

Puerto Rico is the only territory of the United States where Christopher Columbus ever set foot.

Thief Takes Rifle From Novato Store

A burglar entered the Pini Hardware at 1117 Grant Avenue, Novato, sometime over the weekend and took a 30-30 caliber Winchester rifle and an undetermined amount of ammunition, Novato police reported today.

The burglary was discovered yesterday morning by Donald Phillips of 1001 Eighth Street when he opened the store.

Police investigation showed the burglar entered by breaking a side door. He fired one bullet from the rifle inside the store, the bullet going through two counters and lodging in a third.

George Hale of 1113 Mirabella Avenue, a fire captain at the main fire station in Novato, told police that between 10:30 and 11 p.m. Saturday he saw a flickering light in Pini Hardware. He thought it might be a fire and checked the building for that. He said he forgot about it until he saw the police investigating yesterday.

Two Quentin Felons Leave Forest Camp

Two San Quentin Prison convicts disappeared from a fog-shrouded forestry camp near Weott in Humboldt County last night.

The disappearance of convicts Jerry A. Story and Eugene L. Datton was discovered by camp officials at 1:35 a.m. today.

Story, 27, was serving a one year-to-life sentence for second degree armed robbery in 1959 in Kern County. Datton was committed for six months to five years in 1960 from Los Angeles County for auto theft.

The prisoners had both been at San Quentin until August, when Story was transferred to a conservation camp in Humboldt County and Datton to one in Del Norte County.

Yesterday, a group of prisoners which included Datton, from the Del Norte camp were taken to the Humboldt camp for forest fire duty.

A few hours later, both Datton and Story had vanished.

Sentencing Date Set For House Painter

Sentencing of Fred F. Swolley, 32-year-old house painter of 769 Sun Lane, Novato, for contributing to the delinquency of a 10-year-old girl was set yesterday for Oct. 30 in Marin Superior Court.

On motion of Deputy Dist. Atty. Charles L. Convis, Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. dismissed two charges of lewd and lascivious conduct. Convis said an essential witness had left the state.

Witness Pleads Fifth In D.C. Probe Of Reds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The alleged organized of a Communist-sponsored rally against the federal subversive control laws told congressmen today he wouldn't give them "ice in the winter or sunshine in the summer."

Joseph Brandt, described by the House Committee on Un-American Activities as a former top Ohio Communist now prominent in the national party, invoked the Fifth Amendment 36 times when asked about activities of the National Assembly for Democratic Rights.

Brandt, who yesterday rejected questions 60 times, again accused the committee of "smearing, intimidating and stopping people from speaking their minds."

The committee recalled Brandt in its inquiry into the National Assembly and the Citizens' Committee for Constitutional Liberties. Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) said the aim was to establish the link, if any, between the Communist Party and the two organizations.

Walter has said the organizations are spearheading a Communist propaganda campaign to nullify a recent Supreme Court decision upholding the federal subversive control laws.

The committee was told that Brandt, speaking at a private meeting in Washington Sunday, had said he would give no answers in the hearings. He also was quoted as saying that "if we press Walter more, maybe we can press him into the McCarthy grave. We will nail shut the Walter coffin."

Brandt refused to say if he made such a statement. But Walter said he was flattered. He added that if such statements continued he might reverse his decision to retire from Congress next year.

Corte Madera Sets Deadline On Rubbish

Corte Madera Town Council last night granted Denny's House of Plumbing and the owner of the property, Charles Shelley of Corte Madera, until Nov. 6 to clean up the rubbish and refuse on the property.

The decision after a public hearing on abatement of a nuisance in the area around Denny's at 5726 Paradise Drive.

Complaints had come from the Mariner's Cove Improvement Assn. But said Shelley last night: "The worst offender dumping litter on the property is a Mariner's Cove resident, Sam Hall of Golden Hind Passage. He dumps tree cuttings."

Shelley told councilmen workers for the plumbing business had not had time recently to clean up the rubbish but assured the town fathers the problem would be met by Nov. 6.

Town Clerk Naydeen Penny read a letter from George L. Morrison, vice president and general manager of Northwestern Pacific Railroad, which said the area around the railroad right-of-way will be cleaned by railroad workmen the last week of this month.

Yanks Favored 11-5, Even If Mantle Misses Opener

Mickey Still Doubtful; Series Opens Tomorrow

NEW YORK (UPI)—Whether Mickey Mantle is in the lineup or not—and there's a strong possibility he will sit out the opening game—the New York Yankees still are rated 11 to 5 favorites to defeat the Cincinnati Reds in the World Series which begins tomorrow.

Mantle, looking pale and weak following his release from the hospital, frankly admitted, "I don't think I'll be able to play if I don't feel any better than I did yesterday."

Nevertheless, the odds-makers installed the Yankees 9 to 5 choices to win the opener, with pressure-tested Whitey Ford going for the American League champions against another left hander, Tim O'Toole of the Reds.

Ralph Houk, who won the pennant for the Yankees in his freshman year as a manager, said he still is hoping Mantle will be able to play.

"He's played so many times before when he should have been on the bench, so maybe he will be out there," Houk said.

"I'd sure like to have him in there."

Houk said he would wait until after the Yankees' workout today before making up his mind about Mantle.

LINEUP CHANGED

"If he can't play, it will be (Roger) Maris in center with (Yogi) Berra in left and (John) Blanchard in right," he added.

Manager Fred Hutchinson of the Reds had a doubtful starter, too, catcher Darrell Johnson. Although Johnson worked behind the two rookie Cincinnati receivers, Jerry Zimmerman and John Edwards, most of the season, Hutchinson wanted him in the series because of his experience. Johnson, who has a strained side muscle, was a third-string catcher with the Yankees and Hutchinson wants to take advantage of his knowledge of the Yankee hitters.

Both Johnson and Mantle appeared for workouts in big Yankee Stadium yesterday, but Maris, the new home run king, did not dress for the practice session.

MARIS STILL WEARY

"I'm still all in," said Maris, "but I'll be ready Wednesday."

Johnson worked out but did not take batting practice.

Mantle, five pounds underweight, walked around the running track. He limped slightly.

He had been released from Lenox Hill hospital only a couple of hours earlier. While there he underwent minor surgery for an abscess on the right hip. He also had been suffering from a cold.

"I'm still weak, the leg hurts and I can't run on it," said the discouraged Mantle. He said the pain was severe because the abscess was under a muscle.

The Yankee physician, Dr. Sydney Gaynor, was more optimistic than Mantle.

"Knowing Mickey and the way he responds to treatment, I think he'll play," said Gaynor.

Even without Mantle, the Yankees—on paper—have a big edge over the Reds in the power department. They have hit 240 homers, a major league club record, with Maris leading the way with that fantastic 61 followed by Mantle with 54. The Reds, on the other hand, hit only 158.

YANKS HAVE EDGE

The Yankees also appear to have a big edge in fielding and in catching. Only in pitching—which usually is the most vital factor in a series—do the Reds match the Yankees.

It is that hitting and defensive superiority plus experience which apparently led the odds-makers to make the New Yorkers favorites. None of the 25 Cincinnati players ever has played in a series game.

But Hutchinson isn't buling those odds.

"They were favored over the Pirates last year, too," recalled the Reds skipper. "Besides, the odds were much larger against us—60 to 1—on winning the National League pennant.

"We've been underdogs all year. We're used to it. I know we're not supposed to win, but I haven't told the players yet so they don't know it."

The weather forecast is for continued rain into tomorrow with temperatures between 60 and 70 degrees. Should rain force postponement the first game will be played Thursday with the second game, also at Yankee Stadium, on Friday.

WORLD SERIES ON TV AT 8:45 TOMORROW

KRON-TV (Channel 4) will be on the air tomorrow at 8:45 a.m. with the National Broadcasting Co.'s coverage of the first game of the 1961 World Series from Yankee Stadium in New York.

Mel Allen and Joe Garagiola will do the play-by-play.

The game will be preceded at 8:30 by a 15-minute "warm-up" show over which Lindsey Nelson will preside.

Other series games originating in New York will be carried on KRON at the same time, and games played in Cincinnati will begin one hour later.

Odds Drop On Yankees In Opener

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Odds favoring the New York Yankees to win the first game of the World Series from Cincinnati dropped slightly yesterday.

The Yankees had been favored 19-10 in the gambling marts here to take the first one.

Odds against the Yanks winning in four games are 6-1, against the Reds winning in four games are 6-1, against the Reds winning in four games, 20-1.

Recollections Of Another Series, In Which The Reds Participated

CONNOLLY

Roll back the calendar. It is October 1919 and the Cincy Reds have just won their first National League pennant.

The world, it seemed, had taken baseball to its heart. All the blood, shock and shell of World War I was evaporating as a carnival spirit roared along the Ohio. Stores were closed for the day and scalpers were getting $100 for a set of three tickets, face value: $16.50.

Chicago's White Sox ruled a 2 to 1 favorite or even money and 2 runs. That's how it looked to the experts.

How many readers remember the tragic "Black Sox" of 1919 who, in a "fixed World Series" threw five of the eight games and gave the Cincy Reds their first world's baseball championship?

Twenty years later the same Cincy Reds came back to win another pennant in 1939 and lost the series to the Yankees.

But the consequences of the world's series of 1919 left baseball in a tizzy and it came within a few inches of ringing down the curtain on big league baseball.

Along came Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, a federal judge, to re-establish the national pastime on a firm footing.

But how many of you readers remember the Sox and Cincy lineups of 1919? Going through my records I find the lineups for the first game of the 1919 series read like this:

White Sox	Reds
J. Collins, rf	Rath, 2b
E. Collins, 2b	Daubert, 1b
Weaver, 3b	Groh, 3b
Jackson, lf	Roush, cf
Felsh, cf	Duncan, lf
Gandil, 1b	Kopf, ss
Risberg, ss	Neale, rf
Schalk, c	Wingo, c
Cicotte, p	Ruether, p

They used a shoe horn to get 31,000 fans into the Reds' Park.

FIRST GAME—Reds 9, White Sox 1.

Kid Gleason, Chicago manager, had his club bunting, expecting a low score. In the Reds' half of the first, Cicotte hit Maury Rath, lead off man, in the back. This was the famous signal to the gamblers that the "fix" was on.

At the beginning of the Reds' fourth, Cicotte was jittery. The score was 1 to 1. With two out and one on, Risberg failed to "squeeze" Greasy Neale's grounder. With men on second and third, Dutch Ruether whaled a triple between Felsh and Jackson. Rath doubled over Weaver's head. Daubert singled and Gleason yanked Cicotte. But the damage had been done.

SECOND GAME—Reds 4, White Sox 2.

An alarming attack of wildness came over Claude Williams, the Sox flinger. In the fourth, Rath walked, Daubert sacrificed, Groh walked, Roush singled, scoring Rath, Duncan walked. Then the weak hitting Kopf tripled to the fence. After the game, manager Kid Gleason said the Reds' victory was handed them on a platter.

THIRD GAME—White Sox 3, Reds 0.

FOURTH GAME—Reds 2, Sox 0.

Cicotte had a tough time losing this game, for the Reds were not hitting. Both scores came in the fifth. With one out, Cicotte threw Duncan's roller wide to first and Duncan reached second. Kopf singled to left and Jackson threw perfectly to the plate so Duncan stopped at third—but Cicotte cut off the throw and batted the ball into the box seats with his glove, Duncan scoring. Jackson then played in close for the long-hitting Neale and watched a double fly over his head as Kopf scored. Gleason's comment after the game was that Cicotte wouldn't make errors like that again in 40 years.

FIFTH GAME—Reds 5, Sox 0.

Hod Eller pitched and allowed the Sox three hits and struck out six. He also hit a double through a hole big enough for a regiment between Jackson and Felsch, Sox outfielders.

SIXTH GAME—White Sox 5, Reds 4.

A shooting match, according to the late John Lardner and a betting counter stroke, in which Weaver and Gandil won it the hard way in the tenth inning, despite the fact that Dicky Kerr, Sox pitcher, lacked his stuff.

SEVENTH GAME—Sox 5, Reds 4.

"For the first time in the series," said Gleason, Sox manager, "my boys were themselves."

EIGHTH GAME—Reds 10, Sox 5.

My old friend, John Lardner, wrote: "The Sox folded like an umbrella." Before two men were out in the first inning, Claude Williams had given up four hits and three runs. In the Chicago half of the first, with Liebold and Collins on third and second and none out, Weaver fanned, and Felsch struck out.

"It was all very final," wrote Lardner, and it came within an ace of being the end of big league baseball.

Stengle & Co. Start Scanning Draft List

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel, his two new coaches, scouts and other officials of the New York Mets got down to serious business today, working on the list of players from which they must pick their 1962 National League team. It was all strictly confidential.

The lists were made available to George Weiss, club president, yesterday by Warren Giles, the National League president. Each club had to list 15 available men, seven of whom were on the list Aug. 31 and thus came under the regular 25-player limit, and eight of whom were out on option or under control.

Giles refused to disclose any details of the lists, except to say that the seven Cincinnati men who were on the list of World Series eligibles, would not be made known to New York and Houston, the other new NL club, until after the series. The so-called "premium" player lists also will be made available at that time.

The day after the series ends, in the city where the last game is played, Houston and New York will pick their players. Each can get as many as 28 for $1.9 millions or as few as 20 for $1.7 millions.

Brain Injury Caused Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A brain injury which induced internal bleeding caused the death of a Lebanon Valley College football player who collapsed shortly after an emergency operation for removal of a blood clot from the brain, authorities report.

The report on the player, John Zola, 20, junior halfback from Hazleton, Pa., was made yesterday by the Philadelphia medical examiner's office following an autopsy.

The death of Zola, who died yesterday in Presbyterian Hospital following the emergency surgery Saturday night, was the second in college football this year. Donald G. Foley, 19, of Pasadena, Tex., a member of Navy's junior varsity squad, died last Thursday of injuries suffered in practice.

PALLAVICINI

Marin Star Signs With Detroit Club

Vincent W. Pallavicini, Sir Francis Drake High School baseball star, was signed by the Detroit Tigers last night for a substantial sum and will report to Tiger Town, Florida next March.

The 18-year-old was signed on the recommendation of Nick Kobseff of Nicasio, Bay Area territorial scout for the Tigers. The actual signing was done at Pallavicini's residence, 107 Sunnyside Avenue, San Anselmo, by the club's head scout for the western states, Bernie DeViveiros.

Kobseff said that Pallavicini will be assigned from Florida to one of Detroit's minor league farm clubs.

VINCE THRILLED

The athlete is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Pallavicini. He is presently attending the College of Marin and working part time in his father's roofing company. The youth could not be contacted today, but his mother said he was "quite thrilled" with the signing.

Vince began his baseball career at the age of five and even as a little league player was described in sports stories as being a "violent pitcher, who threw a murderous ball." He graduated this June from Drake where he stared in the outfield and was selected on the Marin County Athletic League All Star team, as well as being given honorable mention in a San Francisco newspaper's all-star poll.

Raider Boss Quits

OAKLAND (UPI) — General Manager P. T. (Bud) Hastings of the Oakland Raiders American League football team resigned yesterday. There was no immediate announcement as to Hastings' replacement.

Bulldogs Boast Best Pre-League Record In MCAL

By PAUL MILLER

The San Rafael Bulldogs are working out this week in the glow of an undefeated record in pre-league play and Novato and Tamalpais are also enjoying their records of more wins than losses.

The pre-league "standings" to date of Marin County Athletic League schools are as follows: San Rafael 3-0; Tam and Novato 2-1; Drake, 1-2; Redwood 0-2-1, and Marin Catholic, 0-2. This record indicates a strengthening of the league generally as compared to the lickings Marin high school football teams have suffered from out-of-town teams in past seasons. It indicates, also, that one of the liveliest league seasons in years is about to begin.

'TEAM EFFORT'

Bulldog coach Bob Muster, lolling in undefeated comfort, described Friday night's victory over St. Mary's as "truly a team effort," and he produced the "stats" to prove it. For example, on ground rushing, quarterback Jack Sovereign's average per play was 4 yards, halfback Alan Finley's 3.4, and fullback Mike Shafer's 3.3. Pass receivers also did their share. Sovereign flipped 12, five of which were caught, and two of those were by Bruce MacPhail, recently off the injured list.

Even the second unit came in for a share in the victory. Praised by Muster was substitute end Don Stevens for his good work while replacing sick first stringer Marty Vincent.

Even though the pass defense in the St. Mary's game was satisfactory, Muster will be putting his backs through intensive aerial safety work this week in light of the upcoming Piedmont contest. The East Bay team has a big reputation for its air attack.

Despite Tam's decisive victory over Riordan of San Francisco Friday night, Indian head coach Jim Hanretty said he is not satisfied with the Indian offensive action, especially the backfield timing.

One of the Indians' big problems — poor tackling — showed improvement Friday.

"Our defensive problem is whipped," said Hanretty after the Riordan game. He seemed to imply that by MCAL play time he intends to see that his offense is squared away as well.

One snarl in the offensive procedure of Tam was apparent. Quarterback Tex Hamilton was throwing for one pattern, but receivers were running in another.

One of Novato coach Marlin Olsen's big jobs this week is to make sure his boys don't get too cocky for their game with Ukiah next Friday. After last Saturday's 37-0 walloping of Sonoma, the Hornets cannot really be blamed for overconfidence, especially since Olsen played his first string less than half the game.

'COMING ALONG'

Whereas Olsen in earlier games described his team's offense as "tacky," this week he feels that with his new tight formation it is "coming along. But were going to keep polishing it."

Among others, Olsen had good words for halfback Craig Bond, who played his first game this season and turned in a fine performance. John Miller was also pointed out for his work in moving the ball.

When a team has obviously already lost the strife in a game, the never-say-die men are found out. And so it was in Redwood's defeat of 32 to 6 by Carlmont last Saturday.

Head Giant coach Bob Troppmann has declared that he and his staff will now select "11 men who want to play football in the Redwood tradition." Two of those athletes have already been found. One is halfback Keith Norton, and the other is Steve (Kip) Solinsky, who has made all of Redwood's 18 points this season.

The big disappointment in Saturday's game was not necessarily the loss, but, in the words of Troppmann, "the way in which we lost." He said that in the past Redwood, the few times it has gone under, always went down fighting. This was not true, he felt, Saturday.

Troppmann said that some "second guessing factions" have developed on the squad. He said the factions will be eliminated and that there was going to be some switches in personnel.

"There is a false complacency among the student body and other fans, a feeling that we are just having some tough pre-league games and will come through when league play starts. We have as good a chance in the league as any of the other teams, but we will not come through without 110 percent effort by everybody," declared the Redwood coach.

DEFENSE STRESSED

It's defense, defense, defense this week at Marin Catholic practices, particularly for the middle of the line. Coach Harry Moore said earlier that, if his boys come up with a victory this year, it should be in the Cloverdale battle Friday. That team's attack is built around a big fullback and his pile-driving into the center of the line.

Marin exhibits good downfield tackling and does well in breaking up enemy sweeps, but has lacked a strong forward wall which has made it impossible for 'Cat quarterback John Jones to realize his complete potential—which Moore feels is considerable.

Moore would like more weight in the line, but knows that mobility is needed even more. Some changes will be made on the line and at linebacker spots this week in an effort to attain mobility.

The Sir Francis Drake Pirates should be concentrating this week on blocking — that is opening wider holes in the opposing line. And the Pirate ballhandlers will stress fumble prevention. Linemen will drill on staying on-side, and the backfield on remaining still until the ball is snapped. The Hub men suffered some 10 off-side penalties at key periods in Saturday's defeat by Oakland.

Coach Bob Franceschini of the Pirates, said he will not only try to remedy the above problems, but also to put some "punch" into the Drake offense. The defensive unit, headed by Kelly Scott, needs very little attention.

Tars Prove Themselves To New Coach

The College of Marin Tars have proved to their new coach Dick Read that they want to play football.

This is what the college mentor said after the Tars first victory since 1959, last Friday night against Chico State Junior Varsity. "They showed lots of courage and desire to play the game," said Read.

Read said the four-hour bus ride to Chico was no advantage for his boys, who didn't really get loosened up until the second period of play. But when they did open up, they exhibited hard running and consistant "gang tackling."

Read put the honor tabs on Ron Grayson and Jim Sewell, tackles and former Novato Hornets; Bill Buffalow, end and Tam vet; Ben Collar, tackle and Redwood alumnus; Scott Moriarty, fullback and Drake vet; Jim Fisher, halfback and George Washington High alumnus; Bob Sparrow, quarterback and Novato Hornet vet, and Jim Lonsford, fullback and Redwood vet.

But the Tars, like Stanford this year in early season, have been plagued by an unusual amount of injuries, four more of which were suffered last weekend. First string defensive tackle Ben Chollar is bedridden with ruptured blood vessels of his right thigh and will not be able to sit up for about two weeks. Defensive guard Dick Todt will be out of action with a leg injury for about four days, Ron Simmons, who scored a TD in last week's game on a pass, suffered a sprained ankle and may not see action next week, and quarterback Frank Lopez is favoring a similar injury.

Ron Blum, who broke his hand early in the season will not be able to play for at least two more weeks. And Fred Corson was lost for the season after being injured in its opening game.

The Tars, whose roster is now down to 32, will be hurt by the injuries, said Read. He added that practice this week will consist mostly of "taking it easy."

Iowa Retains Top Ranking; Ol' Miss 2nd

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Iowa Hawkeyes, who set their own pace in a 28-7 season-opening victory over California last Saturday, set it well enough to retain the No. 1 spot in the weekly Associated Press college football poll.

Twenty-four of the 49 members of the AP board of experts cast their first-place ballots for the Hawkeyes of the Big Ten. With plenty of secondary support from the other voters, they wound up with 424 points and a clear edge over Mississippi. The Rebels, also No. 2 a week ago, wound up with 16 first-place votes and 325 points. Ole Miss whipped Kentucky 20-6 for its second in a row.

IOWA VS. USC

A chance for measuring comparative strength will come Saturday when Iowa plays Southern Cal at Los Angeles. Georgia Tech fans will be interested to see whether Iowa can handle the Trojans with anywhere near the ease that the Engineers did 10 days ago.

The top teams—points figured on a 10-9-8-7, etc., basis with first place votes in parentheses:

1.	Iowa (24)	434
2.	Mississippi (16)	325
3.	Georgia Tech (5)	266
4.	Alabama (1)	259
5.	Texas (2)	218
6.	Michigan State (1)	203
7.	Syracuse	191
8.	Ohio State	128
9.	Michigan	123
10.	Baylor	117

More Marin Backing For Annual Dipsea Race Urged

More support by Marin of the annual Dipsea Race would provide a great deal of good will and good public relations for the entire county, Mill Valley City Manager A. E. Almcrants said today.

He suggested in a memorandum to the city council that a ceremony might be held both at Mill Valley, the starting point, and Stinson Beach, the finishing point. A breakfast prior to the race, he said, might be held whereby "runners could get acquainted with all of the property owners."

All due credit should be given to the sponsors, the San Francisco South of Market Boys Club, he added.

Almcrants said he makes his recommendation for consideration of any service clubs or chambers or junior chambers of commerce. "I think the entire county of Marin benefits from this event," Almcrants continued, "and we certainly could sell our stock, if you prefer this terminology, through this one annual event.

CHURCH TROPHY WINNERS

Kinne Terrell, left, manager of the Church of the Nazarene softball team in San Anselmo, accepts from the Hub City recreation director, Frank Quinn, the trophy emblematic of the 1961 church softball league championship. The Nazarenes defeated the First Baptists 10-9 in a championship playoff game to annex the title. The pastor, Rev. Harold Bonner, played shortstop for the champs. Other entries in the league were First Presbyterian, and the Post Office.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS,
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Fishing Conditions Often Change Faster Than News Presses Can Roll

What a difference a day makes That's a trite observation but it's sure applicable to fishing these days.

Pity the poor outdoor writer who reports good to excellent fishing one day only to have the doggoned stripers take a holiday the next day. Then, he tries to make amends by reporting a slowup over most of the territory, only to learn, by the time the paper reaches his readers, that things busted wide open the same day.

Take last Friday, for example: The guys and gals who went out from China Camp and Santa Venetia on the Marin side of the bay had a swell time catching fish. The Quans of China Camp reported 14 skiffs out of their place and all came in with limits or near limits. Came the dawn on Saturday and hardly a boat came in with more than one or two fish to the boat.

SUNDAY, while we were making contact at China Camp, frank and Sue Sielder of Santa Venetia had just unloaded two 14-pound stripers and one smaller one. The Sielders reported all boats in the area getting action.

On Saturday, Joe Nerviani of Joe's Launching at Santa Venetia told me 20 boats fished the No. 6 Buoy sector and only three fish came in. There were quite a few boats out of Joe's Launching on Sunday, but no report of results up to the time I am making this report.

By the way, congratulations to Sgt. Louis R. Fox of Hamilton Base, who fished frorm Joe's Launching on Saturday and landed a 51-inch long, 35-pound sturgeon, and angler Mario, who captured a striper weighing 16¼ pounds at Corregidor.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday witnessed somewhat brisker fishing on the Contra Costa side of the Bay—not large fish, and not limit catches, but fair-to-good, generally speaking.

ON FRIDAY, the boat Jack Pot out of Crockett set some sort of record for quantity and variety of fish. The score—25 striped bass to four pounds, two rock cod, two sharks and one salmon lost.

On Saturday, the Jack Pot netted 10 bass to six pounds, the Happy Days No. 3 unloaded 10 bass to eight pounds in the morning and 11 to 10½ pounds on the p.m. trip. The Dowrelio No. 5 had nine bass to five pounds Saturday morning, and took six to four pounds on Sunday a.m. trip. bass to five pounds on Saturday; the Little Caesar, eight to five pounds, and the Millie Linn brought in four to five pounds. Not what we would call hot fishing, but at least fair.

The hot trolling in the Alcatraz area has lasted into the middle of the afternoon, but probably will be at its best very early in the morning or around 3:30 p.m. by the time you read this.

BOWLING ROUNDUP

Marin Master League Features Some Of County's Top Keglers

The "Marin Masters" League is properly named at Nave Lanes.

This past week its six teams stacked up a total of 24 games of 200 or more and the "master of the masters," Jack Parsons, bowled an astounding 693 series with games of 269, 244 and 180. It is the highest series bowled in the history of Nave Lanes and one of the highest recorded in the county.

In that same league last week Bob Bennett rolled a 621-212-124-195; Frank Wilson, a 605-227-202, and Bob Miller, a 604-257. In the Hawaiian League at the same bowling alley, Bud Nattress threw a 624-217-202-205 and in the misnamed Gutter Society League Joe Rush poured it on for a 622-237.

A high individual series was posted by Cliff Zwarkowski in the Loma Verde league action. He threw a magnificent 652-226-232, and at the same alley, Harry Clausing ripped out a 604-235.

In the Bay Area Junior "900" Masters tournament last week the Country Club Bowl athletes were unable to muster a win in three matches and are in the tournament's celler. Averages for that contest were 545, Ralph Garner; 533, Howard Salkin; 515, Russ Boates; and 458, Dave Pansini.

Governor's New Cabinet To Hold Secret Meeting

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown's new and reorganized super-structure of government will get underway this week with a secret meeting.

Announcement of the secret official meeting of Brown and his new cabinet members came despite Brown's longtime championship of open meetings and the public's right to know about government.

In fact, just several months ago, in signing bills requiring open meetings of other government agencies, Brown said:

"Secrecy in government is as much to be feared as subversion."

Top-level reorganization of government has been talked about for months around the capitol and finally was approved by the legislature, for four new super agencies, in 1961.

But to those who were waiting for the first look at the new top echelon of government in action came this announcement from the governor's office:

"The first meeting of the governor's cabinet will be held at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday (tomorrow) Oct. 4, 1961, in the governor's council chamber.

"The meeting will be closed but governor no doubt will be available for comment after the meeting. He will have a brief statement before the meeting, should the broadcast media desire pre-meeting coverage."

Mutual Planning Problems Mulled

Mutual problems of planning were discussed by representatives of most of Marin County's city planning commission on Friday at a meeting of the Marin County Planning Council.

According to Felix M. Warburg, Marin County Planning Commission member and moderator of the meeting, all of the county's cities were represented except Ross and Sausalito.

Under discussion were personnel, building fees, and architectural review problems.

A similar meeting will be held at the end of the year, Warburg said. The discussion was staged at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael.

Hearing Date Set For Two In Fracas

Two brothers charged with breaking the nose of a Tamalpais High School woodshop teacher in a fight after the football game at College of Marin Friday night will enter pleas in Marin Municipal Court next Monday to charges of disturbing the peace and battery.

Marvin J. Douglas, 21, of Marin City, is accused of breaking the nose of Gerald F. Warren, 35, who was trying to hold fans back from the field where members of the Tamalpais and Riordan High School teams traded punches.

His 19-year-old brother, Gary, is accused of holding Warren's arms while he swung on the teacher. Marvin Douglas yesterday was allowed to remain free in bail posted Saturday. The brother was freed on his own recognizance after he surrendered in court before he could be served with a warrant, said Deputy Dist. Atty. Hadden Roth.

HEARTY EATING FOR the family and for most important dinner parties are these garden-fresh frozen peas cooked in the French manner, a tossed green salad and cocoanut angel pie along with minted lamb chops with French fries and apple rings.

Plan Party Around Lamb Chops With French Fries, Apple Rings

"Festive enough for my most important dinner party, but easy-do and good, hearty eating for the family, too." That's a request we had recently from a busy homemaker who called herself a "moonlighter homemaker." We were a bit puzzled at the term until she laughingly explained that she was one of the many homemakers who have full-time jobs in the business world, and that homemaking, for her, is an after-office hours and weekend activity.

For our "moonlighter" friend, and all the other busy homemakers whose time in the kitchen at the dinner hour is measured in precious minutes, we suggest a hearty, deliciously flavorful combination of minted lamb chops with frozen French fries and spicy apple rings. Served with a festive air, guests or family need never know that the calm, cool, collected . . . and complimented hostess arrived only minutes ahead of them.

While the broiler heats, peel and pare the cooking apples, add them to the mint jelly-corn syrup mixture and simmer until they are just tender. Remove and keep warm. Now for the easiest, fastest French fries ever! Spread two packages on the bottom of the broiler pan to brown as the chops broil. When one side of the chops are done to your liking, remove the rack and drizzle the potatoes with the mint mixture. Season the chops with the mixture just before the chops are ready for serving. Serve with the apple rings and potatoes on your prettiest serving plate.

We like to serve garden-fresh frozen peas cooked in the French manner, a tossed green salad with a tangy dressing and a dreamy, creamy coconut angel pie for our party dinner which stars minted lamb chops.

MINTED LAMB CHOPS WITH FRENCH FRIES AND APPLE RINGS

- 1 jar (8 ounce) mint jelly
- ½ cup light corn syrup
- ½ teaspoon mint extract
- 2 medium cooking apples, peeled, cored and sliced crosswise
- 2 packages (9 ounce each) frozen French fries
- 2 teaspoons summer savory
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 8 loin lamb chops

Combine mint jelly and corn syrup in small fry pan. Heat until jelly is melted; stir in extract. Add apple slices; cook slowly until apples are just tender, about 5 minutes. Remove apple rings from sauce and reserve remaining sauce for basting fries and chops. Place French fries in bottom of shallow baking or broiler pan with open rack. Sprinkle with savory and salt. Cover pan with rack; place lamb chops, trimmed of excess fat, on rack. Broil about 3 inches from heat source until well browned about 8 minutes. Sprinkle with salt, turn. Remove rack from pan, stir French fries and drizzle with small amount of the mint sauce. Replace rack over potatoes; continue broiling until chops are browned, about 7 minutes . . . total time 15 minutes for medium doneness. Drizzle chops with small amount of mint sauce 2 to 3 minutes before end of broiling time. Serve with apple rings and remaining mint sauce.

Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Sour Cream

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sour cream dressing is good with seafood salads or on iceberg lettuce wedges. Combine 1 pint of commercial sour cream with ½ cup of catsup, 2 tablespoons of worcestershire sauce, 1½ tablespoons of grated onion, ½ teaspoon of dry mustard, 1 tablespoon of lemon juice, 2 ounces of blue cheese and ¼ cup of chopped green olives. Mix well and chill. Makes 2½ to 3 cups.

Nutritious Cookies For School Lunchbox

Nutritious cookies that are substantial and satisfying—not too sweet.

- 1 cup sifted flour
- ½ tspn. baking powder
- ¼ tspn. baking soda
- ⅛ tspn. salt
- ½ tspn. cinnamon
- 1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ tspn. vanilla
- 1 egg
- 2 tblspns. milk
- ½ cup chopped walnuts
- ⅓ cup flaked coconut
- ½ cup chopped raisins

Sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt and cinnamon. Mix in rolled oats. Cream butter, sugar and vanilla; beat in egg thoroughly. Add the rolled oats mixture and milk; stir well. Drop tablespoons of mixture, about an inch apart, onto buttered cookie sheets. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes about 3½ dozen.

Different Version For Swiss Steak

A slightly different version of our favorite swiss steak recipe.

- 2½ pounds boneless chuck steak (at least ½ inch thick)
- 3 tblspns. flour
- 2 tspns. salt
- ⅛ tspn. pepper
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 2½ pounds boneless chuck cup (1 large) chopped green pepper
- ½ cup chopped celery
- 1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
- ¼ cup tomato paste

Cut most of fat away from edge of steak. Mix flour, ½ teaspoon salt and pepper; pound into both side of steak. Grease a hot, heavy large skillet with a little suet; add steak and brown on both sides. Mix together the remaining 1½ teaspoons salt, pepper, onion, green pepper, celery, tomatoes (including liquid in can) and tomato paste and add to skillet. Simmer, tightly covered, until meat is extremely tender—about 2 hours. Makes 6 servings with plenty of sauce.

Working With The Salads

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

The Caesar and the Waldorf would probably go to the head of the class should a vote for the most popular American salads be taken.

The Waldorf — that classic combination of diced apple, celery and mayonnaise—is used mostly in wintertime. The Caesar is likely to appear at any time of the year; we think it's dandy for a warm weather lunch right now.

Although the Caesar salad may seem intricate, any cook can prepare it. Start by dumping two to three quarts of torn romaine or mixed salad greens into a salad bowl. Make up a French dressing of olive oil, white wine vinegar or lemon juice or some of each, salt and freshly-ground pepper. Fry some cubes of bread in garlic-flavored olive oil so they're crisp and golden brown.

At serving time, toss the greens with the French dressing, and grated Parmesan cheese. Now comes the high point: Break an egg, boiled one minute in its shell, over the salad and mix. Finally add the croutons.

American cooks are notorious for tampering with classic recipes — and this time we plead guilty. Instead of making croutons we sometimes substitute bite-sized shredded rice biscuits that come in neat squares in pantry-shelf packages. These tidbits add a great flavor and texture of their own.

If you want to try this innovation, prepare the greens and dressing. Then melt a couple of tablespoons of butter in a 10-inch skillet and blend in ¼ teaspoon of garlic powder. Add two cups of the little rice biscuits and stir over low heat to coat the cereal with the butter; continue heating to toast the rice biscuits lightly, stirring often. Remove the skillet from the heat, let cool off a minute or so and sprinkle the rice biscuits with 3 tablespoons of grated Parmesan cheese.

At serving time, toss together the greens, dressing and the one-minute boiled egg; now scatter the garlic-flavored rice biscuits over the top and offer at once.

Berry Upsidedown Cake A New Recipe

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Have you ever made a blueberry upsidedown cake?

Once we tried this way of using the fresh cultivated berries, and found that the fruit with its cake topping turned out of the pan as well as the usual canned fruits used for this dessert; it became one of our annual summertime specialties.

This year, instead of making one big blueberry upsidedown cake, we prepared the dessert in cupcake form. These individual cakes are convenient because some of them may be eaten right away, others may be refrigerated and served a few days later. When we are able to save some of these cupcakes—not always possible—we always reheat them before serving.

When it comes to putting the fresh berries on family menus, we probably don't need to remind you that they are delicious on ready-to-eat crisp cereal. This way, our family likes to add brown instead of white sugar to the cereal and berries.

We also like to use the large cultivated berries in fruit cups and salads because in addition to adding their good flavor, they contribute a particularly handsome appearance. Sometimes we mix the berries with canned pineapple chunks and their syrup. Sometimes we use fresh pineapple rings (or the drained canned ones) and arrange them on salad greens with the blueberries; homemade mayonnaise or a sour cream dressing (real or ersatz) are delectable with this combination.

If your family dotes on pancakes, don't let the summer pass without adding some of the fresh blueberries to a batter. Serve these with crisp bacon or frizzled ham some Sunday morning when you have time to loll over brunch.

BLUEBOTTOM CUPCAKES

- 1½ cups blueberries
- 6 tblspns. sugar
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1½ tspns. baking powder
- ¼ tspn. salt
- ¼ cup shortening
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tspn. vanilla
- 1 egg
- ¼ cup milk

Wash and drain blueberries; mix with 6 tablespoons sugar; divide equally into 8 buttered 6-ounce custard cups. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening, ½ cup sugar and vanilla; beat in egg thoroughly. Stir in sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk; mix only until smooth. Spread batter over sugared blueberries. Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven about 20 minutes or until cake tester inserted into center of cake topping comes out clean. Allow to stand on wire rack in cups until warm; turn out. If any of the blueberries remain in bottom of cups, remove with spatula and spread over other berries. Serve at once. Delicious served with vanilla ice cream or whipped cream. Makes eight servings.

Tuna Treat

Serve creamed tuna on onion pancakes made from a mix. Just add ½ cup of sauteed chopped onion to the pancake batter before baking.

Why Armour Star is the Bacon the butcher brings home

You get the meaty bacon, every time, when you follow the lead of the butcher. He knows: only one out of 5 bacon sides rates the Armour Star. And even that prize side won't do until it's trimmed just so. Trimmed the way the butcher would do it himself: extravagantly close to the lean.

Rice, Ham Slices Make Quality Dinner With Exotic Flavor

Fall evenings are for outdoor enjoyment, not to be spent in a hot kitchen preparing supper for the family. Before winter closes in, make the most of your evening time by using combinations of modern convenience foods to create meals that are fast, inexpensive and delicious.

One such quick quality dinner, Indonesian Rice with Ham Slices, is a luscious gourmet treat. Made in 15 minutes it combines a curried, precooked rice and the newest convenience food development — ham slices with fruit sauce which come packaged in boilable pouches.

The heat-in-pouch ham slices can be whisked from the freezer, dropped into boiling water for a few moments and will be ready by the time the curried rice is finished. Topped with tomato, green pepper, watercress, and the fruit sauce accompany the ham, this is a dish fit for the king in your house.

INDONESIAN RICE WITH HAM SLICES

- ¼ cup slivered almonds
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ¼ cup diced celery
- 1⅓ cups water
- 1½ teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon curry powder (amount optional)
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground ginger
- ⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
- 1 package (4⅝ ounce) precooked rice
- 3 or 4 packages (4½ ounce) heat-in-pouch frozen ham slices with sauce

Saute almonds in butter until lightly browned. Remove almonds from pan. Add celery and cook slowly until tender. Stir in water, sugar, curry powder, salt, ginger and cloves. Bring mixture to a boil. Stir in rice. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand until all water is absorbed, about 5 minutes. Mix in almonds. Heat ham slices in sauce in bag as directed on package. To serve, arrange ham slices on rice and top with sauce in bag. If desired, garnish with tomato and green pepper pieces and watercress.

Yield: 4 servings.

Place on cooky sheet, split sides up. Slice 1 (12-ounce) can of luncheon meat. Place on cooky sheet. Toast in oven to desired brownness. Top cornbread with meat and spoon hot creamed peas on for a sauce. Serves eight.

Cookbooks For Company Meals

WANT INSPIRATION for lunch, dinner or week-end company meals? You should find it in three new cookbooks.

"The Luncheon Cookbook" by Ruth Langland Holberg (Crowell) has 60 full menus, suitable for the 12 months of the year, accompanied by the recipes needed to prepare these meals. The author, a Cape Ann, Massachusetts resident, has a pleasant way of giving popular American dishes and adding her own touches and preparation hints. Some of the main dishes are for four persons, many for six and eight; about seven are for 12, two for 16, and three for 25 people. All the recipes, Mrs. Holberg says, have been tested and admired by guests."

And so to dinner. "The Entertaining Wife" (subtitled The Lady Who Came to Dinner) is a small spiral-bound book written and published by Elizabeth Toupin and Suzanne Rogers, two enterprising young women.

These girls seem to know how to cook! When they give a filling for Lemon Meringue Pie it's the divine sort made only with butter, sugar, lemon and eggs. Most interesting of all, their recipes include a good number of Far-East origin, including barbecued spareribs and tempura (the Japanese way of batter-frying shrimp).

"The Country Week End Cookbook" (Barrows) by Hila and Louis Colman abounds in specific advice, on entertaining guests from Friday-night dinner through Sunday-night supper, for hosts who enjoy doing a goodly amount of planning and cooking. From their own experiences in being week-end guests (they used to live in the city) and hosts (they now live in the country) the authors have definite ideas on how to conduct this part of modern life graciously, efficiently and deliciously. Their menus are substantial and interesting; the recipes should make any guests happy. Louis Colman recently translated and edited the noteworthy "Alexandre Dumas's Dictionary of Cuisine."

ABOUT TOMATOES AND BASIL

Both "The Luncheon Cookbook" and "The Country Week End Cookbook" note the merit of serving fresh tomatoes with fresh basil—particularly appropriate at this time of year. Here are the Colmans' directions for this simple, delightful combination: "Dip ripe tomatoes into boiling water, drain, and peel. Slice tomatoes into a dish, and sprinkle each layer of slices generously with finely chopped fresh basil and parsely. Then sprinkle them with French dressing. Turn slices once, and let stand in refrigerator about 2 hours before serving. Allow one tomato per person." (AP)

New Topping For Apple Cobbler

Good old apple cobbler is given a new pastry topping.

- 5 cups thinly sliced pared cooking apples
- ½ cup sugar
- ¾ cup sifted flour
- ⅓ cup enriched cornmeal
- ½ tspn. salt
- ⅓ cup shortening
- 3 to 4 tblspns. cold water

Mix apples and sugar in a baking dish (about 8x8x2-in.) Sift together the flour, cornmeal and salt; cut in shortening until particles are fairly fine. Stir in water, a tablespoon at a time, until pastry can be formed into a ball. Turn out on lightly floured board or prepared pastry cloth; roll to form 10-inch square. Place over apples; turn edges under, flute; prick top well. Bake in hot (425-degree) oven 25 to 30 minutes. Serve warm with nutmeg-flavored lemon sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Sandwich Filling

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cottage cheese sandwich filling uses an old favorite in a new way. Mix well together 1 cup of cottage cheese, ¼ cup each of chopped chives and chopped parsley, ⅓ cup of chopped sweet cucumber pickles, ⅛ teaspoon of pepper, ½ teaspoon each of garlic salt and salt and ½ cup of sour cream. Makes about 1½ cups.

Gravy Recipe Perfect With Chinese Omelet

This recipe, to be used with Chinese omelet that's made in a large skillet or in individual portions, is repeated by request.

- 2 tblspns. plus ½ tspn. cornstarch
- 2 tspns. sugar
- ¼ tspn. monosodium glutamate
- ⅛ tspn. garlic powder
- 1 tblspn. plus 1 tspn. soy sauce
- 2 cups cold water

In a one-quart saucepan stir together until smooth the cornstarch, sugar, monosodium glutamate, garlic powder, soy sauce and a little of the water. Stir in remaining water. Cook and stir over high heat until thickened and boiling. Makes about 2 cups. Soy sauce varies in strength so if necessary a

Easy Living

Dark cherry-orange mold is a delicious dessert. Combine 2 envelopes of unflavored gelatin with ¼ cup of sugar and mix well. Add 2½ cups of boiling water. Stir until gelatin dissolves. Drain 1 (1 pound) can of pitted dark sweet cherries, reserving syrup. Add syrup and 1 teaspoon of orange extract to gelatin. Mix well. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in cherries. Turn into 1 quart mold. Chill until firm. Serves 4.

We Have No Doubt About Who'll Win World Series

We hope you'll pardon us if we just can't get excited today about the Berlin situation, atomic testing, Khrushchev or Castro. Just look at the situation:

Roger Maris hit his 61st home run.

The Giants won more games than ever before in the Bay Area and came in third in the league.

The '49ers shattered the impregnable Detroit Lions' defenses.

Stanford rode rough-shod over powerful Oregon State.

And now, on top of all this, the World Series starts.

Let joy be unrestrained; let fears and woes take a back seat; who cares if rapid transit comes or goes—not, that is, until the Giants win the pennant and we have to get to Candlestick Park for a series game.

But that's in the future. Now the Yankees and the Redlegs are at it.

It is just possible that some of us on the Independent-Journal are not in agreement as to what the outcome will be. Even a brief editorial poll found that there is no consensus of opinion as to the outcome. Neither is their a consensus of sentiment for or against.

But because we usually like to take a solid position in important public events, because we prefer not to be wishy-washy, because we dislike fence straddling, we have determined to take a firm stand. It is this:

The Cincinnati Reds will win the World Series—if the New York Yankees don't.

And we hope they do it in seven games.

On Taming A Skunk

Several years ago when we were temporarily without a dog, we decided it would be a friendly idea to try and tame the skunk which we often saw in our garden in the evening.

He seemed to be a skunk of superior character. When we'd run into each other, we'd both back up and say, "After you." He was a true gentleman and never pointed his gun at us.

We put out an egg for him every night. Soon he was coming for the egg not long after sunset. While we never actually shook hands, we sat four or five feet away and talked to him as he broke the egg and ate it.

We soon realized it was a mistake to encourage him. Although he never sprayed us, he was quite generous about sharing his perfume with the neighborhood cats. Many nights we were awakened by his odorous feuding.

One night he ran into a cat who was tough and evidently had sinus trouble. He dragged himself into a drain to die. We buried him under a rose after we flushed him out.

We've got the healthiest rose in Marin.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Fast Ferries Are Transit Answer

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

In all the argument over whether the Golden Gate Bridge can handle rapid transit, what has become of the idea that someone had some months ago of putting "fast ferries" on to handle commute and tourist traffic?

While rapid transit sounds wonderful on paper, why must we wait another 10 years and have our taxes raised again before we have some efficient way to get to work quickly? With fast ferries, a great deal of the pressure would come off the freeways, it would be a lot cheaper, and we could have them within a year (or sooner?).

There are some people who will always drive either because they need transportation during the day or because they don't like public transportation in any form. Others of us like to relax before and after a working day and fast ferries are the answer.

We could run one from San Rafael and another from Sausalito and the tourists would probably come to Marin in greater numbers if they could get here in a pleasant way.

Line Drawings Best In Decades

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

We think Carlton Williams' line drawings are the best thing that's happened to any Northern California daily in decades.

We do hope you will put him behind a drawing board and let your readers have a regular diet of his humor. It's good for the county.

Matter of fact, we'll bet he has some good editorial cartoons in him, on county issues.

Thanks for giving us Williams.

Where Was Job Inspector?

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Re "Poor Safety Practices Cited In Two Deaths" (I-J, Sept. 29).

I think your warning to all construction workers is fine. Workers should know state safety regulations.

However, it seems simpler to educate one man as inspector than to reach the mob.

Where was the inspector? What was his part beforehand? Doesn't the state require such construction to be inspected to see that it is in keeping with state regulations?

PUBLICITY CARRIES ITS PENALTIES

The lucky winner of $140,000 in the Irish Sweepstakes got an unpleasant surprise when publicity landed him in the police station instead of on a pleasure cruise.

Several days before he was to have sailed to Europe for a vacation, he dropped into a newspaper office in Providence, R. I., and found himself the subject of a front-page story.

The local police read the story with interest. Someone remembered that he was wanted in the state for breaking into several business establishments 12 years before. They promptly arrested him.

Most lawbreakers don't prove as helpful as this one in revealing themselves to the police, but sooner or later something is bound to go amiss.

Take a big view—the one that sees your acts in the light of God's eternal justice—and you won't have to worry about the long arm of the law.

Life is short and eternity is endless. So fill up your remaining years with plenty of good works.

"It is appointed unto men once to die, and after this comes the judgment."
(Hebrews 9:27)

Strengthen my resolve, O Lord, to live each day as my last and my best.

Appointment Of Health, Welfare Chief Is One Of Governor's Best

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Edmund G. Brown's appointment of Samuel Leask, Jr., as administrator of health and welfare, one of the four new cabinet posts created by the California legislature in 1961, is no doubt the high mark of all the appointments the governor has made since he has been in office.

There were a good many questions as to who would fill this important job, and delay in announcing the new cabinet list resulted from attempts to fill the post with a recognized authority in the field.

BROWN'S OTHER three super-directors were decided on long ago. They are Richard A. McGee, administrator of the youth and adult corrections agency; Robert B. Bradford, administrator of the Highway transportation agency and William E. Warne, administrator of the natural resources agency.

Leask, formerly of Santa Cruz, where he was engaged in the retail dry-goods business, is a Democrat and a staunch one at that. However, his first appointment to state service came under a Republican administration. He was a member of the original Unemployment Reserves Commission, which was created by the 1935 legislature to inaugurate the newly born unemployment insurance program.

HE WAS instrumental in that day and age of the federal give-away, in watching out for the interests of employers, whom he represented on the commission, in seeing that proper returns were made, and in sponsoring rules and regulations to forestall the abuses which after he left the commission, put the program in disrepute in this state.

Leask later went to Los Angeles, where he was manager of first the May Company, and then of J. W. Robinson, two of the largest department stores in the West.

He became city administrator of the city of Los Angeles in 1951, and continued in that post until July 1 of this year.

UNDER THE NEW re-organizational set-up, Leask will have supervision of the departments of mental hygiene, public health, and social welfare. These are three of the largest departments in state government, and through these three departments, millions of dollars of tax money are disbursed every year.

The securing of a man of Leask's caliber as one of his new cabinet members and administrators is bound to increase the stature of the Brown administration in the eyes of businessmen throughout the state.

We owe to John Fuller the incidental intelligence that (1) a Boston newspaper headlined a labor disturbance in Belgium "Revolt in Brussels Sprouts," (2) the call letters of a radio station in Arkansas, a region famous for its duck hunting, are KWAK, and (3) a scrupulously honest British writer has dedicated his first novel to "My friend Elspeth Grant, who wrote it for me."

A delinquent customer wired Paper Tycoon Himmell for another large order to be shipped immediately. Himmel wired back, "We can't ship you another order until you've paid for the last one."

The customer's reply came collect: "Cancel the order. I can't wait that long."

Why Do American Wives Feel It Their Duty To Deceive Husbands?

NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone knows it is all but impossible today for a husband to fool his wife.

But how about wives fooling husbands?

On the evidence, it's getting easier for them all the time.

"No woman can pull the wool over my eyes," brags many a husband. Such men are pitiful examples of self-delusion.

Usually a woman has pulled the wool over their eyes so long ago they have become used to it. They have forgotten what a clear view is like.

Civilization ties husbands in knots; it merely gives wives more loose threads to knit to their own purpose.

A man is kept so busy trying to fool his boss he doesn't have the time to fool his wife, and attempts it only in what he regards as emergencies. As a result he usually fails.

But fooling a husband is both a game and a duty to a wife. She regards it as a marital necessity, for she feels if she doesn't keep him fooled she can't keep him happy.

The classic ways by which women fool their husbands are to act dumb and to say one thing to them when they mean something else.

Example of the first way:

Husband, going over check stubs: "Here's one you wrote for $150. It looks like it says, 'frammis oglesrack.' What in the world was that for?"

Wife, innocently: "Oh dear, you know I can't read my own handwriting, but I know it was for something terribly important."

ACTUALLY, what she did write down was "frammis oglesrack." To her it stands for $150 for 10 charm school lessons to lose weight and improve her personality. But she knows that if she told her husband she spent the money for this vital purpose, he'd go through the ceiling—thus creating an unnecessary repair bill.

Example of the second way:

Wife: "Dear, you're looking a bit shabby, and you really can't afford to in your business. Promise me you'll buy yourself a new suit today."

HUSBAND, flattered by her interest in his appearance: "Guess you're right at that. I will."

Here what the wife really meant wasn't, "You look shabby," but "I feel shabby." As soon as he buys one new suit, she'll buy two new dresses.

Data Processing System Can Answer Question If Asked Properly

Despite some positive evidence, I really don't think that Marin County is being run by bluejays. They've got too much selfish sense.

But it may be well on its way toward being run by data processing. That's a statement true of us all as individuals. Anything we can do a machine can do better, I hear.

Most anything, anyhow.

Only a few of us like county data processing chief Arleigh Sewell and myself are able to keep track of the galloping progress being made by the big high-priced mechanical brains. And sometimes I wonder a little about Arleigh.

NOT LONG AGO I mentioned to him how I had figured his experiment in going to Alaska some while back was a waste of time he might have avoided by proper use of his own gadgets.

"What you should have done," I told him in my best Monday morning quarterback style, "was get together all possible information and feed it into your processing dingus.

"It could have processed all your data in about 3.4 seconds, roughly. It then would have given you an answer, 'No' that you got for yourself the hard long way by going to Alaska in person. The moral is to practice what you preach."

MAYBE THIS was a little unfair to Arleigh. His shop hadn't really got going on latest high-priced electronic transistor equipment, with the 1962-style tail fins, when he took off for the frigid north.

Now, though, things are really ripping along. Our county computer people are right in there lickety-clickety with the kind of leased equipment that is making money for new contract data centers run by private enterprise.

Vacationing recently, I heard about one such outfit in Portland that is figuring accounts for banks, laundries, doctors, lumber companies, the phone folks and the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers; possibly Las Vegas odds.

But what strikes me is the uncanny way these machines are drawing broad, brainy conclusions, along with doing the chores of the business world.

MANAGEMENT up to now has been giving the orders. Now machines have started to give orders to management. Trends are charted, future demands are doped out, the dust is knocked off old inventories and stockrooms are cleaned up and re-stocked, all under gadget data-dicta.

LITTLE CHILDREN may be running all this presently, for they say that the biggest chore in operation is to think up the right questions to put in the machine. Young blood could score.

The implications of what is going on are terrific and it's too bad we can't make matters retroactive.

AT MANILA in 1940, Gen. Douglas MacArthur told me he was building a defense machine so good that it would be unprofitable for anybody to take the Philippines.

He forgot to tell this to the Japanese. Lacking electronic computers, they had to find out the facts in an old-fashioned unscientific way.

Think how the history books could have been simplified if Tokyo and Berlin had had the right kind of data processing!

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Decision Takes Nixon Out Of 1964 Presidential Race; That's Not Bad

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon's decision to seek the governorship of California radically alters the Republican Presidential picture for 1964.

There is little doubt of the consequences:

1—Nixon, if elected, will become a more powerful force in the national affairs of the Republican party.

2—He is almost conclusively removing himself from the 1964 Presidential race.

3—But if he fares well in the California election, he will be in a good position to seek the Republican presidential nomination in 1968 when he will be still relatively a young, but even more experienced political leader of 55 years of age.

NIXON'S WILLINGNESS to run against Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown and thus to try to return the second most populous state in the nation to Republican ranks rested on three main considerations.

There was the strong, insistent pressure of nearly all the principal leaders of the Republican Party who felt that he alone could win and that winning would enable the Republicans to come up to the 1964 elections in a greatly strengthened position.

Secondly, there was Nixon's own awareness that if he were to put this opportunity aside, he would be virtually removing himself from future presidential consideration.

Finally, on the eve of the scheduled press conference, where it had to be yes or no—not maybe—there was the irresistible appeal of the man to whom he owes most, his most potent friend in the party, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who had been writing to him, telephoning to him, and talking to him in Gettysburg, that it was Nixon's "duty" to run and that no other decision was tolerable.

THOSE WHO MIGHT have been close to Nixon in recent months know that the decision might well have gone the other way and that it was a hard one for him to make. He found his newspaper column, his writing (he will have a book out shortly), his speaking, and his profitable part-time law practice, extraordinarily satisfying and rewarding. He would have relished continuing it that way.

But a Republican Party which has done so much for Nixon understandably felt that it had the right to commandeer Nixon.

I do not mean that Nixon was against being commandeered. He could have said no, but then he would be deeply offending his staunchest supporters in the party. By refusing to run gor governor of California, he would lose authority as a party spokesman and, in his own instinctive judgment, would in effect be retiring permanently from national politics. This, in the end, is why he said yes.

IT WOULD BE foolish to assert that Nixon is now totally ruled out as the 1964 Republican nominee. But California voters seem to expect almost an oath on the Bible that a governor will serve his full term in Sacramento.

If Nixon loses the governorship, his political stock will be so depressed that he would hardly be in the running for the Presidential nomination.

But if he is going to win in California, Nixon apparently feels, as he showed at his press conference, that he must assure the voters that he is running for and seeking no other office than that of governorship for the next four years.

But this may not distress Nixon at all. President Kennedy may be quite unbeatable as a second-term candidate and 1968 may look far more inviting.

WHO PULLED THE RABBIT OUT OF THE HAT?

There's no "black magic" where the food business is concerned. The answer is NO ONE or EVERYONE pulled the rabbit out of the hat that sent over 300 food products to their lowest retail price in many years. As a matter of course Drake marked down all these items and more to give you the same break you'd get elsewhere. And nothing else is changed at Drake. You still buy the same nationally known brands . . . the real values . . . the real savings because their quality and regular prices are known. The same exclusive Drake service is still available. Tired of pushing your own buggy or carrying your own purchases to your car . . . try Drake service . . . you don't touch your purchases from shelf to home. No change in Drake meat service either. All meat wrapped before your eyes and after your closest inspection. Cuts can be made exactly as you desire—no need to settle for next best. All this and "self-serve" prices. No magic . . . no rabbit act . . . just plain, honest desire to please you so that you'll enjoy doing business with us. All this and the hundreds of low shelf prices, too.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 4, the 277th day of the year with 88 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1854, Abraham Lincoln made his first great political speech at the state fair in Springfield Ill. The little-known Illinois lawyer answered a speech made by Sen. Stephen Douglas the day before, and attacked the repeal of the Missouri Compromise.

In 1892, after much litigation, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the claim of Thomas Alva Edison that he was the sole inventor of the incandescent lamp.

In 1958, transatlantic commercial jet service began. A British Overseas Air Corporation De Havilland Comet Four crossed from New York to London and back, cutting travel time in half.

A thought for today: Italian philosopher Niccolo Machiavelli said: "Men are so simple and so subject to present necessities that he who seeks to deceive will always find someone who will allow himself to be deceived."

ATTACK FEARS

Rockefeller Center Prepares For Fallout

NEW YORK (UPI) — On any weekday, about 38,000 persons are at work in the 16 tall buildings that make up Rockefeller Center.

There are tens of thousands of business callers. The 26 restaurants do a brisk business. Crowds of more than 6,000 are seated in the Radio City Music Hall And out-of-towners swarm the plazas and concourses, numbering up in the hundreds of thousands daily when the famous Christmas decorations are displayed.

Suppose that on such a day, word was flashed that a nuclear rocket had been fired toward the New York area and that deadly radioactive fallout would almost certainly shower the city.

The management of Rockefeller Center has decided to face up realistically to that possibility.

They have worked out plans A and B.

Plan A envisions sheltering all tenants and part of the visitors for 24 hours. Inside corridor areas have been designated on the 350 floors of the building. It is emphasized that this is protection against fallout—not blast.

Plan B provides for evacuation to the four below-ground levels of Rockefeller Center and an attempt at two weeks fallout survival following a nuclear explosion.

The center is contacting companies who rent the property and attempting to persuade them to furnish their own employees rations of food to be stocked in the building, Geiger counters, battery operated radios and other survival gear.

Jupiter, the largest planet, has 12 satellites. The four biggest were first observed by Galileo in 1610. The 12th was detected by Dr. Seth B. Nicholson of California in 1951.

Redevelopment Rents May Drop

Rents for apartments in the Marin City Development area are expected to be lower than was announced earlier this year.

Redevelopment Agency commissioners heard this in a report Monday from developer James H. Scheuer. He said that new legislation will result in lower rentals. He did not give any figures as to how much lower.

Rents disclosed in February by Scheuer were proposed to be $89.50 for one-bedroom apartments, $115 for two-bedroom units and $125 for three-bedroom units.

Executive director Bert Klahn reported site improvements for the redevelopment and installation of a sewage pumping plant by the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District are proceeding on schedule.

2 Get Prison In Theft Case

Two Sausalito men, William Landy, 24, and Jack L. McIlvain, 21, were given state prison terms in Marin Superior Court Monday for taking money from two service stations where they worked and vanishing in a stolen car.

Landy, formerly employed at a Sausalito gas station, was convicted of second degree burglary. McIlvain, formerly employed at a Novato station, was convicted of grand theft.

They were captured in Florida and returned to Marin Aug. 30. Probation was denied by Judge Richard M. Sims Jr.

West opened the jack of clubs, and South won with the ace. His first step was to draw three rounds of trumps.

Declarer then cashed dummy's top diamonds, got to his hand with the ace of spades, discarded dummy's remaining spade on the ace of diamonds, and led a club toward dummy's queen.

South huffed and puffed, but he couldn't make the slam. Dummy had three losing clubs

When a hand looks difficult and South had only one trump to hold the fort. If you want to consider South's losers, besides the losing club he had two low spades and a low diamond. Dummy had only two trumps and could take care of only two of these three cards.

In short, South had to lose one club and one other trick.

CAN WAIT: South should recognize this as the kind of hand in which trumps can wait. He should win the first trick with the ace of clubs, draw only one round of trumps (with the ace) and then lead his low club toward dummy.

West plays the nine of clubs, and South plays low from the dummy. West's best return is a spade, knocking out the ace.

Now South draws a second round of trumps, with the queen. The third trump must wait for quite a while.

South leads a diamond to dummy's queen and ruffs a club with the four of trumps. He gets back to dummy's queen with the king of diamonds and ruffs out dummy's last club. Declarer cashes the ace of diamonds to discard dummy's last spade, then ruffs a spade to reach dummy.

Only now is it safe for declarer to draw the last trump. The slam is then safe.

New Mill Valley Chamber Directors To Be Installed

Two new directors will be seated at the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce board of directors meeting next Wednesday at the district school office at 26 Miller Avenue.

Molest Case Man Sent To Hospital

Kenny Richards, 26-year-old Corte Madera janitor, Monday was committed by Marin Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. to Atascadera State Hospital for observation for molesting a 14-year-old girl July 14.

He was committed after Dr. Theo Miller, superintendent of Napa State Hospital, and Dr. Gerald Jampolsky, Tiburon psychiatrist, found Richards to be a sexual psychopath.

Reds Aiming Radio Campaign At Iran

By DONALD MAY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. officials are keeping a close watch on a massive Communist radio campaign in Iran, which may surpass Red propaganda efforts in any other country.

Almost daily a clandestine station just across the border in Russia, and another in East Berlin, call upon the people of Iran to revolt and give unabashed instructions to local Communist parties to stir up trouble.

Meanwhile, the main propaganda networks of Russia and Red China stand back and take a broader swing. They denounce Shah Reza Pahlavi, as an agent of the United tSates, demand Iran's withdrawal from the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) and warn that Iran would vanish in nuclear holocaust if the Berlin crisis erupted in war.

The campaign has been going on, in ups and downs, since 1959, and apparently has had little effect on Iran except to heighten local political conflict. But it is seen as a softening-up operation for possible Red moves in that country if the opportunity ever presents itself.

At one point Red broadcasts reported an uprising in Azerbaijan, along Iran's northern border with Russia. U. S. officials say the revolt never happened.

During 1960 Communist radio broadcasts to Iran from all sources expanded from 76 hours a week to 96 hours, one of the sharpest increases anywhere in the world.

The campaign operates through three main channels which perform different roles:

1. Soviet journals and Radio Moscow which speak in global terms.

2. The national voice of Iran, a secret station which pretends to broadcast from Iran itself, but which officials say obviously is in nearby Russia. It concentrates on rousing discontent among farmers and tribesmen.

3. Peyk-E Iran (Messenger of Iran), a radio operated in East Berlin by exiled members of Iran's Communist Party. It speaks mainly to the Communists in Iran.

A recent Peyk-E broadcast began, "The regime's crisis, which has already begun, should be intensified from all directions . . . initially one must direct one's attention toward villages.

"The town's masses must be directed toward a more serious struggle. The participation of the farmers and the people of the provinces in the struggle will expand."

The broadcast gave a five-point program for local propaganda work to win over farmers, army officers and other groups and ended with this advice: "In this battle one must be completely accurate and alert. Avoid emotional attitudes and hasty conclusions. The events must not be oversimplified and the struggle must not be taken lightly."

On other recent occasions, Peyk-E, in newscasts, has "predicted" Leftist demonstrations on particular days, which appeared to be more instruction than clairvoyance.

Programs of the national voice of Iran aimed at farmers and tribesmen sound like this: "You are poor and hungry. You make the landlords rich with your toil and get nothing for it . . . You should take your revenge on these feudal lords."

Earlier this year Moscow propaganda organs claimed to have uncovered secret CENTO battle plans calling for a nuclear attack to create a buffer zone of devastated wasteland in northern Iran.

Peyk-E elaborated on this for weeks afterward in messages to the Kurdish people in this area—"Dear Kurds: As you are aware, CENTO's secret military document calls for atomic bombardment of the northern part of Iran if war breaks out . . ."

The broadcasts contain extremely bitter personal denunciations of the Shah. They charge for example that "his majesty has thousands of fiancees all over the world."

Experts differ on the meaning of the campaign. Some see it as preparation for a Soviet "second front" in Iran after Berlin. But the State Department has seen little evidence of explicit Russian plans for this.

Similar propaganda goes to Greece and Turkey, though not as sharp as to Iran. Officials believe the probable explanation is that Iran is shakier. It is perhaps the weak point of the CENTO alliance.

The U. S. Information Agency also is active in Iran, but instead of broadcasting directly from outside it distributes taped radio programs to Iranian stations. For this reason, officials say, it is impossible to compare the number of broadcasting hours of USIA and the Commuinsts in Iran.

Drop In Unemployment Called Significant News

NEW YORK (AP)—A drop in long-time unemployment could be the most significant news so far in the business recovery period.

That is because it could herald the rise in consumer spending that both business and government have been awaiting as the signal of really good times ahead.

Government spending is up. Business spending for inventories and plans for more spending for expansion are up. Together they have given the industrial sector of the economy a quick climb out of the recession low point of last March. But consumer spending has lagged.

That lag is shown in retail sales reports, which are little better than even with last year when the recession was the big news.

One reason given for the continuing cautious consumer buying and increased saving is the historical one. Usually consumer confidence takes several months to revive after the recession low has been turned.

But another reason is the total of unemployment. For months it has stuck stubbornly close to 7 per cent. Although unemployment benefits, relief payments, and individual savings help cushion the blow, there is still a drag on consumer spending.

And even those with jobs tend to fret about their future when they see their neighbors laid off or going onto short week schedules—or worse still, unable to find new jobs after weeks and even months of idleness.

Much of the joblessness during the recession was in the industrial sector of the economy. And in the early months of the recovery factories tended to increase the length of the work week rather than take on new hands.

But the average work week now has recovered most of its loss. Increasing factory output should mean more jobs, over and above the gains in mechanization that have seen more goods turned out from the same man hours of labor.

New orders increased on manufacturers' books in August, the Department of Commerce reports. Private reports indicate the trend continued in October. Increases in production and in hiring are reported from various sectors.

Steel output is now at its highest point in 1961. New orders point to good levels in October, and steelmen are now predicting a further gain in November.

Construction spending went to a new high in September.

All of this, and other good economic signs, should add up to further cuts in the unemployment total. Federal officials are now predicting that stubborn 7 per cent may be licked soon, and that the total may be around 6 per cent before the year is over.

Mosk's Assistant Sued For Divorce

MARTINEZ (UPI)—Asst. Atty. Gen. Howard H. Jewel, 36, was sued for divorce here yesterday and charged with general cruelty by his wife, Fances.

Mrs. Jewel asked in her divorce suit for support for their three children, Sarah, 7; Anne, 5, and Elizabeth, 4.

They were married in 1953 and separated in July, 1960, the suit said.

Jewel was appointed to his present job by Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk in 1958 after Jewel was defeated by John Baldwin to the House of Representatives.

'Research In Marin'

"Intertidal Research in Marin" will be the topic of the year's first meeting of the Marin Association of Biology Teachers, Oct. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in room 410, Sir Francis Drake High School. Drake teacher Gordon Chan is president of the group.

Marin Held Lagging In Mental Care

Marin County has lagged in treatment of mental illness, but less from lack of interest than from lack of community education, Mrs. William A. Niccolls of Ross, president of the Marin Assn. for Mental Health, told a coordinating meeting for officials of various agencies at the College of Marin Monday night.

She said that early next year the association will sponsor a countywide public meeting on mental health and mental illness in the county.

Grand jury recommendations for a mental health program were described by Mrs. Charles F. White, chairman of the grand jury's health section. She commented favorably on the county supervisors' approval of use of patient observation facilities at Ross General Hospital, progress at which was also noted by Dr. Joseph P. Gunstadt in describing Marin services.

Members of the audience asked questions about the Short-Doyle Act and were told by panel speakers that Marin and Napa are the only Bay Area counties not utilizing funds from this source.

Types of patient commitment were described by Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer. Dr. Aaron J. Ungersman of San Francisco Theological Seminary was moderator.

Second Photo Fraud Told In Larkspur

A Larkspur woman complained today that alleged representatives of Jack and Jill Photography Studios of Stockton had taken pictures of her children, taken her money and disappeared.

It was the second complaint in two days against the same studio.

Mrs. Arthur Croker of 10 Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur said a representative appeared at her house on Aug. 28 and collected $3 for "a large picture of her children." The following day a photographer took pictures. Three weeks later a proof passer showed her proofs and collected another $17 for an additional order of small pictures.

No pictures ever were received, she told Police Chief Howard Clark.

Grant Manager Called To Duty

Lester Beardsley, manager of the W. T. Grant Co. store in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, has been called back to active duty in the Army.

Now living with his wife, Marilyn, at 17 Pixley Lane, Corte Madera, he will report to Fort Lewis, Wash., on Oct. 15 for duty with the 861st Transportation Terminal Service.

Marin Boasts Youngest Licensed Real Estate Salesman In State

Youngest man in the state to receive his permanent real estate salesman's license is Mervyn E. Attell of San Anselmo. Attell, 19, recently passed his final exams and is duly qualified to engage in the business as a salesman.

He was a student of the Marin School of Real Estate in Kentfield and is still studying real estate and insurance at the College of Marin and Golden Gate College in San Francisco, with the object of carving out a substantial future in these fields.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Attell, owners of Attell's Furniture in Sausalito.

AMERICAN MOTORS will introduce its 1962 Rambler Americans, Classic sixes and Ambassador V-8s on Oct. 6. Cars will be shown in Marin County at Dexter Car Co., San Rafael, and Larry Brink Motors, Inc., Mill Valley.

Styling stability has been maintained on all Americans with several functional improvements. An optional all-new automatic clutch transmission called "E-Stick" completely eliminates the clutch pedal. The driver simply engages gears as if he were driving a standard transmission car, without employing any left foot clutch action. The transmission is three - speed with optional overdrive.

Classics and Ambassadors offer some style refinements, but here again most changes are functional. The Classic has a new automatic transmission; Ambassadors are nine inches shorter than last year's models. Standard equipment on both is a separate hydraulic system for front and rear brakes. Chassis lubrication is extended to 33,000 miles or three years. Offered in combination with front individual or bucket reclining seats is a hydraulic pump to raise the seat cushion.

HOW MUCH? Generally, factory list prices of most makes of cars on the market so far approximate those of 1961 comparably equipped.

Pontiacs and Oldsmobiles are almost identically priced with last year's models, including heater and defroster—now standard equipment. Buicks are much the same, ranging from a reduction of $55 on the Invicta convertible to an increase of $99 on the luxury Electra 225 convertible.

Plymouths and Valiants show more minus changes — from $13 to $70 through the entire line. Again we must point out that comparisons are made with some accessories that were optional last year now offered as standard equipment.

Price changes in Studebaker Larks show reductions from 1.2 per cent for six-cylinder hardtops to an increase of 1.7 per cent on the lengthened six-cylinder four - door sedans.

SFO HELICOPTER AIRLINES, INC., now providing daily service between downtown San Francisco and Oakland and their respective International Airports, has announced that it will add scheduled flights soon to Marin County, Berkeley, Palo Alto and San Jose.

INDEPENDENT GROCERS in Marin will be interested to know that United Grocers, Ltd., has a new secretary-manager. He is Richard E. Heinrich, named to the post left vacant by the death of Harvey L. Sorensen.

Heinrich was Sorensen's assistant and has been with the firm since 1934. A graduate engineer who also studied purchasing and accounting, he started as a clerk and advanced up the ranks. His headquarters will be in Richmond where executive offices are situated in a new warehouse at 1005 32nd Street.

Until recently El Salvador was a one-crop land, depending on coffee as its "golden grain." But other money crops, especially cotton, are moving up.

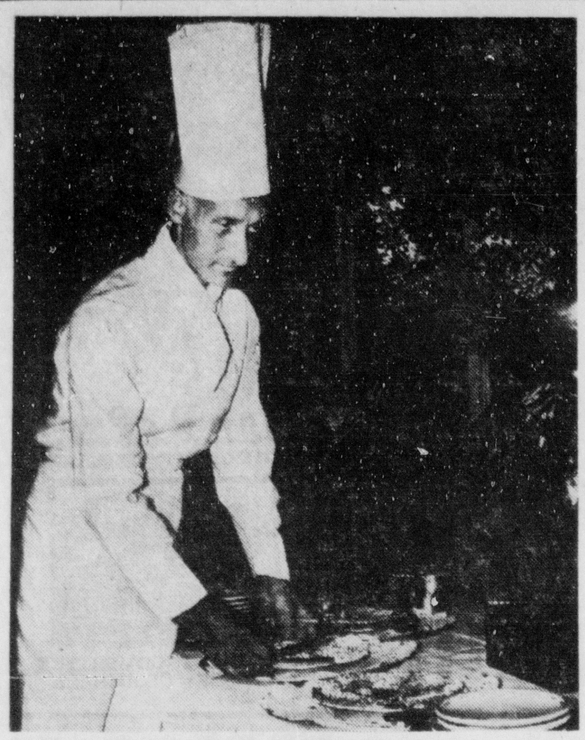
Marin Chef Sparks Training Program



WOULD TRAIN MORE CHEFS—Jean Joaquin, chef at Peacock Gap Country Club, has sparked a movement for training courses in Marin to fill the need of its restaurants for more properly trained cooks and kitchen managers. (Independent-Journal photo)

By HARRY CRAFT

A Marin chef, proud of his calling, has sparked a movement that its backers hope will result in a course in restaurant cooking in one of the county's high schools and perhaps an on-the-job apprenticeship training program.

Jean Joaquin, chef at Peacock Gap Country Club, is responsible for the movement. He drew more than a dozen educators and representatives of labor and restaurant management together for an exploratory conference at Peacock Gap.

There is a need for trained culinary help in Marin, those present agreed. Joaquin proposed a program to interest youths at high school or college levels to choose careers in a field which he said "is well paid but a dying one" for lack of the right instruction.

"There is a crying need for chefs and good cooks," he said, "especially with a knowledge of production, food costs, overhead and management. In no other profession is there a chance for such rapid advancement to high-paying jobs."

Elsie Jensen and Pat Dailey of the Culinary Workers Union agreed they are hard-pressed to supply capable help and would welcome an effective program of instruction.

Anthony Anselmo, chairman of the Joint Board of Hotel and Restaurant Workers in San Francisco, confirmed the opportunities for high incomes. "There is not a top hotel chef in the city who gets less than $1,500 a month and many good men are making $250 a week," he declared.

He recommended that the Marin group distinguish between an apprenticeship program limited to on-the-job training in one establishment, as sponsored by the Hotel Employers Assn., and instruction similar to that of the San Francisco City College. He suggested the latter.

Dr. Louis Batmale, dean and chairman of the restaurant division of City College, said his department is unable to handle all the applications made there. He recommended that the group explore the possibilities of getting the same type of instruction started in Marin.

Robert Maher, coordinator of the work expansion program in Tamalpais Union High School District, felt it was not so practical in the high schools as in the College of Marin.

Counselor John Gillin of College of Marin admitted his school is now "re-evaluating its whole program and it might be a good time to stimulate interest in restaurant training there, especially since the planning of a cafeteria is on high priority. Often as much as 95 per cent of the cafeteria work is done by students."

The meeting closed with unanimous decision to pursue inquiry on the latter possibility.

DANCE PSYCHOLOGY — Paul Baum, psychologist and dancer, will give a public lecture on the psychology of growth and development through dance at 8 p.m. Oct. 13 in Room 95, Olney Hall, College of Marin. Appearance of Baum, who is on the staff of the East Bay Child Guidance Clinic, is sponsored by the Marin Dance Cooperative.

Writer's Cramp Called Neurosis

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The Pennsylvania Medical Society says a person having writer's cramp may need a new job.

The society noted that writer's cramp is really a form of "occupational neurosis." That is, it isn't your finger so much that gets tired—but your brain.

Typists, telegraphers, musicians and cigar-makers are especially susceptible to the writer's cramp neurosis, the society said.

All of these jobs require the constant repetition of some finger movement. The brain simply gets tired of it all and, in rebellion, makes the finger ache.

A serious consequence sometimes is "complete paralysis" of the hand when the repetitive movement is attempted, the society added.

'The Last Judgment' One Of Italy's New Films—De Sica Labels It Good

NAPLES, Italy (UPI) — "The Last Judgment begins at six o'clock!" a voice boomed out over Naples.

People in all walks of life, at work and at play, looked startled for a moment and then relaxed. "Just a joke," they concluded.

But gradually they became uneasy and finally were convinced it wasn't a joke and that the end of world would come at six o'clock.

That's the basis for what looks like one of the best films to come out of Italy in years—"The Last Judgment" by Vittorio de Sica.

"This is the work I've been planning for all my life," said de Sica. "And it will be good."

Most of the filming has been done in Naples, where the incidents in the movie are supposed to have happened. And it brings together actors ranging from Academy Award winner Melina Mercouri to Don Jaime de Mora y Aragon, the brother of Queen Fabiola of Belgium.

The film covers a series of incidents, some humurous and some sad, that lead up to six o'clock in the evening and the "Grand Ball for the Unemployed" due to be held that night.

Some of the incidents include: — A pickpocket, played by American actor Ernest Borgnine, throws his arms around a well-dressed man (French comedian Fernandel) and claims he is an old friend. The man says he never saw Borgnine before. While the pickpocket is insisting on their friendship, he gently lifts Fernandel's wallet.

At that moment, the voice announcing the last judgment booms out of the sky.

The pickpocket breaks down, repentant, and returns the wallet. The two men embrace in friendship and part. Fernandel decides to donate his money to an orphanage and reaches for his wallet, only to find that Borgnine has repented of repenting and has taken it, after all.

—An ambassador, played by Jaime de Mora y Aragon, is in a hotel with a "friend"—Melina Mercouri. The ambassador bawls out the waiter, played by Italian comedian Nino Manfredi, for putting milk instead of lemon in his tea. The last judgment is announced. The waiter plots how to get back at the ambassador while the ambassador and his friend get drunk. When the waiter comes after him, the ambassador flees down the hall dressed in women's clothes and hides in a bathroom.

After several hours of waiting for him to come out, the waiter changes his mind and asks to be pardoned.

—Probably the only person happy about the last judgment is a man on the street. He has a overly large nose and says he is happy the end of the world is coming so he won't have to go through life any more with that huge schnozzle. The part is played by — who else — Jimmy Durante.

—Two out-of-work men tell a foreman they need jobs. There is only one job open and the foreman decides the man who needs it most can have it. Both men have large families and each tells a tale of woe. They draw straws for the job and the one that wins shrugs his shoulders and tells the other man to take the job.

The people involved in these and other incidents come together for the Dance for Unemployed. Just before six o'clock, it begins to rain heavily and everyone thinks the end has begun.

Then, at six o'clock, a booming voice crashes from the loud speaker at the Opera House where the ball is being held.

But it's only an announcement that a man has lost his wallet.

The last judgment apparently has been suspended.

Great Lakes May Have Been Rivers

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—The Great Lakes region may have been formed by erosion of a prehistoric river system rather than the glaciers which receded only 10,000 years ago.

The possibility is suggested by University of Michigan and University of Minnesota geologists who spent the summer drilling in the floor of Lake Superior.

"We found an extremely deep bedrock valley that must have existed before the old glacial deposits were laid down (perhaps up to a million years ago)," said Professor James H. Zumberge, senior scientist of the expedition, which was supported by the National Science Foundation.

Hastings Law School Faculty Is '65' Club

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The oldest law school west of Chicago has a policy in keeping with its historic sifnificance: it hires only professors who are over 65.

The rule is iron-clad with 83-year-old Hastings College of Law, a branch of the University of California system.

The faculty is called the "65 Club" and it includes six former deans of major university law schools.

The oldest member is Merton L. Ferson. He is 65. Before coming to Hastings, Ferson was dean of the University of Cincinnati Law School for 20 years. The youngest active professor is 68. He is George E. Osborne, a Stanford University law instructor for 35 years.

Even with law professors 65 and over, the school's dean, David E. Snodgrass, prefers that they have at least 25 years experience.

The policy grew from direct snecessity in World War II when Hastings had trouble finding young professors of law.

Wanting to expand, Hastings turned to retired law professors. The first two or three turned out to be dedicated men, "with none of the usual diversions such as pregnant wives and country clubs," Snodgrass said.

Since 1948, Hastings has not hired a law professor under 65.

Snodgrass, who constantly wears a battered, green eyeshade, said his program has worked out so well that he will keep it up as "long as possible." But, he said, he has a feeling that the "tide is running against the practice of hiring people over 65."

"There's no smooth road ahead for the 65 Club," he said. "A tide is running against the program. By accident the state legislature may destroy us."

The accident, he said, may come out of legislative action on compulsory retirement laws or social security laws.

"Retirement is a vast wasteland," he said. "I've learned by this program that people do not all age at the same rate.

"The notion that a man is through just because he has celebrated an arbitrary number of birthdays is idiotic.

"We are not opposed to compulsory retirement. It is probably a good thing for schools that can afford it, and it certainly is to Hastings' benefit."

Tom any of the professors, being recalled from retirement to Hastings is like a fresh drink from the fountain of youth. In addition to retirement pay from former jobs the professors draw an average of $15,000 a year each from Hastings.

Snodgrass said the stduents seem pleased with the program, and the professors, especially, seem pleased.

"The profs aren't as firm with the students as they could be," he said. "Sometimes I think a student needs to be flunked and they want to teach him instead.

"But the big thing about my old friends here is the satisfaction they feel in being needed. They know how to give value received."

Despite the advanced age of members of the "65 Club," there is only one man on the campus the students call "the old grouch," Snodgrass said.

"That's me. And I'm still younger than all the rest." He's 67

Moscow Has Remnant Of Past—'Flea Market'

LENINGRAD (UPI) — A leftover of pre-revolution days still flourishes in the outskirts of Leningrad.

It's a "flea market," one of those hectic shopping centers where bargainers swarm to haggle over the price of articles ranging from old clothes to antique treasures.

These junk markets are common in Paris, Rome and most other large cities of the world.

But here in the Soviet Union such buying and selling is regarded as a remnant of the bourgeois past and not a true part of socialism. The Moscow flea market was banned years ago.

The Leningrad flea market is not on the Intourist tour. But one recent Sunday morning a taxi driver knew the road that winds a mile from the Baltic Railway Station to the market.

The "Barakholka," or junk market, is conducted within the law. Each seller pays 20 kopecks (22 cents), the state's commission, to enter the fenced area. A thin woman in a blue uniform sold the tickets that Sunday. When some Russians tried to push their way by without paying, she firmly stood her ground and indignantly grabbed their arms.

One well-dressed Russian woman from Moscow, visiting the market, sighed, "A few years ago you could find porcelain and silver here, but now —"

But now the Barakholka is a shabby shadow of its past. During the hungry days during and after the war, many Russians parted with their possessions. In these days of a rising standard of living, they appear to be holding on to their family heirlooms.

Mostly, old clothing was being sold by the 2,000 Russians crowding onto a city-block size paved square. Peasants squatted on the ground by lines of shoes, trousers, children's clothing, men's suits, women's dresses and handbags.

But a close search turned up a few treasures. A small mahogany pre-revolutionary Russian clock had an inscription in French, a memento of the days when it was the fashion for the Russian upper class to speak French. In another stall was a small white marble Russian egg painted with little red roses. A bright blue crystal candlestick sparkled in a heap of radio tubes and watch parts. Among cheap crockery heaped on a newspaper on the ground was a Soviet silver savings bank in the shape of a barrel and inscribed, "Savings from labor will strengthen the economy."

Some sunbronzed women in head kerchiefs sold painted clay animals, embroidered cloth and pillow slips and handwoven rugs of red, yellow, blue and deep pink stripes. Westerners complain they seldom can find such peasant handicrafts in the state-owned stores in the cities.

Many new objects were for sale that could be found in city stores, such as the ever-present fringed lamp shades in blazing orange, pink and green; cheap framed reproductions of old Russian paintings, embroidered pillow covers showing kittens at play or strutting peacocks. Sewing machines, motor bikes, television parts, furniture and old phonograph records also were available.

Musical Tradition In Old Ohio Town

BRYAN, Ohio (AP) — When Bryan's civic band gives weekly outdoor concerts in Courthouse Park each summer, it's carrying on a century-old tradition. So is Dale Connin, the director.

The band was formed in 1852, when the community was only 12 years old. And the present director is a grandson of John Connin, the band's founder.

High-Flying Industry

NEW YORK (UPI)—The light aircraft industry estimates there are some 106,000 owners of light private planes in the nation today, an increase of 46,000 since 1952.

An industry source figures another 6,000 to 7,000 new planes are being built each year.

MARINITES PRAY FOR SUCCESSFUL CRUSADE

Rev. Daniel McAlister, left, and parishioners at St. Raphael's Catholic Church in San Rafael hold a Holy Hour to pray for the success of a gigantic Family Rosary Crusade of the Archdiocese of San Francisco, scheduled next Saturday at 1 p. m. at Golden Gate Park polo fields in San Francisco. McAlister said it would be the largest public meeting ever held in the Bay Area and that some 750 members from his parish alone are expected to attend. (Photo by Jim Kean)

Nation's Blind May Need Special 'Crossing' Sign

NEW YORK (UPI)—There are traffic signs across America that warn "deer crossing" or "children at play," but scarcely anything has been offered to safeguard persons who are blind.

The estimated 355,000 sightless Americans have to take their chances along with other pedestrians, and sometimes the chances are slim.

Together with the American Foundation for the Blind, the American Automobile Assn. has issued an appeal to motorists to be on the lookout for blind pedestrians and take special precautions.

"There are some spots on the highways where special signs help the motorist," an official of the Foundation said. "Blind people in some places seem to merit the same attention as deer. While our fleet four-footed friends who occasionally like to jump into windshields are protected by 'deer crossing' signs, so schools for the blind or places where blind people congregate should have special signs, 'attention—blind people crossing,' or something similar.

"But the vast majority of blind people do not congregate in any one spot. They move about freely with their sighted brethren."

Many motorists are under the erroneous impression that all blind persons carry canes or have seeing-eye dogs. Not so, says the Foundation. Only one state — Arkansas — makes it mandatory for blind persons to carry canes, but 25 have laws stating canes are NOT necessary.

Some states have laws requiring blind persons to hold their canes aloft to signal motorists, while crossing streets. This may help the driver, the AAA acknowledges, but not the blind person. He needs his cane to find the curb.

There was a time when nearly all blind pedestrians carried white canes. These are considered too heavy now that lighter walking sticks, particularly those made of aluminum, are available.

It is easy for a motorist to spot a blind person who has a seeing-eye dog, but only about five per cent of the sightless have such help, the Association for the Blind reports.

The association recommended that blind persons be trained to walk across streets. It also asked that public campaigns promoting the use of white canes be abandoned. They are a disservice to persons who are blind, the association said, because they create a false picture of inadequacy and helplessness.

To this the AAA added an appeal for safe driving. The cautious motorist is not likely to hit any pedestrian, blind or sighted.

Here are some rules suggested by the AAA:

—Do not expect all blind people to carry white canes.

—Do not make fast starts when traffic lights turn to green — look carefully before proceeding. This protects all pedestrians.

—Do not be impatient and thus lose good driving judgment.

—Turn corners carefully and not too sharply; a blind person may be standing near the curb.

—Remember that blind persons are not helpless. They ask only equal consideration with other pedestrians.

Crew Of Destroyer Use Their Noodles

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The crew of the navy destroyer USS Black bought a complete noodle-making machine.

It then gave it to the Catholic relief service in Hong Kong, during a visit of the ship there, for making noodles and like products from American relief flour to feed refugees from Communist China.

Africa Fence Will Keep Animals In

PUNDA MELIA, Northern Transvaal, South Africa (UPI)—A 600-mile fence costing 1.5 million dollars is being built around South Africa's Kruger National Park. The purpose: to keep out poachers and to keep in game.

Encircling an area about the size of New Jersey, the fence is expected to be completed by the end of October or early the following month.

Kruger National Park is one of the largest remaining big game sanctuaries in the world, an 8,000 square mile area where nobody has fired a shot in the past 75 years and wildlife has flourished.

During the past 50 years, the elephant in the park has doubled to a herd of about 1,200. The antelope, near extinction in 1900, now numbers 400. The water buffalo now number 2,000, lions 900. Other animals include the hippopotamus, giraffe, zebra, blue wildebeest, tsessebe, eland, koedoe, bushbuck, nyala, waterbuck, impala, warthog, cheetah and leopard.

Officials devided on the 600-mile fence as an expensive but necessary means of protecting the extensive wild animal life from encroaching civilization, the hunter's bullet, the savage's arrow and the poacher's snares.

Three fence-building crews, each completing a quarter-mile of fence a day, are working on the fringes of the park. The six-foot-high fence, with an iron pole over 15 feet, is a combination of wire—to restrain the smaller animals—and half inch cable to hold back the tougher beasts such as the elephants and buffalo.

There are 900 miles of dirt roads through Kruger Park, over which tourists in automobiles can roam at will, watching the big game in its natural habitat. The animal life appears to be unaware of man's presence.

Twelve rest camps dot Kruger's wilds, each with round cabins called rondivals, thatched with straw in African style but containing the comforts of American motel rooms. Tourists are amply protected by fences.

Retired Singer Good Teacher

VENICE, Italy (UPI)—In Moscow, Stalin kissed her hand and said her voice was like a sunny day.

Arturo Toscanini classed her as the best soprano for "Rigoletto."

She toured the world three times, gathering everywhere the enthusiastic applause of opera lovers.

Toti dal Monte, the "Venetian Nightingale," is retired now at 68 but still is active in the musical world.

The famous soprano lives in a magnificent Venetian "palazzo" teaching singing to the younger generation.

She retired in 1949, still in full possession of her voice. She feared a sudden physical breakdown would spoil her career and decided to quit before it happened.

Some of her students already have tasted success. Sopranos Dolores Wilson and Giana D'Angelo both have performed at the Metropolitan in New York.

Teacher Asked Pointed Question

DES MOINES (AP)—"Did you feel any strange pains in your chest over the weekend?" high school sophomore Mary Ann Cass asked her English teacher, Frank Angerer.

"No—why do you ask?" Angerer replied.

Two weeks later he got the answer when Miss Cass turned in a term paper. On the front cover was a picture of Angerer—stuck full of pins. The subject of the paper: Voodooism.

Paper Problems

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—When Stanley Knapp decided to open a new weekly newspaper, he got more trouble than he expected.

Knapp, in the first issue of his Montpelier Graphic, said he had labor troubles, equipment troubles and transportation troubles.

And, he added, "we lost our eyeglasses at the 11th hour." He found them in time to get the paper out on schedule.

This Gran Turismo Hawk, a hardtop convertible, shows some of the design features of European road cars. Individual front bucket seats are standard equipment. Choice of transmissions includes a four-speed floor shift, automatic, three-pseed manual and manual overdrive. Hawks will be on display in Marin County after the middle of October at Rossi Garage, San Rafael.

Hotel Indonesia Symbol Of Progress

JAKARTA (UPI) — Towering 14 stories above the traditional red tile roofs of Jakarta, the eight-million-dollar Hotel Indonesia is a symbol of progress to under-developed Indonesia.

Some 2,200 workers wielding hammers, chisels, acetylene torches and massive 100-foot-high derricks are working at a feverish pace to complete Indonesia's largest building for a gala April 1, 1962, opening.

The hotel—built by the Indonesian government with Japanese credits—will be the nation's first modern hotel of world standards.

More than 860 guests will find lodging in 432 rooms, many of which will be air-conditioned.

One wing of the hotel will be 14 floors high—topped by a large restaurant serving European and Indonesian foods. Another wing will be eight stories in height.

Fourteen luxury suites will be available for visiting dignitaries, according to hotel president-director Iskandar Iskak.

"If all goes well, actual construction work on the hotel will be finished by the end of February," Iskak said.

"It will take the whole month of March to make hotel personnel familiar with conditions in the hotel and prepare them for real business. Full operation will start on April 1."

Some 850 employes, including 20 young Indonesians who have begun specialized training programs in the United States, will be directed by Intercontinental Hotels Corporation for the first five years of operation. It is a subsidiary of Pan American Airways.

Each room will have its own balcony overlooking the city, Iskak explained. The few rooms that are not air-conditioned will utilize cross-ventilation, he said.

Three other resaurants and snack-bars will be housed in the hotel, in addition to the roof-top dining area. Large meeting halls will offer quarters for international and national conventions. Special sound systems will provide music to each room, should the guest desire, Iskak said. A large swimming pool will be completed in time for the grand opening in April.

No Circus Being Sick

CHICAGO (UPI)—The control box of new breathing apparatus designed for children with serious respiratory ailments resembles a clown's face. Its pressure gauge registers with a roll of the clown's left "eye" and his red "nose" is actually an emergency button.

The device was introduced by the National Cylinder Gas Division of the Chemetron Corp. to overcome the fear that therapy apparatus instills in many youngsters.

Next Time Put Some Film In The Camera

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — A police photographer stood by, camera in hand, while a vat of moonshine liquor was dumped. His flashbulb flared as he snapped a picture for evidence.

Back at the station the identification man surveyed his shoes and trousers, both saturated with illegal booze. Then he checked the camera, found it was improperly loaded, and there were no pictures.

No Barges To Be Used In Filming 'Cleopatra'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Cleopatra entertained Caesar on a royal barge but Elizabeth Taylor will portray the Queen of the Nile on a galley.

Producer Walter Wanger says he's taking some liberty in the filming of "Cleopatra" because barges have fallen into disrepute in the last 2,000 years. They're being used to carry coal and other prosaic things.

PROOF POSITIVE

The length of singer Patricia Morison's hair led to controversies among theater audiences. So, in Columbus, Ohio, she posed with her dark, auburn tresses laid out. They're now three-and-one-half feet long, were four feet long before recent trimming.

Miniature Circus Is Hobby

LYNWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — What began as Joe Bissell's boyhood hobby has ended as a project for the entire family from grandmother Clara Crossley, 78, to son Barton, 15.

Even Alan Lugena, 25, who lives with Bissell, 46, and his wife, Barbara, is in on the act.

Among the five of them they've created a miniature circus to delight the heart of any big-top buff, not to mention the kiddies.

Barbara Bissell made the canvas tops for the circus tents. Her mother, Mrs. Crossley, formerly of Boston, Mass., did the delicate crocheting for the safety net. Bissell, Barton and Alan did the carving for the 48-piece circus.

At one time, Bissell also had 20 railroad cars to go with it, but has cut some out because "if you get too much it doesn't look good."

Bissell built his first circus wagon when he was 8 or 9 years old.

"I still have the wheels off that wagon in the garage. We've started using them for a calliope."

All of the pieces are in 1/8th scale or 35mm. His original cage wagon was 4 inches to the foot, or ⅓ the normal size of a real wagon.

The Barton Circus, as it's known, sits inside a large red and white circus wagon 9 feet long, 4½ feet wide and 7 feet high which Bissell also built with the aid of the others.

"It weighs 600 pounds loaded and doesn't have a nail in it, all screws and bolts," he says proudly.

The miniature circus has been in the process of building for eight years, "and we're still adding new pieces. You can't complete it because along comes one more piece we'll see or remember," Bissell says.

Bissell, an accountant, has been a circus buff ever since he can remember, although he never formally worked with a circus.

He's one of about 1500 model circus builders throughout the United States, he says.

His model circus is built of balsa wood and basswood. Some pieces take longer than others to carve.

CHRYSLER IMPERIAL FOR 1962

The 1962 Imperial retains its conservative styling and has softer exterior colors with only single-tone color treatment available. Monotones prevail in interior door panels and seats. More shades are featured. Power braking has been improved with a new vacuum unit. Imperials are now on display at Jack L. Hunt showrooms in San Rafael.

Winds Of Social Change Are Blowing Over Spain

MADRID (UPI) — The wind of social change is blowing slowly over Spain. Beer is ousting wine as the popular drink, maids are getting scarce and the peseta has become a stable currency.

The Spanish government is backing a move to stop siestas and get Spaniards to bed earlier at night.

Shops which once shut for long midday breaks now stay open all day and cinemas, theaters, bars and cafes are under notice to begin closing earlier at night once the summer season is over.

No one knows how the Spaniards will react to the new hours, but in the past few years they have adopted a lot of other ideas.

They are now dressing more informally. Men — Spaniards and not tourists — are to be seen any day in the city center in open-necked shirts or in loose-fitting jackets.

Women slip into churches in dresses with short sleeves and without wearing stockings, practises frowned upon only a few years ago.

Drinking and eating habits have changed too. In the past five or six years, scores of swivel-stooled cafeterias have popped up all over the city. They specialize in cold bottled beer and quick service luncheons rather than the glass of wine and "tapas" (appetizers) served in the older bars.

In their homes, thousands of Spanish housewives have had to turn their hands to washing, cooking and cleaning previously done by maids.

Most girls today shun housework despite improved wages. They prefer to work in factories that have been springing up as Spain gets its industrialization program under way.

This industrialization, coupled with a stablization scheme, has put the peseta back on its feet. After depreciating 100 per cent in 10 years, it now has held steady for two years and big gold and dollar reserves have been built up to back it.

Not everything in Spain has changed, though. The bullfights are prospering as never before, the big fiestas swing along with old time gayety and millions of Spaniards still manage a siesta.

Three Ferries On Auction Block Soon

Old Boats Served Marinites For Many Years

Three ferries of the old Richmond-San Rafael Ferry and Transportation Co. will be sold at auction during the week of Oct. 16 at Alameda.

The ferries that served Marin for 41 years will be sold by Schnitzler Brothers of Portland, Ore., which bought the Moore Drydock yards, and will auction off 18 million dollars worth of equipment ranging from hand tools to a floating drydock.

Of chief interest to longtime Marin citizens will be sale of the former ferry queens El Paso, Russian River and Sierra Nevada.

These ferries served travelers between San Rafael and Richmond from 1915, when the ferry company was organized, until Aug. 31, 1956, when the El Paso made the last trip.

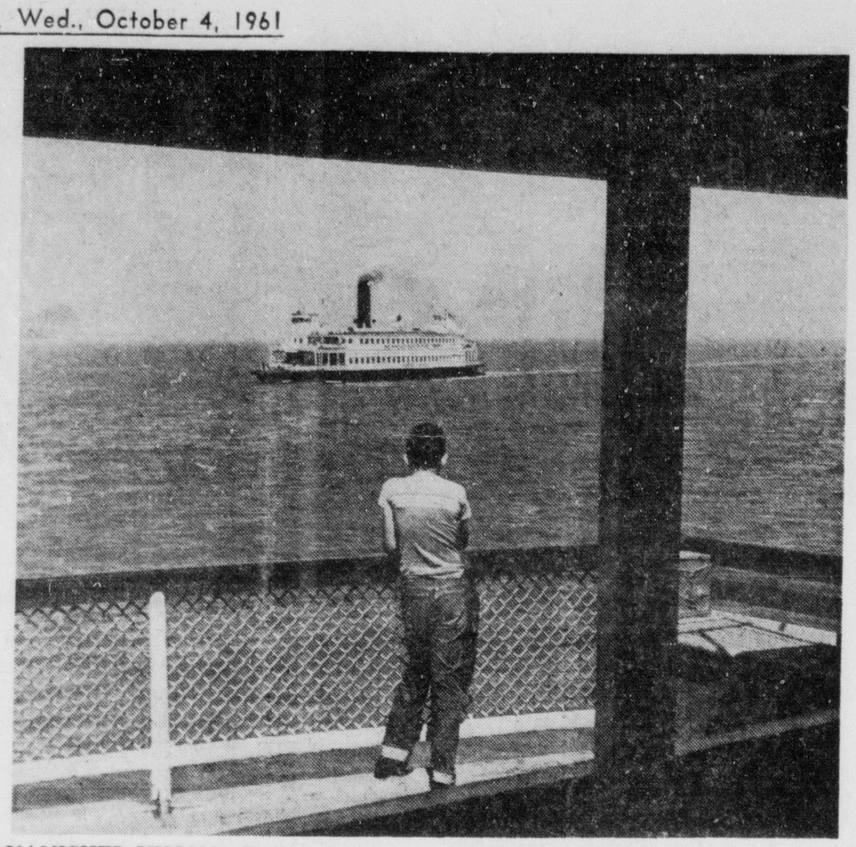
They were towed to Alameda in May, 1957. At that time it was announced they would be junked.

The Sierra Nevada was built by Moore, then called Moore and Scott Iron Works, in 1913. The Russian River and El Paso, which Schnitzler Brothers says are identical, were built in 1924.

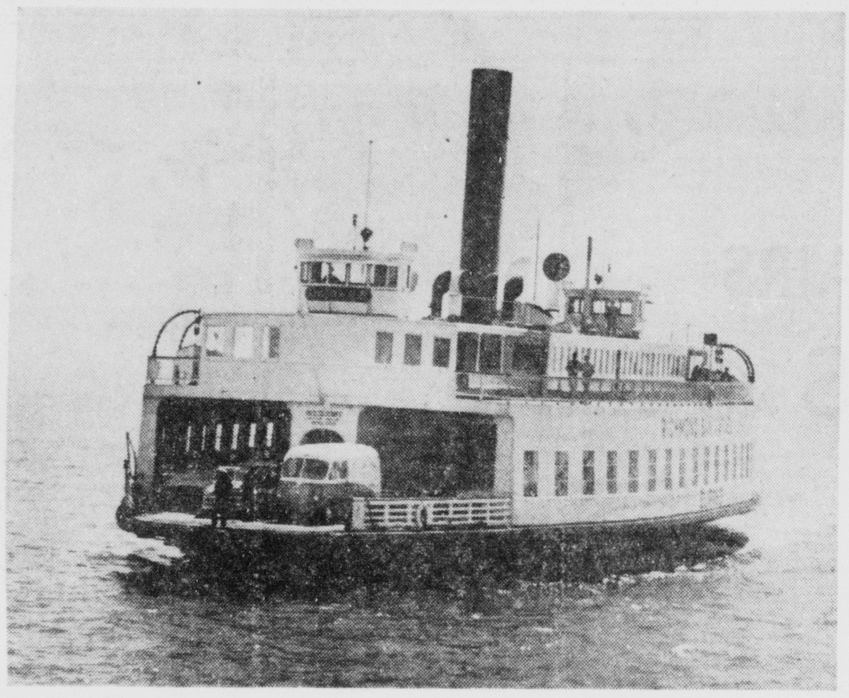
By 1950 ferries between San Rafael and Richmond were carrying one million vehicles a year.

The end of their illustrious career was followed on Sept. 1, 1956, when the first car crossed the new San Rafael-Richmond Bridge.

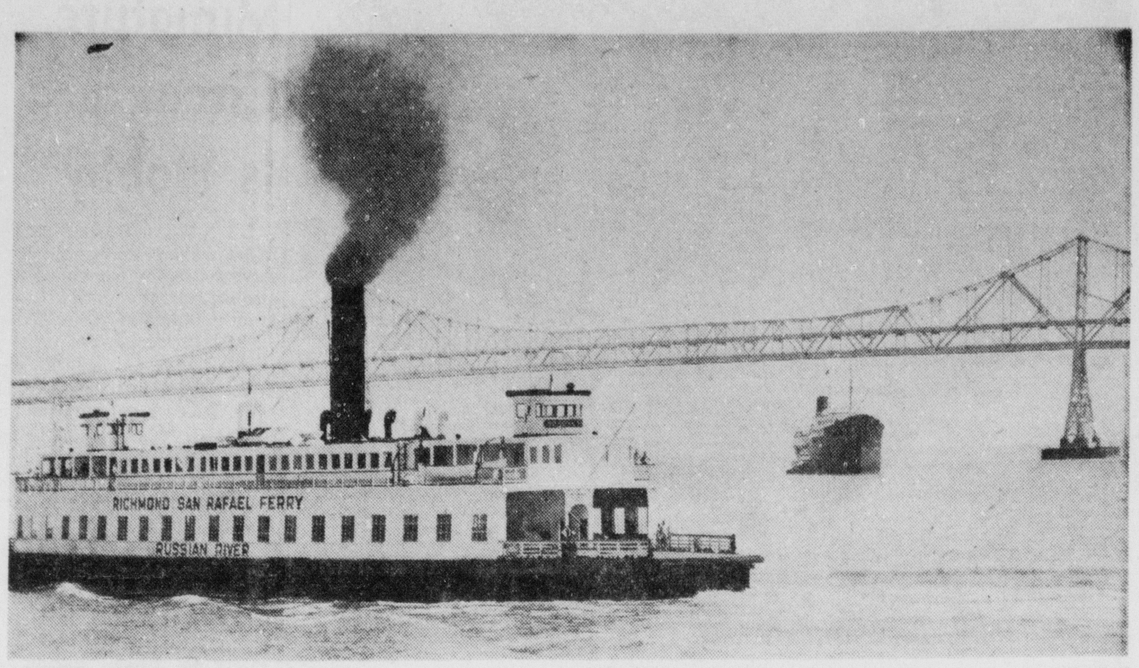
The Sierra Nevada originally was christened the Edward T. Jeffrey and was built for the Western Pacific Railroad, itself a pawn today in a fight between the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe Railroads. Jeffrey was president of Western Pacific.



VANISHED VISION—Definitely yesteryear is this scene: A young man on deck of ferry observing ferry Sierra Nevada with load of cars and passengers between San Rafael and Richmond.



PROUD MARIN FERRY—Chugging along from Point San Quentin for Richmond in her heydey is the ferry El Paso. She's revealed to be one of three ferries up for auction in Alameda the week of Oct. 16 by Schnitzler Brothers of Portland, Ore.



SISTER SHIP—Of same specifications and built at same time as ferry El Paso was the Russian River, whose end of service was forecast by San Rafael-Richmond Bridge, shown here still under construction.

Fireman, 79, Still On Job

ARANSAS PASS, Tex. (UPI)—Glenn Kishko, at 79, claims to be the oldest active fireman in the nation.

And he doesn't even get paid for it.

Kishko, a portly 5-foot-3-inch volunteer fireman, likes "the satisfaction of knowing that even though you're an old man you're not all spent."

Most of the time, Kishko works as a dispatcher in the main fire station, but he has answered many an alarm since first becoming a volunteer fireman in Rochester, N.Y.

For years he was a bronc rider in Wild West shows and recalls rolling rosin balls for Annie Oakley to shoot out of the air. Kishko dore his first bucking steer when he was 13 years old.

Figures Make Sense

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Here's a simple formula that A. E. Perkins, superintendent of the Idaho State Police, says dramatizes the implications of speed:

Just take half the speedometer reading and add this to the full reading.

"The total becomes the feet your car is traveling in a single second," says Perkins.

Thus a car traveling at 60 miles an hour is covering 90 feet every second. At 32 miles per hour, it's 48 feet per second.

"Too many drivers," Perkins says, "have their first accident—and sometimes their last—before they accept the fact that they can't stop on a dime."

Rare $1 Gold Piece Found By Forester

FARMINGTON, Iowa (AP)—C. R. Witmer, resident forester in the Shimek State Forest, saw something shiny lying beside a multi-flora rose hedge along a fireguard road.

He picked it up and found it was a $1 gold piece, minted in 1851. It was in good condition except for one small scratch. The coin is valued at $25.

Light Bulb Made To Last Lifetime

INDEPENDENCE, Kan. (AP)—Along about 1926 Frank Dancer walked across the street from his harness shop and bought a light bulb—a big one, about 300 watts, he estimates.

The bulb still burns and is in use nearly every day from five minutes to four hours.

"I can't remember the year I bought it," Dancer said. "But I'd guess it was 35 to 37 years ago.

"I used to keep expecting it to burn out. Now I'm beginning to wonder."

Engineers Cash In

CHICAGO (UPI)—Engineering graduates of Illinois Institute of Technology's class of '61 received the highest average starting salary in the school's history. The average was $550 a month, up from $525 in 1960. Topping the class were metallurgical graduates who started work at an average of $580 a month.

Reds Interested In U S. Plastics

NEW YORK (UPI) — Russians are just mad about plastics, according to a letter received here from Armand G. Winfield technical director of the U.S. Information Agency's Plastics Exhibit now touring the Soviet Union.

Winfield wrote that in Kiev attendance averaged "over 6,000 per day, plus several thousand who just weren't able to get in during open hours."

He said the exhibit had been given widespread notice by the Russian press and radio, probably accounting for the huge attendance. Scientists and engineers from virtually every technical institute in southern Russia now have visited the show, he said.

The exhibit is sponsored by the Society of Plastics Engineers of Stamford, Conn., and Society of the Plastics Industry.

Speed Caution Signs Scientifically Designed So They Can Be Seen

NEW YORK (UPI) — Attention all motorists!

Never again will you be able to convince even a soft-hearted motorcycle cop — if there is one — that you didn't see the speed limit sign you roared past at 70 miles an hour.

Signs ordering the nation's 70 million motorists to "go slow," "increase speed," "go," "stop," "turn" or "no turn" along 3.5 million miles of expressway, turnpikes, roads and streets have been so scientifically designed and mounted that if you really cannot see them, you probably shouldn't be driving at all.

Engineers spent months working out road sign specifications just approved by the American Standards Association for nationwide use. Their report aims to standardize road signs so they are the same in Des Moines and Los Angeles and in New York and New Orleans.

Motorists may take road signs for granted, but they are scientific developments as far as highway experts are concerned. Signs are the oldest devices for controlling, safeguarding and expediting traffic.

Behind every sign, there is a comprehensive analysis of road conditions, traffic volume and safety factors. Engineers considered every possible highway condition and hazard in arriving at their recommendations.

Every sign must fill an important need, command attention, convey a clear, simple meaning, instill respect and be placed where drivers have time to respond.

Under the basic specifications drawn by the government for approval of public and private organizations involved in highway safety, all STOP signs should be octagonal and all YIELD signs should be equilateral triangles with the point hanging down. Round signs are reserved for advance warnings of railroad crossings, civil defense evacuation routes and state routes. A diamond denotes existing or possible hazards on or near the road.

The engineers determined that white letters on black or another dark background were more readable than the reverse. They recommend that abbreviations be kept to a minimum and that the lettering be in clear, open capital letters coated with a "reflectorizing" substance for night drivers.

A rural roadside sign should be mounted so the bottom edge is at least five feet above the roadbed on a post six to 12 feet from the edge of the pavement. On expressways, the height should be six feet and in business and residential areas, seven feet. Expressway signs are supposed to be mounted two feet from the shoulder. In cities, one foot from the curb is the recommended distance.

"Sign posts and their foundations should be so constructed as to hold signs rigidly in a proper and permanent position, to resist swaying in the wind or displacement by children or vandals," the engineers decreed.

Detailed specifications were recommended for winding roads, cross roads, signal ahead, dips, bumps, mileposts, wider pavements, narrower pavements and just about any other road conditions.

While the engineers called for plenty of signs to keep motorists on the alert, they warned against use of too many. Signs lose their effectiveness when they are posted close together. Drivers simply stop noticing them after a while.

Growing Flowers On A Grand Scale

VICTORIA, British Colombia (UPI)—If you think it's a hard job tending that flower garden on your one-acre suburban plot, consider the case of A. C. Thistle, chief horticulturist for the Canadian Pacific Railway.

In his seven greenhouses at Lulu Island near here, Thistle raises the flowers that eventually are shipped to Canadian Pacific's western hotels, stations, railway dining cars and ships.

Among recent shipments were 45,000 forced bulbs such as tulips, gladioli, daffodils, narcissuses, hyacinths and iris; 5,000 tropical and flowering potted plants, 15,000 Iceland poppies, 6,000 nemesia and 5,000 geraniums; and 15,000 cut flowers such as snaps and mums.

Stroke Of Luck By 4-Year-Old

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Carol Sue Kebert, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Kebert, kept playing with a lever on a hay rack until the tines were released. But her parents don't mind.

When they checked the tines they found she had released them at just the right moment to pin a two-and-a-half-foot copperhead snake.

Peaceful Sweden Goes To Work On A-Shelters

By MICHAEL HOWARD

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Sweden, which hasn't been to war for 150 years, has been preparing since the beginning of the nuclear age to protect itself against other people's atomic folly.

It has been an expensive burden and officials acknowledge that it sometimes has the unreal air of science fiction. But shelters have been built, for both people and industry, and evacuation plans are clearly drawn. And the thrifty Swedes have even made plans to get some of their money back, in the hoped-for event that no one pollutes their neutral skies with nuclear death.

Swedish experience in Civil Defense goes back to World War II, when thousands of refugees found shelter in this country. In 1944, the Riksdag (parliament) passed a law that made all persons between 16 and 65 liable for service in Civil Defense. Conscription has not let up and today there are about 325,000 men and women serving in the organization.

That 3.5 million Swedish people are faced with the grim prospect of moving under wartime circumstances from major cities and industrial areas to rural areas seems hardly to disturb them. Tell them that the decentralization of their population will be permitted and their response is a reserved, "It must be so."

When it is a matter of self-preservation, no price is too high. The Swedes believe "total war calls for total defense."

Swedish CD authorities have tried to envision all the hypothetical wartime situations and have made their plans accordingly. The result has been the breaking down of their CD operations into three components: evacuation, shelter construction and the service branches.

Of primary importance is evacuation. The Swedes are working out plans to relocate half their population. Fortunately, they have the space.

Sweden is a country with an area of 158,000 square miles and a population of seven million people, about 48 persons per square mile.

Plans for evacuation are explicit. In Stockholm, for instance, every residence has a map on the ground floor which shows the evacuation route to be followed.

At the first threat of danger, about 350,000 persons, women, children, the aged and infirm, would leave the city. At the second stage, 200,000 workers will be withdrawn. With 150,000 persons away already on military duty, only 50,000 essential workers will remain. They will stay in mass shelters.

Fourteen massive shelters, built out of granite and gneiss have been constructed in Sweden's nine biggest cities, including four in Stockholm. Their purpose is to provide protection for persons unable to leave at the first warning or for those left behind. The shelters ultimately will be used by the CD workers and skeleton crews who remain in the cities.

Since 1945 the Swedes have built about 30,000 "standard" shelters. Constructed from reinforced concrete, these shelters shall, according to law, be large enough to provide room for the inhabitants of the house and strong enough to stand the pressure of debris. Every year an additional 2,000 of them are built, giving shelter space to about 120,000 persons.

It is asked that even if a successful, full-scale evacuation took place, would not the industrial life of the country falter? Not necessarily so.

Production of war materials would undoubtedly slacken with so many industrial centers turned into ghost towns. But production will not come to a complete halt. Many plants, including some which produce arms and other warfare necessities, already have been built under tons of rock. They would be able to keep up production at practically full strength.

Of course, the cost of such an extensive CD network is a drawback. Since World War II, every Swede has paid about $1.12 each year for Civil Defense through state allowances and not including the community and private costs. The price for the 14 mass shelters has come to about 19.6 million dollars, the government defraying about two-thirds of the cost. But it is hoped they eventually will pay for themselves.

In Stockholm, for example, the biggest shelter, Katarina (shelter space for 20,000 persons), is rented out to an oil company and has garage room for 600 cars. A shelter in Vasteras, blasted out of a hill in the center of town, now is operacting as a community center with a garage, workshops, an adult education center, gymnasium, rifle range, theater and cafeteria.

Mexico Indians Due Benefits Of Land

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — For the first time since the Spanish conquest, more than 100,000 Tzoltzil and Tzeltal Indians are being given an opportunity to achieve a measure of economic security.

These families reside in a region close to the southern Mexican city of San Cristobal Las Casas, in Chiapas State, near the Guatemalan border.

They are to be beneficiaries of the first "ejido" (community-owned land) organized by the federal government for exploitation of forest areas. Recently, the second "ejido forestal" was established in a Durango State timber area.

Although the lands to be worked collectively were granted in 1935, during the presidency of Lazaro Cardenas, lack of money for cutting and processing the timber prevented any use of the rich forest resources.

Now, work actually has started under a coordinated program in which collaborators are the National Indigenist Institute (headed by famed archaeologist-anthropologist Alfonso Caso), the Ministry of Agriculture, and the Agrarian and Colonization Department.

The pilot ejido is known as Yasthinin or Colonia Pedernal and consists of about 7,400 acres allotted to 178 heads of families. Experts estimate the group can convert pine into 400 million feet of lumber each year, with a market value of $24,000. Costs would total about $16,000, leaving a profit of $8,000.

On this basis, each family would receive only about $45 a year, but that is nearly three times the current average earnings of each, officials said. In addition, this income would be supplemented for some by three month's work in the sawmill.

The institute has signed a contract with a lumber mill expert to direct the operation. The contract calls for reforestation of exploited areas, and for reinvestment of earnings to build up an industry owned by the workers themselves.

Indigenist Institute officials said that even if earnings at the start are meager, the participants will be better off than they have been for years. Unable to use their forest lands, they have for the most part been hiring themselves out as field hands at coffee plantations, where they have earned from 15 to 54 pesos($1.20 to $4.32) a month.

"Their exploitation has been so severe, and conditions so poor that not even braceros from Guatemala, who normally work for low pay, would accept the jobs," one official said.

The institute program also calls for a general cultural program for the aborigines, most of whom do not speak Spanish.

In addition, the institute has during the last 10 years built up a coordinating center, which includes clinics, hostels, shops, agricultural experiment stations, schools with bilingual teachers who speak Spanish and the native tongue, and water supply.

Projects for the future include building roads and a plan for assimilation of the natives, who previously rejected "outside" aid from the government.

"One of the basic objectives of the institute is to end the isolation of the natives in the Chiapas mountains, not only social and economic, but the fundamental geographic isolation from lack of communications," an official said.

Mechanical Failure

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Bank clerks take heart — even those mechanical brains err sometimes. An electronic monster in the Mertopolitan Budget Director's department dropped the last digit in 80,000 personal property tax bills, dropping everybody's taxes by 90 per cent. But the error was discovered before the tax bills were mailed out and now the taxpayer will not only have to pay the full tax—he'll also have to pay for all the wasted paper.

Hindus Say Saints Lived 2,000 Years

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Ancient Hindu saints, it is believed here, lived as long as 2,000 years. They then went to heaven, traveled through hell, explored space and returned to earth again to tell the people all about those regions.

Their secret was "Yoga"—the Indian way of controlling mind and body.

Rishis (saints) Bratahari, Markandeya, the Saptarishi brothers and Narad are some notable legendary figures who lived a worldly life for as much at 2,000 years and then left for a heavenly abode at their will.

"Yoga" is a comprehensive term which embodies a number of postures called "asans." These "asans" are dependent upon the physiology of the body and its muscular and nervous systems.

The "Yoga" system has three divisions, Karma, Yoga, Hatha Yoga and Gyan Yoga.

Karma Yoga is practiced to achieve peace of mind while living in this world. Its best exposition is found in the Gita, the Hindus' holy bible.

Hatha Yoga has preventive as well as curative qualities for all ailments, Hindus believe. Perfection in this Yoga system would make a man capable of living in any climatic conditions without any difficulty.

Deep breathing and meditation are the essence of Yoga.

Prime Minister Nehru and his daughter Indira practice part of Hatha Yoga. Nehru now no longer stands on his head. But he does deep breathing almost every day.

Hatha Yoga is regarded as a primal Yoga effort which gradually comes to be the methodical approach to the attainment of the highest in the Yoga.

Hatha Yoga accepts Man for what he really is. It therefore does not neglect the physical aspect of a person's life.

Yoga experts recommend Hatha Yoga for space flights among other things.

Gyan Yoga is the highest form of Yoga. By achieving perfection in this branch, according to Hindus, a person can leave his body at will, travel as far as he likes and then reenter his body.

Legend has it that King Jaya Chand has been living in the Himalayas for the past 1,000 years. He had perfected himself in Gyan Yoga.

According to ancient Hindu scripts, Yoga requires a good deal of patience and forebearance. If practiced in the wrong way, these scripts say, it can do more harm than good.

Editors List Most Neglected Classics

CHICAGO (UPI)—Which books are considered "the most neglected classics?"

Among those listed by a number of editors in a recent survey were "Revolt of Angels," "Vanity Fair," "War and Peace," and "The Bible."

The survey, conducted by J. Philip O'Hara of the Follett Publishing Co., as part of a study of publishing trends and attitudes also showed:

—Editors were split evenly on whether "frankness" in modern books is "acceptable" or "deplorable."

Thailand Suffering From Leprosy Plague

NEW YORK (UPI)—The leprosy-plagued country of Thailand is so short of water that some of the apparent symptoms of the disease disappear with a good scrubbing, according to the director of the director of the United Nations Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF).

But the director, S. M. Keeny, who recently returned from an on-the-spot inspection tour, hastened to add that he did not mean to minimize the seriousness of the disease in Thailand.

"Each month 2,000 more patients are being added to the lists in Thailand," he said.

Thailand's population is slightly more than 21 million.

"Only after five years or so may we expect the volume of discharged cases to approach that of new ones," he added. "Although the cost of UNICEF will mount, we're glad to have it do so; the faster it expands the better. Leprosy must be wiped out—and soon."

During his four-day tour to Ubol Province near the Laotian border, he was ferried through flooded areas by a boatman who informed him that his own case of leprosy was "very infectious" and casually noted that one or two of every 200 Thais have the disease.

Keeny talked to a nurse supervisor, who drove herself by Jeep 1,000 miles each month to treat patients. She also told him that if village midwives were paid for their services more of them would be able to afford visits to the places where she gave instruction in difficult deliveries.

Keeny noted at a leprosy treatment center that the examination of children took more time than that of adults.

"Here the search was for patches of skin that had turned lighter for swollen nerves, and for spots where the touch of a needle point could not be felt," he said.

"This is a country where water is scarce and soap even scarcer. To some of the small fry Dr. Miquel (Ramon Miquel, U. N. World Health Organization leprosy expert) had to apply the 'water test.' Some of the apparent symptoms came off with a good scrubbing."

Keeny was surprised to discover that in some village treatment centers natives would be willing to give their time for an examination only if they received a free smallpox vaccination. He said that UNICEF was supplying the necessary medicines for this new "package" deal and that "this campaign alone is doing 2 million vaccinations a year."

The UNICEF official also saw in action a local doctor who used magic along with antibiotics.

"He has a government uniform but a salary of only $3 a year," said Keeny.

"He did 2,400 vaccinations last year, which should have earned him $12, but he got only $3 'because there was not enough money.' He relies mostly on herbs, but uses magic in his more difficult cases, getting 'about 70 per cent cures.'"

This did not seem entirely unlikely in a land where school children turned down UNICEF supplied milk for "toasted crickets."

Pitch Pipe, Pencils Stolen At School

Fountain pens, pencils, a pitch pipe and a coin collection were taken from Old Mill School over the weekend, Principal William Lovvorn reported to Mill Valley police today.

Method of entry was unknown. Luvvorn said that the items taken were of minor value. He also reported that papers had been strewn on the floors of several classrooms.

Floating Dock Permit Sought

John Dawson of Berkeley has applied for a Department of the Army permit to build a house and floating dock in Racoon Strait 2,000 feet northeast of Point Tiburon, the Army Engineer District in San Francisco said today.

Interested parties have until Sept. 27 to file objections, Col. John A. Morrison, district engineer for the Army Engineer District, announced. His office is at 180 New Montgomery Street.

The house would be built on concrete piers and extend about 12 feet from the mean low water line into the bay, Morrison said. The floating dock would be of timber pile construction and would extend about 45 feet into the bay.

If Only Seneca Lived Here Now

UP INTERNATIONAL

Major cities in the United States — and even throughout the world—may believe air pollution to be a new problem, but it isn't, as at least one philosopher noted back about 61 A.D.

In that year, when there were no huge factories, massive oil refineries or tail finned automobiles, Seneca wrote:

"As soon as I had gotten out of the heavy air of Rome, and from the stink of the smoky chimneys, thereof, which, being stirred, poured forth whatever pestilent vapours and soot they held enclosed in them, I felt an alteration of my disposition . . ."

Tiburon Fire Protection District commissioners has voted to ask the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau for a survey of the district "which we feel will result in a lower classification and reduce fire insurance rates."

Scientists Believe Man Must Take Chances In Order To Survive

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Some of the nation's top scientific brains believe man must take calculated risks with his own health and safety if he would continue to progress or even to survive.

This was the consensus of more than 180 specialists from such diverse fields as public health and nuclear power development who attended a recent Congress on Environmental Health at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Rene Dubos of the Rockefeller Institute said society will continue to strive for comfort and protection from threats to health but that "excessive regulation might result in social stagnation." He added: "A society that does not continue to grow through adventure and willingness to take chances is not likely to survive in the modern world."

Dr. Leona Baumgartner, New York City Health Commissioner, also complained of unnecessary and antiquated regulations, especially in the milk handling industry where, she said, they date from the era of the three-legged milking stool.

Dr. Baumgartner said self-regulation of sanitary conditions by New York restaurant owners has produced better results than "raw police power." Little by little, she said, New York's 22,000 restaurateurs have realized that running a clean, sanitary place is good business.

Dr. Dubos said "man's mastery over his environment will never be complete," but he saw no reason to believe that threats to health arising from modern technology are any greater than the natural dangers man has overcome in the past.

Discussing "Space Age" health problems, Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., professor of epidemiology at Michigan, said astronauts could carry along disease-causing agents which might become established on other planets and "confuse the study of life thereon."

Conversely, Francis said, there is the risk that primitive forms of life in space could be returned to infect life on earth or become parasites.

An industry representative—Walker L. Cisler, president of Detroit Edison, minimized the danger of having nuclear electric power stations located near large population centers.

"Although there are difficult matters associated with nuclear power, I am convinced that we can learn to live with the atom, both safely and well," Cisler said. He termed nuclear power stations "a completely inside operation," with elaborate precautions against escaping radiation and no risk of bomb-like explosions since the triggering mechanism of the bomb is lacking.

The Congress was organized by public and private groups—the University, the American Public Health Association, the National Sanitation Foundation, the Paper Cup Container Institute, and the National Advisory Council of the Public Health Service.

Tame Deer Can Become Dangerous

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UPI) —For safety's sake, outdoorsmen are cautioned not to make pets of fawns found in the woods during the spring months.

James L. Bailey, Missouri conservation agent superintendent, said supposedly tame deer, on reaching maturity, have been known to revert to wild instinct and become dangerous.

"An adult deer's behavior is unpredictable, and those sharp hoofs are dangerous weapons," he said.

He finished high school during the last four years, attending classes in New York City at night and arriving home about 12:30 a. m. His day started again at 5:30 a. m. when he arose to go to work at the U. S. Information Service in New York City.

He still has a tight schedule but feels it's not nearly as bad as the previous one.

Mignella — a 53-year-old grandfather—expects to graduate in seven years with a degree in political science from Rutgers University.

People, Rats Learn To Love Through Suffering

NEW YORK (UPI) — After many experiments and long deliberation a distinguished psychological scientist concluded that "rats and people come to love things for which they have suffered."

This was an important, almost sensational development because it challenged the view generally held in psychological science that there must be rewards or the promise of rewards if behavior patterns are going to be established and maintained in people (and rats).

Dr. Leon Festinger of Stanford University took off from experiments which showed that in both human beings and the common experimental animal of psychological laboratories, the white rat, lack of rewards or poor rewards established and maintained behavior patterns.

The idea that rewards are necessary engines propelling behavior has become so dominant in psychological science "that some of our most ingenious theoretical thinking has been devoted to imagining the existence of rewards in order to explain behavior in situations where, plausibly, no rewards exist," Festinger said.

"It has been observed, for example, that under some circumstances an organism will persist in voluntarily engaging in behavior which is frustrating or painful. To account for such behavior it has, on occasion, been seriously proposed that the cessation of the frustration or pain is rewarding and thus reinforces the tendency to engage in the behavior."

That explanation is both unnecessary and misleading, he continued. And most emphatically he was not denying the importance of rewards. Just the same, the absence of reward or the existence of inadequate reward produce "certain specific consequences which can account for a variety of phenomena which are difficult to deal with if we use our usual conceptions of the role of reward."

Festinger was one of the three recipients of the 1959 Distinguished Scientific Contribution awards of the American Psychological Assn. His views were contained in the customary dissertation to the profession acknowledging the award.

His was the closest approach by academic experimental psychology to the "psychic masochism" theory of human behavior which has been controversial in clinical psychology-psychiatry for some time. This is the theory of Dr. Edmund Bergler, who has written 21 books in support of it. As a practicing psychiatrist he deals only with people, never with rats.

Festinger concluded that people "come to love things for which they have suffered." The "psychic masochism" theory holds that people come to love things which cause them to suffer. It proposes a principle of unconscious "pleasure from displeasure" which it holds is at the root of much human behavior.

Festinger didn't go that far. Rather he argued that when people are persuaded somehow to endure discomfort bordering on pain in order to achieve something, they then persuade themselves that what they have achieved is valuable, even if it isn't. Having done that, they will endure the same discomfort again and again to arrive at the same "achievement."

Temporary Playground Set Up In Sausalito

A temporary playground for children is being set up by Sausalito firemen in the vacant lot next to the firehouse at Johnson and Caledonia streets, City Manager Charles A. Brown said today.

Equipment is from the Christ Episcopal Church playground, which the city lost Sept. 15 when the church began preparing to construct its new parish hall. No date for opening has been set, Brown said.

Rail Trip To Vatican Not Possible

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—If you want to see an Italian railway ticket clerk do a double take, just ask him for a ticket to Vatican City.

The request is perfectly legitimate, for the Vatican, which is a sovereign state, has a railway and an agreement with the Italian Railroad Administration, signed in 1933, governing traffic between the two countries.

But no Italian railway man can tell you when you'll be able to make your trip by rail into the city of St. Peter's. You may insist on a ticket, but you can't complain if you have to wait a few decades to board your Vatican-bound coach.

The record shows the last passenger train between Italy and Vatican City moved on the Vatican railroad 27 years ago. On Oct. 2, 1934, the body of Pope Pius X, beatified by then reigning Pope Pius XII, was sent by rail to his native Venice. Italian officials and Vatican prelates were aboard the train.

Although fully equipped to handle passenger traffic, the Vatican City railway station actually operates only as a freight station. The Vatican receives goods needed to feed its population and run its services and ships freight for the requirements of Vatican representatives abroad and donations to relief organizations.

The Vatican railway network is 2,706 feet long. The tracks are connected to the Italian railway system, on one of the main trunk lines linking Rome to Leghorn, Pisa, Genoa and thence to the French frontier.

Trains from Italy to Vatican City enter the Papal territory figuratively on tip toes. The passage into the Vatican is not open. A 53-foot wide iron gate blocks the route across the walls. Engineers have to practically knock at the door to ask permission to ride in. The gate is operated electrically and slides back into closed position on the heels of incoming trains.

The average traffic is one train a day, enough to keep station master Michele Ricci busy. Ricci was appointed in 1940 as head of the Vatican cargo office, but he also is in charge of train movement. He runs the station almost single-handed and draws inspiration from two bas-reliefs on the facade of the station. One shows the boat of St. Peter, with the "Grand Fisherman" holding the helm and looking toward the horizon. The other is an interpretation of the chariot of fire of the Prophet Eliav, with its four galloping horses carrying their winged master skyward.

Seminary Students Will Take Tests

New students at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Strawberry will take a series of tests today to indicate their personality traits, mental abilities and proficiency in the use of the English language.

Tests are aimed at assisting the school officials to evaluate a student's capabilities, Dr. Elmer L. Gray, student affairs committee chairman, said.

INSULT TO HOLLYWOOD

Italians Making A Movie On Smog

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Italian moviemakers have delivered their supreme insult to Hollywood. They've come here to use filmtown as an ordinary location for a picture called "Smog."

Usually things work the other way: Hollywood companies swarm all over Italy as if it was created to be one big movie set for visitors.

But the madcap Italian invaders have turned Hollywood topsy-turvy, operating for weeks without so much as an office—shooting everywhere from bowling alleys to amusement parks to speakeasies, and the airport.

And no one is more of a nervous wreck than the American star of the film, Peter Howard, a San Francisco socialite best remembered for being expelled from Rome several years ago after throwing a party at which Anita Ekberg did a barefoot cha-cha and a Turkish stripteaser peeled to her unmentionables.

"It's chaos," said Howard, as he slouched into a booth at a Sunset Boulevard restaurant. "I don't know how anything gets done.

"It's the first time any of them have done an American picture. We're supposed to pick them up each morning for work. So we go to where they're staying (an apartment-hotel) and knock on their doors.

"They keep sleeping, so we almost have to break the doors down. Sometimes you have to get a ladder to get through the transom. Well, then you pull them out of bed, make them coffee and shave them.

"Hardly anyone speaks English. I was in the middle of a terribly dramatic scene the other day, and suddenly I turned around and nobody was there. The cameraman, the director — they'd all gone to lunch without telling anybody."

The picture, to be released by MGM, is being directed by Franco Rossi, a Venice Film Festival winner last year. His stars include Annie Girardot and Renato Salvatori, both of whom appeared in the widely discussed film, "Rocco and His Brothers."

Howard, a charming, wealthy and wispy young man whose face maintains the permanent expression of a cocker spaniel with injured feelings, is still miffed at being tossed out of Rome—and he's delighted that when the picture is over, "At least I'll be able to return—if only on film."

Firemen To Check Belvedere's Hall

The plan for remodeling the Belvedere Community Hall will be checked with the fire department before the Belvedere City Council gives its final approval, it was decided at Monday's council meeting.

Council members H. Nordmaark Williams and Ida M. Scott are the committee to work with Fire Chief Lawrence (Bunk) Mersereau in reviewing the plans.

The council voted to purchase a tape recorder.

New San Anselmo Teacher Starting

William Pike from Oakhurst, Calif., has started as teacher of the 6th grade at Brookside School, San Anselmo Schools Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported.

Pike succeeds Robert C. Mersereau, who resigned from the teacher post and is reporting to Quantico, Va., for officers training in the Marine Corps, Parodi said. Mersereau was a radar specialist in the Naval Reserve. When he was reactivated, he was given the chance to switch to the Marines.
